First Step On Moon 'A Giant One For Mankind,' Says Neil Armstrong

HOUSTON — Astronaut Neil Armstrong stepped onto the surface of the moon at 7:56 p.m. San Diego time yesterday, and in his flat Ohio voice said:

"One small step for man . . . one giant step for mankind."

He said the words evenly, with warmth and enthusiasm, in contrast to his words seven hours earlier when the landing module named the Eagle first touched the moon at the Sea of Tranquillity.

At touchdown, speaking deliberately, he said:

When astronaut Edwin Aldrin stepped on the lunar surface 20 minutes after Armstrong, his first words were: "Beautiful, beautiful, beautiful. A magnificent desolation."

Black and white television covered the descent from the lunar module (LM) by both Apollo astronauts.

Armstrong Kicks At Soil On Moon

Then he stood there on the moon, still holding the LM ladder to see if his balance were such that he would not fall. As he stood there he kicked at the moonsoil.

"I can kick it up loosely with my toe," he said, and he walked away on it.

"[illegible] like powdered charcoal," he said, "stick[illegible] and sole of my boots."

[illegible] and later Aldrin said there was no diffi[illegible] around. In fact, after Armstrong had [illegible] a few minutes he was running [illegible]

"It's very interesting," Armstrong said as he was [illegible] sample [illegible] out of the picture.

". . . A soft surface, but as I work with the contingency sample, it seems to be very cohesive . . . I'll try to get a rock or two.

Rock Like One In U.S. High Desert

"Here's a beauty," he said. "Much like the high desert of the United States."

Armstrong used a small shovel about the length of a golf club to gather samples, because in his pressure suit he could not bend over to hand-pick them.

The astronauts also talked to President Nixon by radio-telephone.

"This has to be the most historic telephone call ever made," Mr. Nixon said to the two men.

Red Satellite Soars Over Apollo Site

Russian Mission Remains Secret, Luna Dips Lower

JODRELL BANK, England (UPI) — Russia's Luna 15 satellite yesterday dropped into a 9.9-mile-high moon orbit that carried it above the landing site for America's Apollo 11 astronauts, the Jodrell Bank Observatory reported.

Although the new orbit was announced by the Soviet Union as well as being tracked here, there was still no clue to the exact mission of the Soviet satellite.

NO CLUE YET

"We don't know whether it is still going to land, or explore the near-moon space which could include a close reconnaissance of the American landing site," said Sir Bernard Lovell, director of the observatory.

Lovell said the 40th orbit of Luna 15 was carrying the satellite over the moon's Sea of Tranquillity at the same time astronauts Neil A. Armstrong and Edwin E. Aldrin were making landing approach in their module "Eagle."

The Soviet news agency Tass [illegible] the new orbit level [illegible] "scientific exploration" [illegible] said the new elliptical [illegible] ranged from 9.9 miles [illegible] above the moon's surface.

TIME RUNNING OUT

There remained a possibility it could still be brought to a landing on the moon. However, time was running out on the Russian chances of getting the first load of lunar dust back to earth ahead of the Americans—if that was what Luna 15's goal was.

The orbital change, second in two days, tightened the Russian probe's path around the moon, reduced the time of its orbit to one hour, 54 minutes and brought it "very much closer to the lunar surface—and very much closer to where the Apollo astronauts will be landing," a Jodrell Bank spokesman said.

CLOSER TO EQUATOR

The astronauts' landing spot was in the Sea of Tranquillity, near the lunar equator. With the orbital switch, which came on the 39th circuit, Luna 15 also was swinging closer to the equator.

"But that's about all we can say right now," the spokesman added.

However, he said that even on its new path there was "hardly any chance" that Luna 15 would collide with either the U.S. "Eagle" lunar landing vessel or the mother ship, "Columbia."

Luna 15 was launched from Russia's Kazakhstan spaceport one week ago and swung into orbit around the moon Thursday.

PURPOSE SECRET

The Soviet Union has remained vague about the mission of Luna 15 but official and unofficial reports from Russian scientists and cosmonauts indicated it was planned to soft land the craft on the moon, scoop up soil samples and blast off back to earth ahead of the U.S. astronauts.

Israeli, Egypt Jets Downed In Fierce Battles

By Associated Press

Israeli and Egyptian jets battled over the Suez Canal yesterday and raided each other's territory in some of the heaviest fighting since the Middle East war of 1967. Each side claimed shooting down a large number of planes.

Egypt said it downed 17 Israeli jets and called it the "Arabs' greatest victory" since 1967. Israel admitted losing two planes and said five Egyptian planes were downed — three MIGs and two Sukhoi SU-7 fighters.

FORTRESS ATTACKED

The fighting began early yesterday with an Israeli commando attack on an Egyptian island fortress in the Gulf of Suez. Israeli planes followed up by hitting Egyptian positions across the Suez Canal for the first time since the 1967 war, and Egyptian jets then took to the air to raid Israeli targets in the occupied Sinai Desert.

Israel said the pilots of its two downed aircraft bailed out safely and landed on Israeli territory.

Military communiques from Egypt and Cairo radio said one Israeli Mirage was shot down by antiaircraft fire during the commando raid, another was downed later yesterday morning, nine in the afternoon and six more in the evening. Cairo said most of the planes were shot down in dogfights.

The air battles coincided with fierce artillery duels along the Suez Canal in which Israel claimed three of its soldiers were killed. An Israel army spokesman said the canal air action lasted more than six hours.

RAIDS CHARGED

The air and artillery clash came in the wake of "850 violations of the cease-fire by the Egyptian forces" across the Suez Canal, Tel Aviv radio said.

It accused Egypt of staging at least 10 commando raids against Israel and 50 mining and sabotage incidents.

U.N. observers twice called for a cease-fire but Israel said the Egyptian [illegible] fighting [illegible] taliated. [illegible] asts in[illegible] were [illegible] nai aft[illegible] eadline [illegible] ted the [illegible] re shot [illegible] ack Is[illegible] st bank

MAKES HISTORIC PHONE CALL

'A Priceless Moment' Nixon Tells Astrona[illegible]

WASHINGTON (AP) — [illegible] told America's men on [illegible] that "for one priceless moment [illegible] history of man all of the people [illegible] are truly one."

Nixon spoke to astronauts [illegible] Armstrong and Edwin E. (Buzz) Aldrin [illegible] minutes from the White House.

Television viewers got a split picture showing both the President and the astronauts as they performed their assigned tasks on the moon's surface.

Armstrong [illegible] "it is a great honor and privilege for [illegible] to be here representing not only the United States but men of peaceable nations with [illegible] interest and a curiosity and vision for the future."

'MOST HISTORIC'

Speaking from the Oval Room, Mr. Nixon told the astronauts "this certainly has to be the most historic telephone call ever made from the White House."

Mr. Nixon added:

"I just can't tell you how proud we all are of what you have done for every American. This has to be the proudest day of our lives.

"For people all over the world I am sure that they too join with [illegible] ing what an immense [illegible] what you have done [illegible] a part of man's world.

"As you talk to us from the Sea of Tranquillity it inspires us to redouble our efforts to bring peace and tranquillity to earth.

"For one priceless moment in the whole history of man all of the people on this earth are truly one. One in their pride in what you have done, one in our prayers that you will return safely to earth."

QUIPS ABOUT TOLL

Mr. Nixon jokingly said after his super long-distance talk, "I just hope they don't charge me tolls on that call."

Then he laughingly added, "That's right, I made it collect."

Earlier, the President sat alone in his hideaway office in the Executive Office Building adjacent to the White House to view the landing on a portable color television set. He called the moon landing "the greatest moment of our time."

He told his press secretary Ronald Ziegler that the last 22 minutes of the descent "were the longest I have ever lived through."

Pri[illegible]e, Relief Sweep [illegible] Moon Vi[illegible]

DAVID S[illegible]

[illegible] then let [illegible] and relief.

It was a day of national vigil, one in which every American and any other member of mankind within sight of a television set joined Neil A. Armstrong and Edwin E. Aldrin in spirit on the moon.

"Unbelievable!" a soldier yelled as he stood in the almost-deserted Logan International Airport at Boston and watched Armstrong set foot on the moon.

10,000 IN PARK

At New York's Central Park, where more than 10,000 persons gathered in the rain to watch man's first moments on the moon, a policeman said to no one in particular, "It's a great day for mankind. It's a great day to be alive."

In Los Angeles, members of a Russian track and field team participating in an international track meet cheered, clapped each other on the back and congratulated Americans around them for Armstrong's fete.

The voices from space and their televised images followed Americans to beaches, golf courses, ball parks, camping sites, all the places where they normally would spend a summer afternoon away from work.

The prayers which began the day were many and varied. Those which highlighted the services at the White House were the first 10 verses of Genesis, read by Astronaut Frank Borman to the President and his guests.

CARNIVAL AIR

If in some respects America's celebration of the moon landing was reverent, in others it had almost a carnival air. In New York City, it amounted to a happening.

There was a 15-foot-square television screen for moon watching in the Time-Life Plaza. Mayor John V. Lindsay invited all New Yorkers to watch the first steps on the moon on three 9- by 12-foot screens put up in Central Park, where the city staged an all-night moon vigil for tens of thousands.

People were asked to come in

Havana Turns Out To Greet Red Ships

HAVANA (AP) — A task force of Soviet naval vessels glided into Havana harbor yesterday morning and was greeted by a 21-gun salute and a warm welcome from Prime Minister Fidel Castro's government.

Thousands of Cubans who lined the city's five-mile waterfront were generally quiet. Many of them had been standing more than two hours under a blazing sun.

"This visit is a marvelous thing, but I'm going home," said one onlooker. "It's just too hot."

FLAGS FLY

Cuban flags flew from many of the buildings facing the bay and miniature Soviet and Cuban flags were passed out to the crowds mobilized by the government to greet the visitors.

The squadron of seven ships represented the largest show of Soviet power in the Western Hemisphere since the 1962 missile crisis.

The detachment, commanded by Rear Adm. Stepan Sokolan, consisted of a rocket cruiser, rocket ship, an antisubmarine ship, two submarines, the mother ship Tobol and the tanker Lena.

The Soviet ships will remain in Havana until July 27, Russia's navy day. A day earlier, the vessels will participate in the anniversary of the Cuban revolution.

It was not known whether Castro was on hand to welcome the Russian fleet.

Castro recently was reported cutting sugar cane in eastern Cuba in efforts to dramatize his goal of a record 10 million ton sugar harvest for 1970.

'GOODWILL TRIP'

The visit of the Soviet fleet has been described by Russian and Cuban officials as a "goodwill trip" designed to strengthen relations between Moscow and Havana, which have improved over the last year.

Havana Radio called the visit "an historic event in the relations of both countries."

They also suggested the Russians may be reacting against the periodic visits of U.S. warships to the Black Sea, which is international water but is considered by Russia to be part of its domain.

Aldrin Takes Communion On Moon

HOUSTON (AP) — Astronaut Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. went to the moon yesterday with a piece of communion bread to symbolize fellowship with his home church on earth.

The safety of Apollo 11 crewmen and the success of the mission were included in prayers of all space center churches yesterday.

"Pray for Neil, Mike and Buzz (Aldrin)," said the Rev. M. Dean Woodruff, minister of the Webster Presbyterian Church where Aldrin is an elder. Mrs. Aldrin and their three children listened to the sermon from a pew near the front.

"On this journey keep them; grant them keen judgment, sharp mind and razor edge body," the minister said in his opening prayer.

When Woodruff brought out the bread for communion, a portion of the loaf had been broken away. The minister explained that Aldrin took a portion of the loaf with him on the moon trip and during the afternoon, after the moon landing was made, Aldrin symbolically joined the other parishioners in communion during one of his rest periods.

Living Outside Earth Predicted

HOUSTON (AP) — Apollo 11's successful landing on the moon opens "a new era" where "man is indeed going to establish places of abode outside the earth," the director of the space agency said yesterday.

"We have clearly entered a new era," said Thomas O. Paine, head of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. "The voices we hear coming back from these brave men on the surface of the moon are still hard to believe. And yet it's true.

"I think that this success is something that has raised the spirits of men around the world, has caused us to pause and ponder its meanings which only history, in the final analysis, will reveal to us," he told a news conference shortly after Neil A. Armstrong and Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. landed on the lunar surface.

"Yes, we have entered a new era. Man is indeed going to establish places of abode outside the earth."

'A NEW ERA'

Paine, who was in a viewing room at mission control here at the moment of touchdown, telephoned President Nixon immediately after the landing. With Mr. Nixon in the White House was astronaut Frank Borman, commander of the first moon-orbiting flight, Apollo 8.

"Mr. President," he said, "it is my honor on behalf of the entire NASA team to report to you that the Eagle has landed on the Sea of Tranquillity and our astronauts are safe and looking forward to starting the exploration of the moon."

'CONSIDERABLE TENSION'

Paine said the moods of the President and himself were both "ones of considerable tension. He (Mr. Nixon) spoke with a great deal of excitement.

"We discussed the gripping excitement and wonder present in the White House and in mission control during the final minutes of this historic touchdown," Paine said.

Elated Wives Bubble Over Back On Earth

HOUSTON (AP) — Whoops and hollers of happiness rocked the Apollo 11 homes yesterday as Neil Armstrong and Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. landed on the moon.

"Good, good, good," shouted Mrs. Armstrong and leaped from a bed covered with maps and charts on which she followed the final minutes of descent.

Later in front yard news conferences, the wives of all three Apollo 11 crewmen struggled to express their happiness.

WEDDING FIRST

However, Mrs. Armstrong said she did not consider the moon landing the greatest moment of her life.

"That was when we were married," said the wife of the Apollo 11 commander.

"I was tremendously excited," she said. "It is a marvelous thing when we have succeeded landing on the moon."

"I cried after the touchdown, I was so happy," said Mrs. Aldrin. "I still am not aable to believe it."

Despite intermittent rain, Mrs. Aldrin joined a large group of newsmen and photographers under the towering oak and elm trees of her front yard. She was sheltered by an umbrella, but several times lifted it to one side at photographers' requests.

'SPLASHDOWN BEST'

However, "the splashdown will be the best part of the flight," Mrs. Aldrin said in answering a question.

"I thought it was fantastically marvelous," said Mrs. Michael Collins, wife of the Apollo 11 crewman who kept watch in the command capsule while the other two visited the moon's surface.

"Don't you think he is there with them in spirit?" Mrs. Collins answered when asked if she thought her husband was disappointed because he was not in the landing party.

All three wives already have made plans for a pre-splashdown celebration tomorrow night at a party hosted by astronaut Bill Anders.

Anders was with Mrs. Armstrong during the moon descent, pointing out on the charts and maps the locations named by Armstrong and Aldrin on the way down. The mission control monitor relaying all communications from the spacecraft was on one side of the bed and a color television set on the other.

OTHERS PRESENT

Others in the room were a son, Eric; Armstrong's younger brother, Dean, and his wife, and Mrs. James A. Lovell, wife of another astraonaut.

All jumped to their feet and cheered the touchdown.

In the Aldrin home, astronaut Russell Schweickart kept Mrs. Aldrin advised of the lunar lander's descent. She sat on a sectional sofa, alternately looking at a chart, listening to the mission control "squawk box," and watching television. During the final few feet of descent, Mrs. Aldrin rose to her feet and shouted "touchdown" when she heard the landing report.

"There were whoops and hollers from everyone," said an official family spokesman. "I got so excited I forgot to note who they were, but there was a lot of noise.

"When it quieted down, someone said: 'Resume Breathing.' And I don't even know who said that."

In the Armstrong home when the cheering subsided, Mrs. Armstrong, who very seldom smokes, lighted a cigarette and stretched out to relax.

the spacecraft. In a steady voice, he proclaimed, "Here man first set foot on the moon, July, 1969. We came in peace for all mankind."

At 8:42 p.m. PDT, Aldrin unfurled the Stars and Stripes and it stood in the airless, windless atmosphere of the moon, held taut by a rod along the top. One of the Americans stood back and saluted.

Armstrong said the spacecraft's footpads had pressed only an inch or two into the soft lunar surface. His foot sank only a "small fraction—about an eighth of an inch.'

When Eagle first landed on the moon and Armstrong said his historic words, Charlie Dukes, the Mission Control communicator, shouted his reply back eagerly and excitedly:

"Roger, Tranquility, we copy you on the ground. You've got a bunch of guys about to turn blue. We're breathing again. Thanks a lot."

"Thank you," Armstrong said.

"You're looking good here," Dukes said.

It was a smooth touchdown, but Eagle had been headed for a rough and rocky landing area until Ald[illegible]ook control of the LM away from automatic pilot. [illegible]strong explained:

"[illegible] was ta[illegible] right into a foot- [illegible] crater with [illegible] number of big boulde[illegible] ters ar[illegible]cks for [illegible] and [illegible] the rock[illegible]

Eagle [illegible]overed for [illegible] searche[illegible] landing [illegible] as the astronauts [illegible] 40 seconds of fuel left whe[illegible] down.

Had m[illegible]ot been aboard, the module would have crashed.

For a while after touch down, in a manner of speaking, Eagle was lost on the moon. Armstrong said he did not know where he had landed because he did not recognize any landmarks as he looked around the moonscape.

"No sweat," said control in Houston. "We'll figure it out for you."

But Armstrong did begin immediately sending down data on what surrounded the spacecraft.

"We'll get to the details of what's around here," he said, "but it looks like a collection of just about every variety of shapes, angularities, granularities, every variety of rock you could find.

"The colors vary pretty much depending on how you're looking relative to the phase point. There doesn't appear to be too much of a general color at all, however."

"Rog, Tranquility," said control, "be advised there's lots of smiling faces in this room, and all over the world."

"There are two of them up here," Armstrong said. "Rog, that was a beautiful job, you guys."

"And don't forget one in the command module," this from Mike Collins who still orbited the moon in Columbia, awaiting later rendezvous and the return to earth.

The astronauts began their moon walk about 3½ hours ahead of schedule.

Dr. Charles Berry, chief flight surgeon, said one of the reasons for this was the excellent health of both astronauts.

Another reason, he said, was because both are "up and excited now and it would be virtually impossible for them to sleep and I think they are doing exactly the right thing (in moon walking early)." They were to have rested for four hours before departing Eagle.

The trip to the surface of the moon by Eagle began with a tentative separation early yesterday of the two spacecraft.

Command mudule pilot Collins inched his Columbia away from Eagle just enough so Mission control and the astronauts could make sure all systems were functioning properly and Collins could look Eagle over.

They were. So, Collins pulled away to a distance of about two miles.

Among the first words from Aldrin after this separation were:

"The Eagle has wings."

Then Eagle fired its [illegible]850-p[illegible]-thrust engine for 28 seconds. Eagle flew [illegible] in "descent orbit in[illegible] to 50,000 feet altitude [illegible] 57 minutes, coasting [illegible]oon—then the engine was ignited again.

This time it burned for 1[illegible] minutes, the longest and most complex firing of a U.S. rocket so far in manned space flight.

About 10 miles out, Aldrin reported some oscillation in an antenna. No problem.

Now Aldrin, the Lunar Module pilot, was doing most of the talking.

At times there were communication problems first in Columbia, then Eagle. When that happened, Mission Control simply relayed its instructions through the other spacecraft— another advantag[illegible] having two separate modules on the mission.

The final approach phase was with[illegible]cident, much smoother than anyone had dreamed. There was some lunar dust kicked up by the descent engine as the module settled on the moon's surface, but that was expected.

Eagle had landed. And now the whole world knew the answer to that question, "Why is man going to the moon?"

It was simple, really:

Because he can.

Only Chinese Miss Landing By Astronauts

By United Press International

Almost all the world bore witness yesterday to mankind's great achievement.

In Communist China — home for one-fifth of mankind — there was no report, no announcement, no word that two humans had reached the moon.

Elsewhere, millions watched or listened to American astronauts Neil A. Armstrong and Edwin R. Aldrin fulfill for mankind the dream it has cherished for milleniums.

In a unanimity that is rare, but understandable, that part of mankind aware of the achievement expressed hope that it would be beneficial to itself and, in some way, bring peace to earth.

Kings and presidents, prime ministers and prelates sent congratulatory cables to the Apollo 11 astronauts, in care of the Space Center at Houston, and to President Nixon in Washington.

Like husbands, housewives and children everywhere, the world's leaders also sat in front of television sets or tuned transistor radios to follow the moon landing.

"It is an achievement of such importance that I don't know any point of comparison," said the president of the International Aeronautical Federation, Prof. Edward Wegelius of Helsinki. His comment characterized scientific reaction.

ACKNOWLEDGED BY RUSSIA

The Soviet Union acknowledged the U.S. triumph but waited 10 minutes to do it. Its news agency, Tass, announced the moon landing in a 52-word dispatch. There were no congratulatory messages immediately coming from the Kremlin.

In other major Communist nations, Chinese leaders decided to withhold the news of man's attainment of the moon from 750 million persons. The Yugoslav news agency, in a dispatch from Peking, said no word of any phase of the Apollo 11 mission had been mentioned in China.

President Giuseppe Saragat of Italy, drawing fully on the eloquence of Italians, perhaps summarized fulfillment of man's moon dream best for all the world.

"Indescribable emotions" have been aroused throughout the world, he said.

"Perhaps this victory can give hope for victory more grand—that of peace, justice and liberty for all mankind."

EMBASSY CROWDED

More than 500 persons crowded the lobby of the U.S. Embassy in Warsaw to hear news of the landing. "People were pressed against the glass in the entrance way to catch the news. There was euphoria in the crowd" when they landed, said an embassy spokesman.

In the war-torn Middle East, Arab radio stations interrupted their bulletins of a major air battle over the Suez Canal to acclaim the event and praise Edwin Aldrin and Neil Armstrong for "making history."

The streets of some of the world's largest cities—Mexico City, Oslo, Belgrade, Rome—were nearly deserted as millions stayed home glued to their television screens.

Thousands of U.S. servicemen watched and heard the event over the armed forces television and radio networks.

'THERE THEY ARE'

In Montreal, an estimated 29,000 spectators let out a huge roar when a public address system in Jarry Park announced: "We have just learned the two American astronauts have successfully landed on the moon."

At the Hotel California on Paris' Rue de Berri, an American couple held their young daughter up on their balcony so she could get a glimpse of the moon, a buttery-colored crescent in the clear, blue [illegible] sky.

"There they are," the chil[illegible] repeated. "There they are. I s[illegible] them, mommy, really I do."

[illegible]e program included a syn- [illegible] aurora borealis, a dance [illegible]rmed in a "moon" bubble under black light, and the dropping of colored parachutes from a 19th Century balloon by "parachute sculptor" Yukihisa Isobe.

Other big television screens were erected in Rockefeller Center, where a life-size model of the moon module was displayed, and at Kennedy Airport, less crowded than usual because many people apparently stayed home to watch their own sets.

A midtown pub, not to be outdone by civic officials, announced it would break out free "moontinies" at the historic moment of Armstrong's walk. Anybody named Armstrong, Aldrin or Collins was promised a free [illegible] during [illegible] weekend on the [illegible]stro Tower at Coney Island.

In major league baseball parks, doubleheaders were halted while the field announcer proclaimed man was on the moon. Crowds came to their feet cheering as lustily as if the home town star had hit a home run.

Moon watching was geared to a quieter pace elsewhere across the nation, but interest was so intense that it became nearly impossible to rent television sets in such cities as New York, Springfield, Ill., and San Francisco.

Perhaps typical of the thoughts of the average American on this Sunday of Sundays were the warm words of Mrs. D. D. Stephens of Houston:

"This is the one we have all been waiting for. I'm so proud of all of them. I'm so proud to be an American."

Pope Hails Feat, Looks To Future

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy (AP) — Pope Paul hailed the Apollo II astronauts yesterday as conquerers of the moon and said man looks forward to "the expanse of endless space and a new destiny."

The 71-year-old pontiff, who followed the lunar landing on color television in the pontifical observatory at his summer retreat south of Rome, declared:

"Honor, greetings and blessings to you, conquerers of the moon, pale lamp of our nights and our dreams! Bring to her, with your living presence, the voice of the spirit, a hymn to God, our creator and our father.

'CLOSE TO YOU'

"We are close to you, with our good wishes and with our prayers. Together with the whole Catholic Church, Pope Paul VI salutes you."

In a dramtic, unscheduled address, the Pope greeted news of the lunar landing by exclaiming: "Glory to God in the highest and peace on earth to men of good will!

"We, humble representatives of that Christ, who, coming among us from the abyss of divinity, has made to resound in the heavens this blessed voice. Today we make an echo, repeating it in a celebration on the part of the whole terrestrial globe, with no more unsurp[illegible] ble bounds of human exist[illegible] but openness to the expans[illegible] endless space and a new destiny.

'HONOR TO ALL'

"Honor to all those who have made this bold flight possible. Honor to all of you who have been in some way involved. Honor to you who, seated behind your awesome instruments, are controlling the mission, to you who notified the world of the feat and the hour, which feat spreads to the heavens — the wise dominion and courage of man.

"Honor, salutes, and blessings."

The Pope followed the descent to the moon hour by hour, several times looking through the powerful telescope in the Vatican Observatory.

Gen. Adams Named

Here's Plan For Apollo 11 Return Trip

Eight-hour, 50-minute rest period began at 11:40 p.m. Sunday.

Astronauts have meal beginning at 8:55 a.m.

Lunar Module's ascent engine fires for critical seven-minute burn at 10:50 a.m. to put astronauts into an initial lunar orbit ranging from 11 to 52 miles high. Smaller maneuvering rockets fire several times to put LM in same orbit as command ship for docking at 2:26 p.m.

Armstrong and Aldrin rejoin Collins in command ship two hours later. Unmanned Lunar module jettisoned from command ship's nose at 6:20 p.m.

Main control command ship engine fired at 9:52 p.m. to propel Apollo 11 out of moon orbit and start return trip back to the earth.

Malaysia Ups Patrols

KUALA LUMPUR (UPI) — Malaysia has increased security patrols along her border with Thailand, a government spokesman said yesterday. The strengthened security forces followed a clash with 15 Communist terrorists last week, the spokesman said.

U.S. System Credited In Moon Success

By Associated Press

Former President Lyndon B. Johnson says the U.S. space program owes some of its success to the American form of government and to civilian direction.

He said it would have been "disastrous" if the program had been oriented primarily toward military ends.

Johnson said of the Russians, "My best judgment is that they do not have the system of government that we have, and as a result they don't have the freedom of decision we have."

He added, "As a result they can't get the action that we can into our program."

"I think that the great strength of this program is its openness," the former president said, "that's our system, and that's why we have a better system."

He applauded the decision to place the space program in civilian hands.

"I can't think of anything that would have been more disastrous to the program as a whole and to our country in the light of the view of other nations, if they had thought we were occupying space to try and control the world and place armaments in space and threaten the existence of the world," Johnson said.

V Pictures From Moon Require Skill

The idea presented almost insurmountable problems to television network engineers and space agency officials a year ago.

They solved the problems, but at a cost of several million dollars.

A basic difficulty is distance — 250,000 miles. It takes an electronic signal traveling 186,000 miles per second — the [illegible] of light — 2.6 seconds to go from earth to moon and back.

'DOPPLER SHIFT'

Another problem is "Doppler shift." This is the change in frequency of radio waves transmitted by a source, such as the Apollo 11 spacecraft, that is moving in relation to the receiver. The problem is complicated when receivers, in this case giant dish antennas around the world, also are moving through space as the earth rotates and revolves around the sun.

The frequency shift must be corrected before the Federal Communications Commission will allow the television signals on commercial television channels. Engineers accomplish this by tape recording the television signal in Houston and replaying it into another recorder. By varying the speed of the tape, they change the frequency.

However, running the television signals through two recorders creates a loss of synchronization between the astronauts' voices and their moving mouths, something like a poorly dubbed foreign movie.

VOICES SYNCHRONIZED

Engineers also had to figure out how to make the Apollo 11 television images compatible with scanning rates of commercial television sets.

The black-and-white camera on the moon transmits 10 images a second. That must be converted to 30 images a second for home sets.

COLOR EFFECT

However, this color picture is not compatible with normal color television, in which three separate image tubes produce a color picture. Another conversion is necessary.

Television signals received by the 210-foot dish antenna in Australia are sent to Houston via communications satellite in orbit over the Pacific. The signals are received by a California antenna and move to Houston by land line.

Two Britons Fashion Four Gold 'Moons'

LONDON (UPI) — Two Britons had four gold "moons" ready yesterday to commemorate the U.S. Apollo lunar landing mission — one for each of the astronauts and one for the mother of the American President who made the decision to go ahead with a moon program.

The 24 carat gold orbs, each costing nearly $1,000, were thought up by London stockbroker Simon Horn and designed by Louis Osman, who also created the modernistic and controversial crown worn by Prince Charles at his investiture as Prince of Wales.

The first of the Osman "moons" will go to Mrs. Rose Kennedy, mother of the late President John F. Kennedy who decided in 1961 that Americans would go to the moon before 1970.

SUPERLATIVES SUPERFLUOUS

The Moment Of Truth Leaves World Wordless

By SAUL PETT

HOUSTON (AP) — Why, oh why, did we tire and age them before their appointed time? Why did we waste them on elections and no-hitters, on bull markets and murders, on TV shows and circuses?

Why didn't we pull out of the language long ago and save for this special moment in the story of man such words as historic and momentous, dramatic and breathtaking, fantastic and incredible?

What are we left with now except to feel a silent feeling, a wordless awe, a still reverence, perhaps, for the fact that mortal men from earth, our part of earth, at that, have landed on th[illegible]oon?

All along, it f[illegible] the astronauts had th[illegible] simple right words, th[illegible] without adjectives, the[illegible] without adverbs, the strong workmanlike words that would stand as tall trees in the upward path of man from the mud to the moon.

They indulged themselves in only one metaphor. It couldn't have come at a better moment.

"The Eagle has wings," they said, and didn't it and didn't we? The lunar lander was separating from the mother ship and taking life of its own. One felt that suddenly the earth had wings and all men, following two men, were pulling loose from the doubts that immobilize and the fears that bind humanity to one planet.

"The Eagle has wings." A breaking away from the solid and the safe, from certainty and home. To what? We would soon know after thousands of years of not knowing.

"See you later," chirpy Columbia says to departing Eagle. Later would be 30 long hours later in history after they had landed and walked on the moon, photographed and sampled its soil and scurried up toward home.

"Our position indicator shows us to be a little long," [illegible] Eagle, 40,000 feet over [illegible]n. Steady, Eagle. "You'r[illegible]gle.

"Two thousand feet . . ."

"Fourteen hundred feet. . ."

"Four hundred feet . . . Face forward and hatch down . . ."

"Two hundred and fifty feet . . . Two hundred and twenty feet . . . Coming down nicely . . ." Lovely, Eagle. Lovely.

"One hundred feet . . ."

"Seventy-five feet . . ." Oh, Eagle!

"Lights on . . . Forward. Forward. Good. Forty feet . . . picking up some dust . . . Faint shadow . . . Drifting to the right a little." Careful, Eagle, careful.

"Contact light. Okay engine stop . . . Engine arm off." Houston: "We copy you down, Eagle."

"Houston . . . Tranquillity Base here. The Eagle has landed," Eagle tells Houston and the world and eternity.

"Columbia: "Fantastic."

Fantastic, Eagle, fantastic. The word was made for you.

Long Shot Bet Pays Off Big In 5-Year Race

LONDON (AP) — David Threlfall, who bet $24 five years ago that man would set foot on the moon before 1971, was handed a check for $24,000 on British television last night even though he had not yet won the wager.

A spokesman for London bookmaker William Hill, with whom Threlfall placed the bet at 1,000-1 odds when he was 26, said the touchdown by the lunar module Eagle was "good enough for us."

Check Slated For Chemical Contaminants

ABOARD USS HORNET (AP) — Scientists will be looking for more than germs when they examine the Apollo 11 astronauts after their return from the moon.

They will be alert also for alien chemicals which, like many earth materials, could cause inflammations, allergies, perhaps even cancer.

The physician who will give astronauts their first postflight examination says it is extremely unlikely that he will detect any lunar micro-organisms even if they exist.

WILL TAKE HOURS

"Specimens from the astronauts will have to be cultured and this takes many hours — the process probably won't be completed until after the astronauts are in quarantine at Houston," Dr. William Carpentier of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said in an interview.

"But if there are any strange inorganic contaminants, they should show up on swab tests even if astronauts have not yet begun to react to them."

Carpentier, who will be isolated with the astronauts during their 21 days of quarantine, will swab their ears, noses, throats, scalps and hands and then study the swabs under a microscope.

PRECAUTIONS TAKEN

"I don't really expect to find any lunar material because of precautions that will be taken, such as brushing off their feet before they return to the landing craft after walking on the moon," he said.

"I'll be looking primarily for particles of glass fiber insulation which caused irritation on earlier flights. But if there should be any strange particles, I'll see them."

Carpentier said he will watch mainly for clinical signs and symptoms to determine whether the astronauts are sick or well. Most of the biological analysis will be done at Houston.

Lunar Suits Like A Tiny Spaceship

The $300,000 suits donned by Apollo 11 astronauts Neil Armstrong and Col. Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. to protect them on the lunar surface are really an attempt to bring their earth atmosphere with them.

On the moon, there is no oxygen, water or shade. Nor is there an atmosphere to shield the sun's radiation or burn up meteorites streaking toward the lunar surface.

500-DEGREE RANGE

Temperatures in the middle of the lunar day range from 250 degrees above zero in the sun to 250 degrees below zero in shadows only a few yards away.

To survive, an earthman must carry his own tiny atmosphere — oxygen, air conditioning, sun visors and a meteorite shield.

190 POUNDS ON EARTH

The pack, called the portable life support system, also provides electrical power for radio communications and air conditions the suit.

Suit and pack weigh a staggering 190 pounds on earth, but only 30 pounds in the moon's one-sixth gravity.

The astronauts' underwear has a system of pipes next to the body through which water circulates. The water transfers heat from the body to a radiator in the back pack where it is released into space.

Cooling also comes from the oxygen pumped into the suit from the back pack at a temperature of 40 to 50 degrees. After flowing over the body and being breathed, the oxygen is returned to the pack, carrying away perspiration, carbon dioxide and body odor.

The oxygen is chemically scrubbed and recirculated through the suit.

BODY DATA RELAYED

As another precaution, lunar astronauts wear fireproof overalls designed to stop tiny meteorites at a velocity as high as 64,000 miles per hour.

The communication system linking the moon explorers with earth is as elaborate as the suit. Tiny transmitters relay voices and information on heart rate, oxygen consumption and temperature to earth through the antenna of the nearby moon lander.

Working properly, the back pack has supplies for four hours and can be recharged in the lander.

Rogers Showing A Fresh Style

Nixon's Secretary Of State Influences Policies

Editor's Note: This is the second of 13 articles exploring the views and progress of the Nixon administration.

By JAMES CARY
Copley News Service

WASHINGTON—Take Vietnam, America's most complex international problem of the century. Add a Middle East teetering on the brink of war. Put in a dash of Latin American disillusionment, an aggressive new Soviet policy in Europe and deep, smoldering dissatisfaction at home.

Then bring in a president named Richard Nixon with strong inclinations about running his own foreign policy and sit a brilliant Harvard foreign affairs adviser at his elbow, Dr. Henry Kissinger.

Now stir well and place it all before William Pierce Rogers, an attorney with virtually no background in foreign diplomacy, and ask him to take over and convert the ingredients into a repast of international peace, progress and stability.

This was the stew served up to Rogers last Jan. 22 when he was sworn in at the White House as the 55th U.S. secretary of state.

WILLIAM P. ROGERS

DIGESTIVE DISTRESS

The results might well have been total, chronic indigestion. Six months later, however, although there has been continuing digestive distress, the nation has shown some occasional signs of improvement and a few flashes of a fresher, more youthful style and spirit in its approach to international affairs.

The final diagnosis, of course, will not be rendered for a number of years to come

In the meantime, under Rogers' titular leadership, the United States has slowly unfolded a new Vietnam strategy; has launched intensive U.S.—Soviet bilateral (and less intensive four-power) talks on a Middle East solution; has established an improved working relationship with Western Europe, particularly France; has moved to the threshold of strategic arms limitation talks with the Russians; has restored diplomatic relations with Cambodia; has prepared intensive new negotiations with Japan over Okinawa; has learned just how shockingly bad America's relations are in Latin America, and will soon send Mr. Nixon on a visit to Romania—the first by any American president to a Communist nation since World War II.

Just how much of this Rogers is responsible for is an open question, but he has played an important role in much of the decision making, was directly involved in setting up the Romanian tour, and has labored very hard at learning the tools of this new job.

MUCH TRAVELED

In fact, Rogers, 56, has shown proclivities for becoming the most traveled secretary of state and participant in face-to-face diplomacy since the days of the peripatetic John Foster Dulles during the Eisenhower administration of the 1950s.

Since taking office, he has been to South Vietnam, Thailand, India, Pakistan, Afghanistan, Iran and Canada, and will soon touch base in the Philippines, Indonesia, Japan, South Korea, Nationalist China, Australia and New Zealand.

What he has learned in these months of intensive effort and how it will affect America's future diplomacy is difficult to determine. Rogers is friendly enough personally (he shook hands with all newsmen as they arrived for his first press conference).

He also is remote enough to be little known by most of the press corps.

He is a man with a reputation as a manager and administrator, not an innovator.

SUAVE, ADROIT

He can be suave and adroit, as demonstrated in his first appearance before Sen. J. William Fulbright's not always friendly Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

He can be tough. He refused to take back the State Department's former security chief, Otto Otepka, a strong favorite of congressional conservatives, who was suspended by the previous administration for providing classified information to congressional committees. Otepka was named to the Subversive Activities Control Board.

Rogers was born June 23, 1913, at Norfolk, N. Y. He received an A.B. degree at Colgate University in 1934, and an LL.B. at Cornell in 1937. He practiced law in New York, was assistant district attorney of New York County on two occasions—1938-42 and 1946-47—and later served as counsel to the Senate War Investigating Committee. From 1948 to 1950 he was chief counsel of the Senate Investigations subcommittee.

Rogers' main governmental experience has been in the Justice Department. He was deputy attorney general of the United States from 1953 to 1957 and attorney general from 1957 to 1961.

TRUSTED FRIEND

It was during these years that he became a trusted friend of Richard Nixon, counseling him during his 1952 campaign fund controversy and again during his difficult days as vice president when President Eisenhower was stricken with a heart attack.

After Nixon's defeat by John F. Kennedy in the 1960 presidential race, Rogers became a member of the law firm of Royall, Koegel, Rogers and Wells of New York, Washington, and Paris, a position he held until tapped by President Nixon this year to be secretary of state.

Contrary to the usual tone of campaign oratory, the new secretary did not announce any "mess" in the State Department, nor launch the always promised "housecleaning."

"I think the State Department generally speaking is in excellent condition," Rogers has stated. "I am tremendously impressed by the qualifications and dedication of the people (there) . . . but I think there are areas where we could make improvements."

TWO MOVES

So far those improvements have surfaced in two unrelated moves—one a review of the procedures used in selecting, promoting and assigning State Department personnel in order to make better use of available talent, the other a merging of the department's long-range thinkers and everyday decision makers into a new planning and coordination staff. The idea is to bring the work of the former Policy Planning Council more directly into day-to-day decision making.

If such efforts bring a faint breath of fresh air into what former Undersecretary of State George Ball once called "the fudge factory," perhaps even more innovative in its own way is the administration's dual-track Vietnam strategy that has been unveiled in recent months.

At his first news conference on April 7, Rogers said:

"We do have a plan which we think is . . . . fair and reasonable . . . It is carefully thought through . . . I have every hope it will eventually result in a successful peace."

PLAN GOAL

One part of the plan, it has become clear, is to seek a negotiated end to the war based on mutual troop withdrawals and a political settlement keyed to internationally inspected elections.

The other, in the absence of progress toward a negotiated settlement, is to begin a unilateral withdrawal of U.S. troops as South Vietnamese forces become able to take over more of the fighting under an intensive retraining and rearming program—a de-Americanizing of the war.

The unique factor in the strategy—if it works—is that it offers a chance for continued movement toward some type of de facto settlement whether the stalemate in the Paris peace talks continues or not.

There is some encouragement also in the administration's continuing, intensive bilateral talks with the Soviet Union on devising a framework for a Middle East settlement, while leaving the final details to be worked out by Israel and its Arab opponents.

"There are some advances. . . . ." Rogers acknowledges.

HAND OF KISSINGER

Rogers has never laid claim to authorship of either the new Vietnam of Middle East approaches. The hand of Dr. Henry Kissinger, Mr. Nixon's national security adviser, seems clearly evident in the Vietnam strategy. The Middle East negotiations have much more of a Nixon and European, than Rogers, imprint.

But Rogers' widely acknowledged administrative talents may well have been involved in forging the atmosphere of mutual trust and closer relations that now exist with the South Vietnamese government—a climate that has made much of the diplomatic maneuvering possible.

There have been diplomatic failures, too.

It is no secret that the irrational, almost savage belligerency displayed by North Korea in the first six months of the Nixon administration—particularly in shooting down a U.S. reconnaissance plane earlier this year—caught both U.S. military and diplomatic planners off guard.

ROCKEFELLER TRIPS

The violence of the anti-American sentiment stirred by the Latin American trips of Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, President Nixon's personal envoy, also was far stronger than anticipated.

Those are the burdens of world leadership in the volatile year of 1969. There will be more troubles to come. Such is the course of diplomacy—as William P. Rogers, lawyer turned reluctant world strategist, has learned in a comparatively few months of time.

Total Vietnam Pullout Held Unlikely Soon

SAIGON (UPI) — Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, yesterday ruled out a complete U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam by the end of 1970 and said he does not believe the current lull in fighting is a sign for peace on the part of the Communists.

As he spoke, U.S. military spokesmen announced successful completion of a raid on a Communist camp 32 miles north of Saigon in which 49 Communists were killed. There were no U.S. casualties.

HEADS HOME

Wheeler, speaking at a news conference at Tan Son Nhut Airport here before returning to the United States, gave his assessment of the Vietnam War after a four-day tour of the war zone made at the request of Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird.

Asked if he considered the four-week lull in fighting a political gesture by the Communists, Wheeler replied:

"No, I do not. As you know, the enemy's level of combat has always been cyclic."

AGREES WITH THIEU

Wheeler said President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam was "absolutely correct" in his recent statement that the United States would not be able to withdraw all of its forces from Vietnam by the end of 1970.

He declined comment on the possibility of troop reductions beyond the withdrawal of 25,000 Americans from the war zone by the end of August, a cutback in strength that is in process.

Honor Medal Winner Killed In Cycle Crash

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — Marine Maj. Stephen W. Pless, Medal of Honor winner who survived 780 combat helicopter missions iin Vietnam, was killed early yesterday when his motorcycle plunged off an open drawbridge into Santa Rosa Sound.

Witnesses told investigating Escambia County Sheriff's deputies Pless lost control of his motorcycle, hit a warning arm and dropped over the drawbridge opening. The bridge was open for barge traffic.

Pless, the 18th Marine to win the Medal of Honor in Vietnam, was awarded the nation's highest medal by President Lyndon B. Johnson on Jan. 16.

The 29-year-old helicopter pilot received the award for rescuing four soldiers trapped by heavy enemy fire at Quang Nga, Vietnam on Aug. 19, 1967.

Pless was a physical fitness officer assigned to the Naval Aviation School at Pensacola Naval Air Station. He left a widow, the former Jo Ann Smith of Summerville, Ala., and three children, Paul, 6; Tina, 4, and Cynthia, 2

Robber Gets $1,200 In Fake Kidnaping

LAKEWOOD (UPI) — A supermarket clerk turned over $1,200 cash receipts yesterday to a man who handed him a note saying that a confederate was holding the clerk's wife and three children as hostages.

U.S. Stands Firm On Disciplining Air Traffic Men

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe yesterday remained firm on plans to discipline air traffic controllers despite threats of mass resignations if they are punished for last month's work stoppages.

Volpe and Federal Aviation Administrator John H. Shaffer told the House Commerce Committee that the controllers must abide by a federal law that bars them from striking or engaging in other work stoppages.

JOHN A. VOLPE
. . . plans panel of experts

At the same time, Volpe told the committee he was naming John J. Corson, consultant to the Carnegie Foundation and the Urban Coalition, to head a panel of experts "to review air traffic controller personnel problems."

However, Volpe said the panel would not deal with the discipline issue.

REQUIRED BY LAW

"We don't have any leeway here," Shaffer said. "We work under laws. . .by law we are required to take action. . .not as a punitive measure but in order to carry out our responsibilities."

The Professional Air Traffic Controllers Association (PATCO) which represents about 7,000 of the nation's 14,000 controllers, has begun to stockpile copies of signed resignations by its members, according to Michael J. Rock, PATCO board chairman. The resignations are being withheld by the controllers until it is determined whether a majority of the members have decided to resign, Rock said.

"We have a near crisis now with everyone on the job," said Rock, "and if the controllers resign, the air traffic system will collapse."

U.S. PREPARED

Volpe downgraded the possibility of mass resignations.

"I personally believe that will not happen," he said. "This is a very serious matter. . .we are hopeful these employes will consider this very carefully."

He said that if the controllers do resign, "we're prepared to man the system."

The threat of mass resignations developed after Shaffer announced Friday that controllers who participated in a "sick-call" boycott June 18-20 would be disciplined. The boycott by 477 controllers in protest of what they believe are unsafe workloads and equipment delayed air traffic and caused some flight cancellations.

Shaffer told the committee the punishments might range from "a very simple letter of reprimand to suspension for an appropriate period of time."

Some House committee members, however, questioned the wisdom of the disciplinary plans.

5,000 TO WALK OUT?

Rep. Samuel N. Friedel, D-Md., said, "This would be a terrible thing if we have a mass resignation."

F. Lee Bailey, the criminal lawyer who acts as counsel for the controllers, said at a news conference in Port Jefferson, N.Y., that he expected 5,000 of the PATCO's 7,800 members to hand in their resignations soon if the dispute is not settled.

"Within 10 days, one might look for serious problems in the air traffic system," he said.

Bailey also objected to an FAA decision to abolish the association's dues checkoff system as of Sunday. He said the controllers would seek an injunction in federal court in Des Moines to bar the action.

Shipbuilding Funds Boosted By House Unit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Appropriations Committee yesterday offered the administration nearly 13 times what it had asked to spur American shipbuilding.

The shipbuilding funds were contained in a $2.5 billion appropriations package. The package was $58 million more than President Nixon had asked to run the State, Justice and Commerce departments for the fiscal year that started July 1.

All of the increase was in the Commerce Department, which was given $200 million in construction subsidies for the maritime industry.

That was nearly 13 times more than the $15.9 million Nixon had asked for construction subsidies and will be added to the $100 million in unspent funds former President Lyndon B. Johnson declined to obligate.

SUBSIDY PAYMENTS

Under the subsidy plan, the government pays 55 per cent of the cost of a ship constructed in an American yard.

The committee also provided $194 million in operating subsidies that automatically go to American shipping lines which ply government-prescribed trade routes.

Some of the funds for the construction increase was obtained by reducing what Mr. Nixon had asked for to run the fledgling Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, created by Congress last year when it passed the Safe Streets Act.

Mr. Nixon requested $296 million; the committee approved $250 million.

CUTS IN REQUESTS

Other requests made by Mr. Nixon and cut by the committee included: grants to state and local police agencies, $229.6 million asked, $200 million approved; funds to create a national law enforcement institute, $20.9 million asked, $7.5 million approved.

The House measure would give the state, justice and commerce departments $479.4 million more than they received for the fiscal year that ended June 30.

*In boosting the ship construction subsidies amount, the committee said the $15.9 million re*quested was completely unrealistic if the U.S. merchant marine is to compete with foreign shipping.

Budget Cuts Cost 5,000 Students

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Junior college officials in Los Angeles estimate they have lost almost 5,000 prospective summer school students because of 1969-70 budget cuts.

The district's actual enrollment is up 416 students from the previous sumer, with a day enrollment of 20,953 and an evening enrollment of 9,513.

Officials say the increase would have been 5,500 more or so if the $2.1 million budget cut, which reduced the number of classes and teachers, had not occurred.

Rail Trestle Burns

LIVERMORE (AP) — A grass fire spread to a rail line and destroyed a Western Pacific trestle near Altamont, 10 miles northeast of here. Trains were switched to nearby alternate lines.

Airline Safe Looted

NEW YORK (UPI) —Three gunmen, two apparently dressed as Pan American Airways employes, took an estimated $600,000 in cash and jewels yesterday from the airline's safe at John F. Kennedy International Airport.

Moon Walkers Describe A Strange New World

Highlights Of Lunar Conversation

HOUSTON (AP)—There amid the craters of the moon were the bootprints of two men and their nation's flag.

Their President had told them from earth that it was their country's proudest day.

There were other voices between earth and moon Sunday night.

'EAGLE LANDED'

The first was that of the commander of Apollo 11, Neil Armstrong, who announced from his landing craft, called Eagle: "Houston, Tranquillity Base is here. The Eagle has landed."

Two hours later, Armstrong and his companion in Eagle, Edwin Aldrin, decided to postpone their nap and begin their incredible adventure on the moon's surface early.

Waiting for the walk to start, Aldrin beamed to earth a message meant for more than those in Mission Control.

"This is the LM pilot," he said. "I'd like to take this opportunity to ask every person listening, whoever, wherever they may be, to pause for a moment and contemplate the events of the last few hours and to give thanks in his or her own way."

TIME TO WALK

Then it was time. Pressure was let out of Eagle. The two men's spacesuits kept them alive.

Armstrong: "The hatch is coming open."

Aldrin coached Armstrong as he climbed out and down Eagle's ladder.

Armstrong's next words were the first ever uttered on the moon: "That's one small step for man, a giant leap for mankind."

'SURFACE POWDERY'

Armstrong: "The surface is fine and powdery. I can pick it up loosely with my toe. The dirt adhered in fine layers like powdered charcoal to the, uh, to the sole and insides of my boots. I only go in, oh, an eighth of an inch, but I can see footprints of my boots and the treads and the fine, sandy particles.

"There seems to be no difficulty in moving around, as we suspected. It's even perhaps easier than the simulations of one-sixth G (one-sixth gravity) that we performed in various simulations on the ground. No trouble to walk around. Okay, the descent engine did not leave a crater of any size. It's, uh, there's about one foot clearance from the ground. We're essentially on a very level place here. I can see some evidence of rays emanating from the descent engine, but very insignificant amount.

"It's very interesting. It's a very soft surface. But here and there where I plug with the contingency sample collector I run into very hard surface, but it appears to be very cohesive material of the same sort. Try to get a rock in here. Just a couple."

Aldrin: "Ah, that looks beautiful from here, Neil."

'STARK BEAUTY'

Armstrong: "It has a stark beauty all its own. It's like much of the highest desert of the United States. It's, uh, different, but it's very pretty out here. Be advised that a lot of the rock samples out here, the hard rock samples, have what appear to be vesicles — small, thin-walled cavities in the surface."

Aldrin's moment came, and he asked: "Are you ready for me to come out?"

Now Armstrong was the coach: "A little more. About an inch. There. You got it."

'MAGNIFICENT SIGHT'

Aldrin: "Magnificent desolation."

The men started collecting rock samples.

Aldrin: "Neil, didn't I say we might see some purple rocks?

Armstrong: "Find any purple rocks?"

Aldrin: "Nope. Very small sparkly fragments are. . . in places. . . First guess is some sort of diotite (a brown mica substance).

Aldrin: "The, uh, blue color of my boots has completely disappeared now into this, oh, we don't know exactly what color to describe this other than grayish-cocoa color. Appears to be covering most of the whiter part of the boot. . .very fine particles."

Collins Content In 'Forgotten' Role

fowl of the air, and over the cattle, and over all the earth, and over every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth."

For Adam there could have been at least the rustle of leaves or the sound of cattle and beast. For Mike Collins, there was nothing at all.

Even when Collins was in communication range, he had to be content, mostly, just to listen to the conversation between Tranquillity Base and Mission Control.

REFLECTED IN VOICE

From his command ship, he was following it with great excitement. There might have been a bit of wistfulness or lonesomeness in his voice when ground control radioed to Eagle:

"There's lots of smiling faces in this room, and all over the world."

"There are two of them up here," Armstrong said from the moon.

"And don't forget one in the command module," Collins added.

Collins was so close to the moon that he almost could see the resting Eagle and Armstrong and Aldrin—almost.

Vainly he requested coordinates so he could find the moon base. No luck.

With each pass over the Sea of Tranquillity, he asked for new, corrected coordinates. Still, no luck.

People on earth some 250,000 miles away were seeing Armstrong and Aldrin walk into history, and he, Collins, command module pilot of Apollo 11, less than 50 miles from the surface of the moon, could see nothing.

"And while with silent, lifting mind I've trod the untrespassed sanctity of space, put out my hand and touched the face of God."

Jan Armstrong Cries Out At Moon Liftoff

EL LAGO, Tex. (UPI)—Would they get off the moon?

Jan Armstrong, whose technical knowledge of the space program is formidable, went into her bedroom with her mother and her older son, Eric, 12, during the crucial countdown yesterday that would end in telling whether her husband would stay and die on a lifeless place or start the long voyage home.

The count went into the last 10 seconds. The mother and son did not speak. The space agency communications line grew quiet. There was sudden static, and Mrs. Armstrong looked up and said: "That must be ignition."

ALDRIN'S VOICE

Then came the voice of Neil Armstrong's companion in flight, Col. Edwin E. Aldrin Jr., speaking after ignition. Mrs. Armstrong arose, cried out, clasped her hands over her head, and hugged her son with a sigh of relief.

Ricky Armstrong said only: "Great."

The other Armstrong son, Mark, 6, was in high spirits, running in and out of the bedroom with his new space toy, a miniature model of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Mission Control — pull a string and the communicator talks.

At the Aldrin home in the Nassau Bay community there was cheering, clapping, and tears in the eyes of a group of a dozen relatives and friends in the den. Aldrin's wife Joan said: "Come on, Mike." That was when the ascent stage of the module Eagle left the moon and headed for rendezvous with Lt. Col. Michael Collins, pilot of the command ship Columbia in lunar orbit.

CAKE INSCRIBED

After the liftoff, the Aldrin family went to the kitchen for a buffet lunch supplied by neighbors. They also ate the remainder of a cake that had been brought in at midnight by women of the Presbyterian Church of Webster, Tex., of which Aldrin is an elder. It had an inscription in the frosting: "We came in peace for all mankind."

The younger Aldrin son, Andrew, 11, recessed a football game with neighborhood playmates to listen to news of the liftoff. He had been taken to the spacecraft center dispensary during the morning for swabbing out of what the doctor called "swimmer's ear" after complaining of soreness.

In the Collins home nearby in Nassau Bay, Pat Collins remained in her bedroom alone for the liftoff and later said she was "very pleased it went as well as it did."

Lunar Quarantine Of 21 Days Begins

cific at 9:51 a.m. Thursday, San Diego time. A frogman dressed in a special suit with a gas-mask-like breathing filter will aid them in opening the hatch. He will hand similar biological isolation suits to the moonmen.

RAFT OF IODINE

The astronauts will board a rubber raft filled with an iodine solution designed to kill bacteria, then be picked up by a helicopter with a special compartment to keep them separate from the aircraft's crew.

The frogman will scrub down the spacecraft hatch with the iodine solution, seal the door and sink the rafts. After the helicopter carries the four to the waiting recovery ship, they will walk to a trailer-like structure without wheels called a Mobile Quarantine Facility.

They will be sealed in it with a physician, technician and the containers of lunar rocks. After reaching Hawaii, the van will be transferred to a C-141 aircraft, flown to Ellington Air Force Base near Houston then trucked to an $8.5 million lunar receiving laboratory at the Manned Spacecraft Center.

Doors to the laboratory will be sealed. Air inside is at a slightly lower pressure so that any leaks will be into the laboratory, not from it. Expelled air will go through surgical room filters.

TO QUARANTINE 15

Altogether, about 15 persons — cooks, doctors, medical technicians — will be quarantined with the crew.

The astronauts will see their families and talk to space agency officials through a glass wall.

Any illness, no matter how slight, will have to be definitely identified as curable before the astronauts are released.

Elsewhere in the building, scientists will search for life forms in the Apollo 11 command ship and the moon rocks brought back by the astronauts.

"If the astronauts get an undetected illness, we'll have to convince ourselves whether this is a moon bug or an earth bug," said Dr. Charles A. Berry, chief astronaut physician.

"That could be a real problem, and it could lengthen the quarantine period while we take time to prove what it is."

NIXON AT WORK

Washington Quiet On Apollo Day

By RAY McHUGH
Washington Bureau Chief
Copley News Service

President Nixon observed the "national day of participation" yesterday like a lot of other Americans — he tried to get some work done, but his thoughts were never far from the three astronauts who had landed on the moon.

Yesterday was a quiet day in Washington. The 400,000 government workers who normally clog the District of Columbia and the Maryland and Virginia suburbs stayed at home. Mr. Nixon had given them a day off to savor the conquest of the moon.

CONGRESS IN SESSION

Congress was in session, but the work load was light. Only a few committees met. A majority of Washington businesses closed, but banks remained open and there was a trickle of commercial traffic.

The President urged the holiday in tribute to the lunar landing, but only an act of Congress can declare a national holiday and there was no time for the House and Senate to act.

Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., said he will introduce a bill to make July 20 a national holiday every year — Apollo 11 Day.

"An annual holiday in commemoration of this historic event would remind us each year of the great success we have achieved — and provide inspiration for us to pursue new and even more challenging goals, both on earth and in space," Ribicoff said.

INTERRUPTS WORK

The President was at his desk by 8 o'clock yesterday morning but aides said he frequently interrupted his work to watch and listen to the latest reports from the Eagle spacecraft and the Columbia mother ship that circled the moon waiting for the moon team's return and the flight back to earth.

Congress echoed with praise for the Apollo 11 spacemen and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration team that put them on the moon.

Elsewhere in the nation, the crime rate fell off in Los Angeles and Ohio counted fewer than usual deaths on its highways.

Downtown Wapakoneta, Ohio, where Armstrong's parents live, was about 75 per cent closed down.

MILLIONS AT HOME

Other millions besieged newsstands from coast to coast. News vendors in Westchester County, N.Y., sold out early in the day.

The New York Times bannered the moon landing in 1½ inch type, much bigger than normal, and failed to satisfy demand with a press run of 950,000 copies.

WASHINGTON — One of the troubles with an affluent society is that the more affluent everyone gets, the less anyone wants to do.

This is particularly true when it comes to plumbers, electricians and other members of the Establishment.

I knew electricians and plumbers were doing well, but I didn't know how well until my air-conditioning unit broke over the weekend. How You May Never Take a Laxative Again!

Hospital-Tested Regulator Helps Relief Come Naturally

New York, N.Y. (Special)— Research has discovered a wonder-working substance that helps correct constipation without laxatives!

Doctors say most constipation occurs when waste loses moisture in the colon. To give relief, laxatives often force action—cause griping, cramping; can become habit-forming.

This hospital-tested substance works in a completely different way. It helps natural moisture in the colon work more effectively. Thus by working on the problem, not on you, it helps correct constipation as no laxative can.

This discovery is now available under the name REGUTOL®. It is not habit-forming. No warning on the label—no prescription needed. Try REGUTOL—you may never take a laxative again!

OINT OF VIEW

A TV Milestone From The Moon

By DONALD FREEMAN
The San Diego Union TV-Radio Editor

Freeman

"We've seen some kind of a birth here," said Eric Sevareid in the wake of man's first small step up there on the moon. "This new world, this new reality . . . They've peered into another life." A new world and a new reality and there it was, unfolding hour after hour on the television screen, a series of events once humbling and ennobling. It was beautiful.

And we all knew, as the ghostly figures walked at first hesitantly and then so coltishly on that alien planet, that man and the moon would never again be the same. We had climbed our extra-terrestrial Everest.

And, with proper irony, the landing by Armstrong and Aldrin occurred only hours before the dawn of the day that the ancients, with due sense of awe, named for the moon — Monday.

There was so much to be said and the commentators, wherever you spun the dial, said most of it. Walter Cronkite, the iron man at CBS' mike, observed: "An era, an age has come to an end — the thousands of years in which man stood down here on this small planet and thought, wrote and dreamed of the moon. He gave it names, and gods and goddesses . . . composed sonnets about its reflected light and its loneliness . . . planted, harvested, navigated, worshipped and romanced beneath its lull and under its spell . . .

"Starting today," Cronkite went on, "with this proof that man can leave the earth and land safely on another celestial body, he is now unlikely to be slowed in his stride to go elsewhere in the solar system . . . but as we touch this first milestone the nostalgia still remains, at least for most of us . . .

"In a generation or two, the nostalgia will be gone . . . when those who are too young to remember this day will be grown up . . . and unable to remember what it might have been like before and it's kind of sad, isn't it?"

The Songs Remain Constant

Nostalgia? Well, there was Steve Allen, on ABC, plunking away on the piano and singing all the old moon songs — "Carolina Moon" and "Moon Over Miami" and "Harvest Moon" and on and on. No matter what leaps mankind may take in the future, one thing remains ever constant — moon will always rhyme with June.

And there was frivolity. On CBS, the president of Pan American related that a number of reservations had been made on his airline's projected flight to the moon someday.

"One man wrote in requesting two tickets," he said. "He wanted one round-trip ticket and one for one-way. 'I'm taking my mother-in-law,'" he explained."

And between commentators, there was banter. On NBC, Frank McGee turned at one point to David Brinkley and asked: "Would you like to be the first newsman on the moon?"

"Certainly," Brinkley said.

"You answered too quickly. Why do you want to go?"

"Why not?"

"Not good enough," McGee persisted. "Why?"

Brinkley drew a breath. "For one thing," he began, thoughtfully now, "I'd go as journalist, as you would . . . presumably we'd go to do a job of reporting instead of science. They're preoccupied with their work, which is great — very great. But I do know a little bit about news." He paused. "When a poet does land on the moon," he added, "He'll have been put there by the engineers."

And always, there was a persistent reaffirmation of man. In Rome, an Italian space scientist was telling CBS' Winston Burdett: "Why send a man to the moon? A man has initiative, imagination, intelligence. A machine can only obey orders."

Wally Schirra, the astronaut (and an invaluable commentator working with Cronkite), saw the American flag implanted in the moon's bleak terrain. Then he said, softly, "There's no way an automated system could put up a flag such as that . . ."

Moment Of Silent Drama

At the most dramatic moment, as Armstrong's foot poked gingerly onto the moon's surface, the men who talk for their pay were suddenly rendered mute. "Wally," said Cronkite to Schirra, "say something. I'm speechless."

"We're home," said Wally.

And over on ABC, Frank Reynolds inhaled slowly. "That's the crunch," he said. "They've landed okay."

To which Jules Bergman added: "A kid who got his pilot's license before he could drive just landed on the moon'."

And still, when it was over, we were gripped by this aura of unreality. The man who wrote "2001: A Space Odyssey," Arthur C. Clarke, admitted with a grin: "It's as though I'd fallen asleep on my typewriter and it was all a dream . . ."

Jackie's Bills Annoyed Kennedy, Ex-Secretary Says

NEW YORK (UPI) — Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis' personal bills, which totaled $28,000 during one two-month period in the White House, were a source of worry and annoyance to President John F. Kennedy, her former personal secretary said yesterday.

In another excerpt from her new book, "My Life With Jacqueline Kennedy," which appears in the August Ladies Home Journal, Mary Barelli Gallagher said there were perennial "budget disputes" in the Kennedy household and she was "always in the middle."

After the president's assassination, Mrs. Kennedy tried to economize by cutting down on staff salaries and could not understand "that her small staff did not like being called on to provide all the services, accommodations, conveniences and comforts that she had grown so used to receiving from a much larger staff during her years at the White House," Mrs. Gallagher said. "Her staff's attitude, so far as I could see, puzzled her."

BOOK ATTACKED

The book was attacked by a number of Mrs. Onassis' friends and former associates as unfair and a betrayal of trust after an excerpt appeared in last month's issue of the magazine. However, the former first lady has made no comment or any move to enforce an agreement that Mrs. Gallagher, like other members of her staff, signed promising not to publish any inside stories about the household.

Mrs. Gallagher said Kennedy "a number of times demanded accountings of his wife's expenses. Mrs. Gallagher said she would have to work late into the night preparing the figures. Finally, Mrs. Gallagher said, she decided to avoid the President as much as possible because she did not want new confrontations over the budget.

Listing her employer's bills, Mrs. Gallagher said the then first lady spent about $5,000 for clothing, $7,000 for liquor and food, $340 for hairdressing and $1,600 for works of art in January, 1962.

SOME IMPROVEMENT

"The totals for January and February, 1963, indicated some improvement over the first two months of 1962," she reported to the President.

"Jackie's personal expenses for the first two months of 1963 had come down by more than $12,000—to a total of about $16,000."

Mrs. Gallagher said this was partly because Mrs. Kennedy spent only $2,000 for clothing in January, 1963, when she was pregnant "and not buying many clothes." And two new paintings were the Christmas gift of her husband.

Trying to cut down on her expenses, Mrs. Kennedy wrote regretfully to "her clothes scout in Paris" in April, 1963, that she could not afford to try a new French designer who "sounded fabulous," Mrs. Gallagher said. However, she suggested that her sister, Princess Lee Radziwill "buy a suit so Jackie could borrow it anytime."

After the assassination, the former first lady decided she could not "afford to pay all my help from the $50,000" appropriation from Congress, Mrs. Gallagher said.

PART-TIME WANTED

She asked Mrs. Gallagher to work part-time rather than pay her the $12,000 a year the secretary considered "a fair annual salary," tried to arrange for her maid, Providencia Parades, to work "in Washington as a top maid, free-lancing around for parties and things during the summer" so she would not have to pay her $100-a-week salary while away and used the two Navy stewards assigned to cook for her as "butlers and moving men" in addition to their regular duties.

Despite a number of spats, Mrs. Gallagher says she and Mrs. Kennedy parted friends. "Jackie Kennedy was like a sister to me," she writes.

Sniper Slays Spa Executive

RANCHO MIRAGE, Calif. (AP) — A bullet crashed into the living room as the president of the Palm Desert Chamber of Commerce watched the moon walk on television, killing him outright, police said yesterday.

Jack Hale, 43, a wealthy insurance executive, was shot by a rifleman standing only 12 to 15 feet away, behind a backyard fence, deputies said. It was the first murder in the history of this resort community of 1,500 residents.

Three persons, including Hale's wife, Lou, were in the room at the time.

President OKs Hughes' Buying Of Air West

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon late yesterday approved billionaire Howard Hughes' purchase of the regional airline, Air West, following several months of controversy.

The order, effective yesterday, allows for the acquisition by Hughes Tool Co. of the assets of the airline which serves eight Western States, Canada and Mexico.

Nixon's approval of the Civil Aeronautics Board's July 15 decision to allow purchase of the carrier by Hughes was required because the airline serves foreign countries. The President has no authority in awarding strictly domestic routes.

Air West has been in financial difficulty since it began operation July 1, 1968, following its creation through the merger of three smaller western regional airlines.

The $90 million sale originally had been recommended by CAB examiner Ross I. Newmann, who said the transaction "would supply to Air West the unified direction and purpose that has been lacking in the management since the merger became effective."

The sale has been opposed by some of Air West's original stockholders and other airlines that serve in the western United States.

IN WOMAN'S DEATH

Kennedy Telling Truth, Chief Says

EDGARTOWN, Martha's Vineyard, Mass. (UPI) — The Edgartown police chief said yesterday he was "firmly convinced" that Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., told him the truth about an accident in which a young woman was killed.

Kennedy was resting under a doctor's care at the family compound in Hyannis Port, across Nantucket Sound from this resort island off Cape Cod.

Mary Jo Kopechne, 29, a member of the campaign staff of the late Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., the senator's brother, drowned when a car driven by the senator plunged off a narrow wooden bridge into a salt water pond late Friday night or early Saturday.

The accident was not reported for nine hours.

TO SEEK COMPLAINT

Police Chief Dominic J. Arena, who says he will seek a complaint against Kennedy today on a charge of "leaving the scene of an accident after having done bodily harm," told newsmen at the two-story white frame town office building yesterday: "I'm firmly convinced that the senator told me the correct story. He impresses me as a senator, and as a man, who would tell the truth.

"I think the senator was more than cooperative with me because he released a statement more openly than most citizens might. Most citizens would want to talk to their attorney first."

He said he did give Kennedy a chance to speak with Paul F. Markham, former U.S. attorney in Boston, who accompanied Kennedy to police headquarters Saturday.

"If he sat in his house for five minutes without reporting the accident, he is in violation of the law," Arena said. He admitted there were several unanswered questions about Kennedy's whereabouts after the accident.

DIDN'T ASK QUESTION

Asked whether he had looked into the possibility of drinking being involved, Arena said, "I did not ask that question of the senator. There was no other physical evidence at the scene that there might have been drinking involved. I'm not pursuing that line at all."

He added, "I'm still standing on the fact that there was no negligence involved."

The family physician, Dr Robert D. Watt, said Kennedy, the Senate whip and sole surviving son of one of the nation's most prominent political families, had suffered a "slight concussion" at the back of the head and had been given a sedative to ease the pain.

Miss Kopechne, who worked for a firm of political consultants in Washington, and seven other girls attended a reunion party for former members of Robert Kennedy's staff on Chappaquiddick Island, a five-mile-long island in Nantucket Sound connected to Martha's Vineyard by ferry, at a cottage rented by Joe Gargan, a cousin of Kennedy's.

GIRLS AT MOTEL

The 5-foot-4 blonde and five of the girls were staying at the Dunes Motel. Kennedy had registered at the Shiretown Inn.

The party was held in conjunction with the Edgartown Regatta.

After the party, Kennedy was giving Miss Kopechne a ride to the ferry.

If charged and later convicted, Kennedy could receive a prison sentence of two months to two years and lose his license for up to two years.

One of the first things that Kennedy did after he realized what happened was call Miss Kopechne's parents. The girl's father, Joseph Kopechne, an insurance man, said his wife collapsed on hearing the news.

Funeral services will be tomorrow at Larksville, Pa.

11 Home Owners To Get $240,000

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The widow of novelist Aldous Huxley and 10 other home owners will receive a total of $240,000 for the loss of their homes in the 1961 Hollywood Hills fire under settlements with the City of Los Angeles.

Superior Court Judge Charles A. Loring removed the cases from the court calender after Laura Huxley, whose husband died in 1963, and the other home owners settled their lawsuits with the city.

The suits sought payment for damage to the owners' homes when a spark from a power line ignited brush and set the homes on fire. Under her settlement, Mrs. Huxley will receive about $40,000.

NAMING IT, NOT HEALING IT

By Martin A. Williams, D.C.

There is a whale of a difference between naming your ailments and healing them.

Dr. Williams

Sick folks who spend their money going from doctor to doctor looking in vain for help become aware of the routine habit of giving their painful symptoms a name and then not doing anything about healing them. Many doctors honestly tell these unfortunate sick people that there is nothing in their line that can be done outside of just trying to dull the pains and make them as comfortable as possible until the miracle in nature that started the trouble also stops it.

We find that the miracle in nature that started the trouble is usually an irritation of the old spinal condition interfering with the natural flow of life energy currents along the nerve lines which was made worse by a minor bump, strain, jar or fall, etc.

A Pill just cannot remove that interference nor straighten those scrambled electric signals from the brain to the suffering organs.

Removal of the interference in nature's transmission lines creates the miracle of restored energy, the symptoms automatically disappear as health returns!

Nearly three years ago this twenty-nine-year-old aircraft inspector complained of throbbing headaches and extreme muscular tension in back of his head and neck with sharp pains and numbness in both shoulders and arms. He was scared, nervous and jumpy. He was subject to frequent colds that left him with a hacking cough, sinus drainage, and difficult breathing. He had constant indigestion with intestinal gas and bloating. He related he had been suffering these symptoms since a severe attack of pulmonary tuberculosis in 1962. He was under medical care constantly for two years and received intermittent attention the following year all of which failed to heal him other than temporary relief. Discouraged, he came to the Professional Chiropractic Center where an examination and X-rays disclosed a spinal curvature causing several nerve interferences. Corrective adjustments, realigning his spine, made possible a return of normal organic function. He was amazed to see symptom after symptom disappear as the offending nerve disturbances were removed. Nerves connect with and control every organ in the body. Since 1966 he has gratefully sent many sick people to us for help while he still enjoys good health.

All branches of the Healing Arts get some people well and fail on others. If failure has been your lot, our method may succeed. These cases may seem amazing to the uninitiated but the wise readers are investigating.

Census Questions Irk Some

Bureau Hoping To Find Millions Of 'Lost' Citizens

Second of two articles

By PAUL CORCORAN
Copley News Service

The official 1960 census shows America with a population of 179,323,175. Somewhere along the way, the census-takers "lost" 5.7 million persons.

On the eve of the 1970 census and faced with a simmering revolt against invasion of privacy inflamed by congressional critics, the Census Bureau is aware of the magnitude of its task and the need to improve its public relations, particularly with slum and minority citizens.

In preparing to make a head count of more than 200 million Americans and to accumulate statistical data vital to many government agencies, the Census Bureau has the support of the Nixon administration, most governors, congressmen and other elected officials. Still, some lawmakers complain about some questions on housing and the penalities—60 days in jail and a $100 fine—for not answering.

CITIZENS RESENTFUL

A Copley News Service sampling of opinions in four major metropolitan areas—New York, Los Angeles, Chicago and New Orleans—with a population of approximately 30 million confirmed that a number of citizens are wary of the census and resentful of the penalty. However, it also showed most Americans accept the census as a necessary, inescapable fact of life in a complex society.

The Bureau of the Census, an adjunct of the Department of Commerce, will begin the census April 1, 1970.

By that date, questionnaires—processed so the answers can be "read" by a computer—will have been mailed to 70 million households. Of that total, 60 per cent will be asked to respond by mail. If they do not answer within a reasonable period of time, census enumerators will follow up with personal calls.

U.S. mail address lists will have been screened three times before the census to bring them as up to date as possible. Although as many as 89 questions may be asked, 80 per cent of the population must respond only to 20 to 23 inquiries.

GHETTO TASK

The most difficult task faced by the Bureau of the Census is enumeration of ghetto residents, many of them Negroes. The 1960 census failed to account for 2.2 million black citizens and many other minority members, including Spanish-speaking Mexican-Americans and Puerto Ricans.

This time, the Census Bureau will increase the number of enumerators assigned to ghettos. Basically, census-takers will be assigned to 10-block areas, with fewer homes to check and more supervisorial help than in 1960. More census-takers will be black citizens.

What are some of the questions the average citizen will be asked?

Everyone will be asked basic questions as to head of the household, family relationships, sex, color or race, age and marital status.

A controversial question in the originally proposed questionnaire asked if a bathtub or shower was shared by another household.

The question remains, but the Commerce Department made a minor concession, substituting the word "used" for "shared."

OTHE QUERIES

Other questions to be asked everyone deal with kitchen facilities, whether a residence has a basement (formerly contained in only the long census form), water supply, tenure of lease, the number of units at a single address and telephone access. The census also asks how many months a year a housing unit is occupied and what is the vacancy factor.

Other questions are asked on a sample basis ranging from 5 to 20 per cent. The 5 per cent sample will provide statistics for larger cities, standard metropolitan statistical areas, larger counties and states. Information tabulated for areas as small as census tracts and most counties is collected on a 15 to 20 per cent sample basis.

SUSPICIONS VOICED

A. Ross Eckler, Census Bureau director, has emphasized that all information gathered by the Census Bureau must be held in confidence and may be used only for statistical purposes.

However, the CNS survey showed some persons were suspicious that confidential information was being sold or released to commercial firms.

"I think the information will be used for promotional purposes," said Mrs. W. E. Morlan of La Habra, Calif. "I have nothing to hide, but if they list my name I think it is an invasion of privacy."

Eckler and other officials dispute such assertions and cite the precautions taken to avoid abuses. However, Rep. Charles Wilson, D-Calif., who endorses the basic census format, said, "There is a question as to the ability of the Census Bureau to control the local enumerators — the door-to-door people. The bureau has offered no proof they are not taking information from one home to another, but it maintains there is no evidence this has happened."

The census will ask 20 per cent of the population questions relative to employment; layoffs; job duties or "most important activities;" by whom employed; how much money was received from public assistance or welfare payments; money earned in wages, salary, commissions, bonuses, or tips; and whether the individual was employed by private companies or by a branch of government.

INCOME QUESTION

Objections seem based largely on the theory that it is no one's business, least of all that of the Census Bureau, how much an individual earns or how he gets his money.

"The next thing you know the government will be finding out everything," said Mrs. William P. Jackson of Los Angeles.

It has been predicted that by 1980, America will have a population of 250 million. By 2000, the population at the present rate of increase would be 300 million.

For that and other reasons, there is growing support for a mid-decade census. The House passed a five-year census bill in 1967. Supporters argued that the more frequent count would benefit both government and business. More data would be available for allotting federal money, proponents argued, and statistical information would provide better guides for locating new retail concerns.

However, the measure did not pass the Senate. And, the cost of such a census has cooled the enthusiasm of some 1967 proponents, just as it creates opposition among voters who otherwise approve of it.

5-YEAR CENSUS BILL

The fight to get Congress to pass a five-year census bill continues. Testifying before a Senate committee in 1968, the Census Bureau director said, "Again and again in recent years we have been unable to supply reasonably recent information to assist in dealing with the problems in our cities and our rural areas. . ." He noted that in 1968, information available for individual cities or counties was nearly eight years old.

Solo Woman Sailor Sighted Nearing Coast

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A fisherman yesterday reported the sighting off Southern California of Sharon Sites Adams, the 39-year-old California housewife who left Japan May 12 to sail solo across the Pacific to San Diego.

It was the first sighting of Mrs. Adams, sailing in the 31-foot ketch Sea Sharp II, since June 3.

OFF POINT ARGUELLO.

Mrs. Adams was near Point Arguello, 140 miles north of Los Angeles, according to the fishing boat Edward Nells out of Santa Barbara.

The boat's captain, Bob Gannon, said Mrs. Adams was in good spirits and told him everything was going well.

Gannon said Mrs. Adams told him she was going to sail through the Santa Barbara Channel Islands and would reach Los Angeles in two days.

DUE HERE THURSDAY

A friend of Mrs. Adams said she was expected in San Diego by Thursday.

Her husband, Al, was unavailable for comment. A family friend said he was arranging for a boat so he could go out to sea to greet his wife.

Mrs. Adams is attempting the longest solo voyage ever made by a woman.

LOOT MAILED POSTAGE DUE

OXNARD (AP) — Awaiting the watch commander at the Oxnard police station yesterday was a small brown paper package tied with a heavy piece of rope.

Inside were stuffed 426 rings valued at $6,000 and 29 watches valued at $3,000—most of the loot from a burglary earlier this month at a large discount store.

Missing were 340 cartons of cigarettes, which police figure "have already gone up in smoke."

"It's a nice little present," an officer said. "We don't even mind paying the postage due." The package, mailed in Oxnard, had some postage on it. It needed 13 cents.

Memorial Smeared

BERLIN (AP) — A memorial to a group of men who tried to assassinate Adolf Hitler was found smeared with swastikas yesterday, the 25th anniversary of the thwarted attempt on the Nazi leader's life. Police removed the painted symbols of the Nazi regime and a city government spokesman said he viewed the smearings with "anger and disgust."

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠6 ♥KQ1094 ♦AQ62 ♣AK5

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 ♥	1 ♠	2 ♣	2 ♠
3 ♦	Pass	3 ♠	Pass
4 ♣	Pass	4 ♦	Pass

What do you bid now?

A. This is an ideal spot for the Blackwood convention, and a four no trump bid is recommended. If partner can be found with two aces and a king, a grand slam contract at clubs should be within reach. Inasmuch as partner bid the suit freely, it is reasonable to assume that clubs are solid.

Q. 2—Both vulnerable, North-South have 40 part score, and as South you hold:

♠A974 ♥AQ962 ♦AQ82

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 ♥	Pass	1 NT	Pass

What do you bid now?

A. Because a game contract has been reached, we suggest a pass. It is reasonable to suppose that partner's principal vlaues will be found in the club suit. The conclusion is reached on the following line of reasoning: Partner has not a representative four-card spade suit, else he woud have mentioned it at the level of one. Partner surely has no support for hearts, else he would have shown a preference and, because he failed to accept diamonds, it is clear that he must have values in clubs.

Q. 3—Neither vulnerable, partner opens with one spade and you hold:

♠84 ♥K62 ♦A72 ♣Q7542

What is your response?

A. This balanced hand containing only nine points in high cards is not strong enough for a response of two clubs, and the proper response is one no trump.

Q. 4—As dealer vulnerable, you hold:

♠AKQ4 ♥AQJ10 ♦AKJ4 ♣6

What is your opening bid?

A. Two spades. This a rare hand on which an opening two bid may be made on a four card suit. The hand contains 26 points, or game in hand. The opening bid is made in spades to allow the economical showing of all three suits.

Q. 5—Both sides vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠109 ♥A876 ♦864 ♣9864

The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South
1 ♥	Dble.	?

What action do you take?

A. Pass. No good purpose is to be served by bidding and partner must be given no inducement to proceed unless his values are independent. It is true that a raise at this point is marked as based on a rather weak holding but the question should be asked: "How weak?"

Q. 6—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠AK1064 ♥K1073 ♦74 ♣A6

The bidding has proceeded:

East	South	West	North
1 ♦	Dble.	Pass	1 ♥
Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A. Two hearts, Inasmuch as partner has been forced to bid, he must not be presumed to have any specific values and a single raise is sufficient.

Q. 7—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠A1052 ♥A864 ♣AKQ107

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 ♣	Dble.	1 ♥	Pass

What do you bid now?

A. It is possible but extremely unlikely that North will have a holding that will provide a sound play for slam. The best bet is to bid game directly because, no matter what type of hand partner has elected to bid over West's takeout double, a sound play for game should surely be there.

Q. 8—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠A74 ♥82 ♦AK83 ♣AJ74

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 ♦	Pass	1 ♥	Pass

What do you bid now?

A. Two clubs. With a hand containing 16 points in high cards we prefer not to make the rebid of one no trump, which normally designates hands up to and including 15 points. There is a slightly better chance that partner will act again if we bid two clubs.

Joint Space Effort Urged

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., yesterday proposed that the United States join with the Soviet Union in further space exploration.

Javits said in a television interview that after success of Apollo 11 the United States should "make a reasonable allocation of our resources to space and throw the burden of the effort into the hope of agreement with the Soviet Union to pursue space exploration from this point on together."

He did not agree with some members of Congress who have proposed cutting back space expenditures in order to bolster domestic social programs. However, he said a cooperative agreement with Russia would "relieve the burden on both of us and I think accelerate it as much as it would be accelerated if we continued a crash program alone."

Javits said the nation had enough resources to maintain a high rate of space spending and speed up domestic spending at the same time. Domestic programs, he said, could be increased by cutting back on military spending, farm subsidies "and a whole list of other subsidies which are being paid by this government in many, many ways," and by tax reform measures.

Soviet Ships Posted

SYDNEY (UPI) — Adm. John J. Hyland, commander in chief of the U.S. Pacific Fleet, said yesterday Russian ships were now practically in permanent positions in the Mediterranean and in the Indian Ocean.

Indians Dare Ocean

CALCUTTA (AP) — A replica of an old-style Indian sailing vessel will cross the Bay of Bengal in November from Cuttack, India, to Bali, Indonesia. The Explorers Club of India says the 1,000-mile voyage will be the longest ever undertaken by such a craft.

Davis At Wailing Wall

JERUSALEM (AP) — American entertainer Sammy Davis Jr., visited the Wailing Wall yesterday. He said he had been looking forward to seeing the Wall — the Jews' most sacred shrine — ever since he was converted to the Jewish religion in 1955.

MUST I BECOME BALD?

If your hair is getting thin at the temples or on the crown, you are being warned that baldness is trying to take over. Today, however, much baldness is unnecessary. The new, improved Thomas method quickly removes the major local causes of baldness, and permits your scalp to continue to grow hair normally. Decide NOW to combat baldness — consult a Thomas expert — he can help you.

Your chance to beat baldness is enhanced by the new Thomas treatment given under the supervision of three specialists. First you personally consult a Thomas expert (without charge or obligation). Your health history is then sent to the Thomas medical director (a physician) who prescribes the necessary treatment procedure. He is aided by reports supplied to him by a bacteriologist, who analyzes sebum specimens taken from your scalp. The Thomas treatment you receive is determined by the findings of the medical director, the bacteriologist and the Thomas director.

Phone today for an appointment and come in for free consultation. If the examination and tests disclose that your condition is untreatable you are frankly told so. One such untreatable kind of hair loss is male pattern baldness, which causes the great majority of baldness and for which no treatment is effective.

• The Thomas Medical Director Bacteriologist and Laboratory are based in Chicago, Ill. All case histories and sebum specimens are forwarded to them by the local Thomas Specialist.

Actor Caine's Mother Likes Girlfriend

By DOROTHY MANNERS

Copyright, 1969

HOLLYWOOD — Michael Caine's 70-year-old mother, Mrs. Ellen Micklewhite, is plugging hard for her son to marry his new girl, Philippine beauty Minda Feliciano. From the new home Michael has just bought her in a swank part of London, Mrs. Micklewhite told guests at a party, "From the moment I met Minda I knew she was the one for Michael. He really wants to settle down, you know; he hates his reputation for chasing birds (girls). And, besides —I want more grandchildren." Michael hs an 11-year-old daughter, Dominique, by his first wife, Patricia Haines.

Julie Mills, sister of Hayley, and her American songwriter husband Russell Alquist, have separated. After first denying any trouble, Julie finally admits, "I guess you might say we've agreed to disagree. No bitterness.

David Hemmings and Gayle Hunnicutt have set up offices in London for their independent productions including everything from film making to various manufacturing enterprises. Sounds like this team is also in exile from Hollywood. Barry Sullivan, his 13-year-old daughter Patsy, and his girl friend Irene Kelly were an interesting trio dining at the Hollywood Beachcomber.

'Virginia Woolf' Keeps Old Razor Sharpness

By DONALD DIERKS

Edward Albee's "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf" is sev- years old now, but it still has of its original razor sharp- s, its sandpaper abrasive- s and the sting of salt in an n wound. The lines can still the skin off the actor's as they speak them to n other, and an innocent audience is just as likely to be bruised by the play's brutality now as it was in 1962.

The Synanon Game Club Theater gave this study of the cruel games people can play Saturday night in its intimate quarters on Fourth Avenue.

One could be impressed all over again by the brilliance of Albee's wit, his writing and his method. But aging has not done anything to improve the play. It may be a classic of its kind, but it remains a limited classic.

The play builds along for two acts with mounting tension as the four characters lacerate each other with a reckless abandon. Yet, when we come to know what all of the mental carnage has been about in the third act, we find that Albee's dramatic wounds were the work of makeup men and his blood has been only catsup.

For two acts the playwright promises us some revelation about our historical past and the test tube future—some elemental truth—but he never delivers. The secret of George and Martha is only a sigh after much shouting.

Raoul and Minerva Marquis directed this production, with Mrs. Marquis playing the role of Martha, the middle-aged wife of a brainy, but ineffectual, college professor. Her performance did not live up to expectations.

Her husband George, as played by Oliver Malcolmson, was a fascinating character much of the time, although there was a lot of unprofessional line-muffing that detracted from what would otherwise have been an outstandingly good performance. He had a knack for communicating an iceberg kind of hate that was seven-eighths submerged below the surface of his character.

CELEBRATION TODA

By BETH MOHR

Mrs. Eliza V. Dorsey has her beautiful hair done every week in a soft, smooth pouf with a hint of wave in front. Her make-up includes a whisper of blush on her cheeks and medium lipstick.

Mrs. Dorsey responds with warm thanks when you admire her appearance and modestly admits that "sometimes my hair does get a little messy." She is a living testimony to woman's life-long interest in looking her best.

Mrs. Dorsey is 102. Born on July 7, 1867, she will celebrate her birthday today at a party at Knollwood Convalescent Home, where she has lived for the last four years.

"It seems fine to be 102," she said in an interview, adding, "I have to be grateful."

Reflecting on the great accumulation of years she has been allowed, she places her home among her most precious memories.

"I was always happy to be in my home and working there," she said. "I am a home person."

San Diego has been her home since 1914, when she came here with her husband, the late John L. Dorsey, and her two children, Frank and Helen Dorsey, who still make their homes here.

Although she confesses that she never considered herself a good cook, Mrs. Dorsey guesses that sound nutrition has contributed to her longevity.

"I always enjoyed eating," she said.

She still does. She insists on being up and dressed for every meal and makes regular trips to the home's lounge for between-meal snacks to satisfy a life-long love of sweets.

At 102, failing eye-sight makes it impossible to continue with the sewing she used to enjoy.

Mrs. Eliza V. Dorsey reads card sent her on 102nd birthday.

Hearing also is a problem, but, she doesn't allow it to defeat her.

"I may not hear all you say," she stated. As it turned out, she did have to have her nurse repeat some of the questions we asked.

Even at 102, she is eager to please. When we were about to leave, she said:

"I never was a big talker. I hope I have said enough."

PTA Asks Fight On VD Rate

All units of Parent-Teachers Association in California have been urged to accelerate their efforts this fall to warn students, parents and other adults of the dangers of venereal disease.

At a board of managers meeting of the California Congress of PTA in Los Angeles last week, members were told that syphilis and gonorrhea are the most prevalent communicable diseases in California.

Mrs. Loren Peterson of Stockton, director of the state PTA health department, declared, "Most Californians are ignoring one of the world's worst health problems, veneral disease."

As a consequence, the board of directors issued a statement that the development of educational programs about venereal disease, in schools and communities, has been "too long delayed."

It is urging all units to distribute the information contained in the "Guide to PTA Action on VD" and to give young people and adults information concerning causes, symptoms and results of venereal disease.

CLUBDOM

Officers Of PBX Elected

The St. Louis PBX Club left the international convention of PBX Clubs here yesterday with the promise that next July delegates would meet them in St. Louis.

The midwestern club, which distributed Gay 90s straw hats, with "Meet Me in St. Louis" on the hat bands, throughout the five-day convention at El Cortez Hotel in a bid for next year's meeting, was selected Saturday as the future convention site. The club competed last year with San Diego to host this year's meeting attended by more than 300 delegates.

Mrs. Gene Christensen of Santa Monica was installed international president, with Mrs. Eugene D. Hohl of Santa Monica as vice president. Martin Parker of Detroit was honored as "international boss of the year."

'Advance Night'

Estrella Chapter of Eastern Star will have "advance night" at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the East San Diego Masonic Temple, 3879 43rd St.

Drugs Are Topic

A representative from the state's Department of Drug Abuse will show a film on narcotics at a meeting of the Constellation Enlisted Men's Wives' Club Wednesday at 9:30 a.m. in Building 1306, West Division Street.

Art Show Opens

The 19th annual North County Art Show, sponsored by the Vista Art Guild, will continue through Sunday at Plaza Camino Real, Carlsbad.

Art works can be viewed from 10 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. weekdays and from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. The Vista Art Gallery will be dark through July 29.

Named To State Post

Mrs. Robert Bowman of the Harry S. Nelson Chapter, Disabled American Veterans Auxiliary, was elected junior vice commander of the department of California at a recent state convention in Fresno.

Mrs. Bowman

Another state office went to Mrs. Charles Constable, immediate past commander of the auxiliary, who was appointed department flag bearer.

The chapter received state awards of second place for community service, and third place for publicity. It also received honors for membership and reports.

Shinns Hosts At Garden Party

By EILEEN JACKSON

Eileen Jackson

The world has entered a new era. Society had its eyes upward but its feet on the pretty ground the last day (Saturday) of the old premoon-landing days — at outdoor parties around the county. Al fresco hospitality — patio, backyard, terrace, poolside and deck parties — is routine in summer everywhere, but a garden party is a special thing anywhere. When it is hosted, as it was that last day of the old era with impressive military appointments by Commander, Naval Air Force, Pacific Fleet, Allen Shinn and Mrs. Shinn at Quarters A, Naval Air Station, North Island, all guests, service and civilian alike, respond with instant esprit de fete.

A festive party mood was evoked long before guests reached the hosts' threshold by the stalwart helmeted members of the honor guard, in crisp white uniforms, accented by gold silk ascots and gold cord. They saluted at intervals along the avenues and paths to Quarters A.

Adm. and Mrs. Shinn greeted guests in their sala filled with museum-quality Oriental art collected by those knowledgeable hosts. They, like the honor guard, did not leave their post for two hours while hundreds of guests in best of wardrobe paused to exchange pleasantries with them and then continued to the garden. Most lingered where the action and refreshments were — under two long tent-shaded tables. The one offering elaborate, decorated cocktail fare was under a sierra-white canopy and the cantina was sheltered by a lengthy green and white awning. Many guests walked deeper into the spacious garden, a wide grassy expanse centered by a fountain. Landscaping, directed by the Shinns during their occupancy, has opened a vista to the sea and beyond to San Diego's newest high rise. The umbrella-dotted garden is bordered by lofty planting, banked with white and yellow daisies, blue agapanthus, pink hyrangeas (in widely separated areas).

It was a polished and lively party, encouraging a lot of talk about "moon-day" and party patter about social things to come immediately and later on this earth. The Philip Gildreds and the Armistead B. Carters were socially involved at the moment, and continued from the Shinns' gala to dinner and the Starlight Opera, now enjoying one of its best seasons.

Nearly every member of the social cast at Thomas J. Fleming's party the night before was there talking about how his party "got off the ground" immediately with music (piano and song) by the irrepressible Jan Poppers, and hulas by Mrs. John Victor Smith and Mrs. Victor H. Krulak. Mr. Fleming honored Mrs. Hunter Muir at his party, a dinner in his double La Jolla apartment. Guests included the Muirs, Smiths, Krulaks, Poppers, Rear Adm. Marshall E. Dornin, USN, and Mrs. Dornin, Lt. Gen. William J. Wallace, USMC, ret., and Mrs. Wallace, Capt. Robert W. Leeman, USN, ret., and Mrs. Leeman, Mrs. Dolores F. Donovan, Mrs. Elizabeth Van Horn, William C. Fleming, Messrs. and Mmes. Thomas J. Fleming Jr., Frank M. Huff, S. Falck Nielsen, David F. Fleet, Harper C. Olmstead and Jack Lewis Powell.

The Poppers' impromptu performance at Mr. Fleming's dinner encouraged the C. Wesley Halls to announce to a group of friends at the Shinn party that Dr. Popper, who is working with the summer opera program at the Center for Performing Arts, USIU, will present a group of international singers from Japan and Austria during and after the garden supper the Halls will give at their home on July 31. Miss Keiko Yano, Tokyo contralto, and Kimura, a Tokyo baritone, both studying in Vienna, and Werner Grusch, basso from Vienna, will sing opera excerpts and light popular songs.

Several of the guests at the Shinn party will attend the buffet supper for 32, which Adm. U. S. Grant Sharp Jr., USN, ret., and Mrs. Sharp will be host in their Point Loma home on Aug. 8. Other patter concerned other August hospitality — the patio party Rear Adm. Harold Jay Cokely (MC), USN, ret., and Mrs. Cokely will give Aug. 13 for Vice Adm. William F. Raborn, USN, ret., and Mrs. Raborn.

'Big Tent' Party Before Circus

Party tents are featured prestige party props this season. Mr. and Mrs. Harper Olmstead gave what amounted to a "big tent" gala the other night. They conditioned guests for their evening's entertainment (the circus at the Sports Arena) by emphasizing the circus in decor and fare at their house. Miniature hamburgers and hot dogs were served from a hors d'oeuvres table covered by a red and white checked cloth. Other appropriate accessories included a five-foot white rubber horse galloping on top of the swimming pool fountain, 10-foot clowns flanking the garden shelter, classic garden statuary dressed like tightrope walkers, balloons everywhere, performing animals in the patio tent and a manzanita tree on the buffet hung with peanuts and monkeys. At each guest's place on the red net-covered tables were boxes of animal crackers. The fried chicken dinner concluded with ice cream bars. As cuests hit for the sawdust arena, they toted peanuts, popcorn and candy bars.

DEAR ABBY . . .

Is Sex Proper Classroom Topic?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: Do you think children — from kindergarten on — should get their sex education in the schools? If not, why not? And if so, why?
CONCERNED PARENT

Abby

DEAR CONCERNED: Ideally, children should be taught all they need to know about sex AT HOME by intelligent parents who themselves have healthy, wholesome attitudes about sex as well as high moral standards. But unfortunately (if my mail can be believed) the child who has had his sex education from such parents is as rare as hen's teeth.

Parents today (through no fault of their own) are victims of parents of yesterday who equated sex with "sin" and were too embarrassed and ill-informed to tell their children the facts of life. Consequently, most children receive their sex education from each other, and in the alley.

So I believe it is preferable for children to learn the facts of life from informed, responsible educators, of whom they can ask straight questions — can ask straight questions — and get straight answers— rather than in the alley.

And may I add, parents need not fear that their children will "get into trouble" because they know too much. Children get into trouble because they know too little.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 19-year-old girl who last year came from Stockholm to work for a family I will call "The Smiths." Mostly, I have been looking after their children.

A few days ago Mrs. Smith received sudden word that her mother who lives in a neighboring state is seriously ill, so she went to be with her mother.

Last evening, Mr. Smith engaged a sitter for the children and invited me to go to a movie with him.

Now he tells me that he has engaged the sitter again for Saturday, and he is taking me dancing! Abby, I do not care to go dancing with this old man (he must be 40) and besides I have a steady boyfriend who is very angry already about my going to the movies with Mr. Smith.

Although Mr. Smith has done nothing improper, I do not wish to go out with him, neither do I wish to offend him. Can you advise me?
FROM SWEDEN

DEAR FROM: Thank Mr. Smith for his kind invitation, and tell him your boyfriend objects, so you must decline. That should settle it.

DEAR ABBY: Before my husband goes to bed he likes to fix himself a "snack," which usually consists of pickles, salami, and other things loaded with garlic and onions. Then he climbs into bed and gets amorous! I love this guy, but I can't stand him near me with THAT on his breath.

Don't tell me to "join" him and eat pickles and salami. My stomach won't tolerate it. And don't recommend toothpastes and mouth washes. He

Specialists Assert No Significant Health Problem Posed By MSG

WASHINGTON (AP) — Medical specialists testified Friday there is no significant health problem posed by the use of monosodium glutamate in seasoning baby foods.

Spokesmen for the Food and Drug Administration and the American Medical Association contradicted earlier testimony by consumer advocate Ralph Nader and Dr. John W. Olney, who said tests indicated MSG caused brain damage in infant rats and monkeys.

They appeared before the Senate Select Committee on Nutrition and Human Needs.

Dr. Herbert Ley, commissioner of food and drugs, presented a staff paper that cited studies indicating nausea, dizziness and other reactions to Chinese food may stem from the MSG in it. But the paper noted "the susceptible people do not hesitate to re-expose themselves to the adverse material.

"The fact that we are taking a new look at monosodium glutamate should not cause alarm," the paper said, adding "we have seen no convincing evidence of a significant health problem in this area."

Ley will return tomorrow for several hours of questioning. Earlier, Dr. Philip L. White, secretary of the AMA's Council on Foods and Nutrition, rejected Dr. Olney's findings because he injected MSG into his test animals.

"This has no relationship to the amount of MSG consumed conventionally nor does it have any relationship to the usual rate of entry into the body," Dr. White said.

"There is reason to study MSG," he added, "but I do not believe there is any reason to generate any public alarm."

MISS VAN VLACK

Mr. and Mrs. William Gough Van Vlack of Manchester, Iowa, announce the approaching marriage of their daughter, Judith Ann, and David Gerald Sweet, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward David Sweet of Westminster. Miss Van Vlack was graduated from the University of Iowa. Her fiance has completed a tour of duty with the Marine Corps and is studying at Grossmont College. The wedding will take place on Aug. 9.

Pacific Beach Woman's Club Seeks Members

The Pacific Beach Women's Club will hold a brunch for prospective members from 10:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. July 29 in the home of Mrs. John F. Williams of 3311 Riviera Drive.

Assisting Mrs. Williams are Mmes. Arthur Berthelsen, Theodore Mamer, John Ratz, Joseph Richeson, Walter Smith and John Worobec. Mrs. Berthelsen and Mrs. Williams are taking reservations, due by Saturday.

President Mrs. Wilbur Gorsuch has announced the club will seek 75 new members in its first membership drive in seven years.

Capt. and Mrs. H. E. Greer, right, were among several hundred guests welcomed by Vice Adm. Allen H. Shinn, USN, and Mrs. Shinn at their annual garden party Saturday evening at their quarters on North Island. Guests were military and civilian couples.

DEAR ABBY . . .

claims he's used them, and I can tell you, if he has, they don't help. What do YOU recommend?

EDITH

DEAR EDITH: A clothespin for your nose.

DEAR ABBY: This is for CHRISTINE, the widow with four babies, ages one, two and a pair of twins two months old. Her husband was killed in Vietnam, and she keeps a picture of him in his uniform, framed and in her laundry room, where she can look at it because that's where she spends most of her time. She doesn't whine, she says. "During the day when I am snowed under doing diapers, I like to look at his picture and remember the love that created these tiny wonders of ours."

I have two babies, a year apart, and I thought I had it rough because my husband puts in such long hours and leaves me to cope with the kids alone. Now I realize how lucky I am to have a man come home to me every night. I have nothing to complain about.

I wish there were something I could do for CHRISTINE. She's done so much for me.

NANCY IN TEXAS

DEAR ABBY: In a recent column, someone quoted SOCRATES, pointing out that criticism of the young by the elders is nothing new. In your reply, you gave your readers the impression that Greece went to the dogs immediately following the death of Socrates, and didn't recover until Melina Mercouri made "NEVER ON SUNDAY" and Jackie Kennedy married Onassis.

May I point out that the great works of Sophocles, Euripides, and Thucydides came AFTER Socrates? And, later still, the Greeks produced such schlemiels as Plato and Aristotle.

Melina Mercouri is loved for her patriotic devotion to a free Greece, but Mr. Onassis, with or without Jackie, is hardly the greatest thing that happened to Greece since the original Aristotle.

Sincerely yours,
JOANNE IN OAKLAND

DEAR ABBY: For the last year, I have had a very good cleaning woman once a week. Recently she mentioned to me that one family she works for on a similar basis pays her when they go on their vacation even though she doesn't do anything for them while they are away.

Is this customary? And why do you think she mentioned it?

OAK PARK

DEAR OAK: No, it's not customary, but it's good insurance against losing a valued employe. And she probably mentioned it to you because she hoped YOU'D take the hint.

CONFIDENTAL TO "SCHOOL DAZE": You need have no misgivings about sending your son to that exclusive private school where he will rub elbows with the "rich kids." If you've raised him right (and from your letter, I think you have), he'll not envy them for their material wealth. He'll probably be envied for his humility.

STRAWS IN WIND

Greek tradition, it is always the bridegroom's godfather who becomes best man. Emanuel Scopelitis of South Bend, Ind., had the honor.

Following custom, the bride and bridegroom marched three times around the altar, led by the priest and followed by the best man who had just crowned the couple with orange blossom wreaths. At the same time, the bridal party and family members tossed fresh orange blossoms at the bride and bridegroom.

An elaborate champagne dinner reception for 500 was held after the wedding in the Hotel del Coronado ballroom. Tables were covered by pink linen. The head table was decorated in pink and white flowers and the tiered cake, with pale pink roses. An imported orchestra played Greek and American music for dancing.

Mrs. Mastorakos received in a seamist green alaskine dress, jeweled, and the bridegroom's mother chose a French blue beaded model.

Visitors—Visitors—Visitors

The visitor invasion includes not only many attractive newcomers, but former residents, long-absent, who find it hard to realize what progress has done (mostly good) to a "city" they knew as a "town." Several parties are being given for Miss Florence King of Washington, D.C., daughter of Mrs. Ernest J. King of Washington and the late Fleet Admiral King, one of this country's most distinguished officers. Adm. King was commander-in-chief of the U.S. Fleet in 1941 and Chief of Naval Operations, 1942-45. He and his family, including six daughters and one son, lived in Coronado from 1936 to 1939, when Adm. King was commander of the aircraft scouting force and later the aircraft battle force.

Miss King will be honored tonight at a small buffet supper by Mrs. Robert L. Wagner of La Jolla, who knew Miss King when they both lived in Coronado and Washington, D.C. Mrs. Donald I. Thomas, who will entertain informally for Miss King, is the sister-in-law of Miss King's sister, Mrs. J. M. B. Howard (Claire King) of New York City.

Miss King, who will visit Mrs. Edward R. Patterson in Coronado for a few days, is at Rancho Santa Fe. Mrs. Patterson's sister, Miss Margaret Cameron, is beginning plans for a trip to Japan in October. Miss Cameron and Mrs. Patterson plan to go to Europe to see the Passion Play next year and that time will visit Mrs. Patterson's sister-in-law, Mrs. Virginia Patterson Laurenti, formerly of San Diego, who lives in Florence, Italy.

Mrs. A. Loring Siegener of La Jolla is preparing for four Washington, D.C., visitors: Mrs. George Maverick Bunker, Mrs. Sam Scrivener, Mrs. Walter Hodges and Mrs. Albert E. Johnson, the former Mrs. Ruth Fairbanks Causey of Coronado. They will arrive today. Tomorrow, Mrs. Siegener will accompany them to La Costa Country Club, where they will spend a week before the visitors return to La Jolla for a longer visit with Mrs. Siegener.

Dr. and Mrs. Donald Watson's guest rooms are filled. Their daughter, Mrs. Robert L. Combs of Boston, and children Steven and Ronnie, are here for a month. Dr. Watson's brother, Dr. Fletcher Watson, professor of science education at Harvard University, will arrive Thursday. He will attend science meetings at San Diego State while in the area. The Watsons' son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Gould of Pine Valley (Janet Watson), will leave tomorrow for Greece and Rome with a group of 10 high school students.

Former San Diegans, Mr. and Mrs. E. Minton Fetter Jr., will arrive Aug. 9 from their home in Mexico City to visit parents, Mrs. John Mitchell and Dr. and Mrs. E. Minton Fetter, for 10 days.

Mrs. Peyton H. Bray, nee Rodney, and her daughter Lucinda visited Mrs. Bray's family seat at Rodney Stoke, England, where the ancestral house and a 12th century church are embraced by a centuries-old wall. They also visited in Ireland, Scotland and Wales during their recent trip.

Some quotable quotes from women during the week:

"Mrs. Kennedy's performance in the White House was wonderful and full of dignity." —Letitia Baldrige Hollensteiner, former White House social secretary, reacting to criticism of the former First Lady.

"I may never work again . . . I think the life of pleasure — if you can call being married to Richard Burton and mother of four children that — is the life for me." —Actress Elizabeth Taylor.

"People should learn to go through life not so immaculately. The important thing is to accept what can't be rectified." —Dr. Claire Weekes, Australian author and physician specializing in anxiety states.

"I'm sure there'll be women in space one day. What counts is motivation, and a lot of women today are taking aeronautical engineering courses to prepare themselves for the day of long-range space travel." —Bernice T. Steadman, president-elect of the Ninety-Nines, an organization of women pilots.

"He said he did not love me and did not wish to be married to me — and this made me sick a good deal of the time." —Dorothy Heidt, fourth wife of bandleader Horace Heidt, in winning a default divorce.

"They didn't get the really precious things — my animals." —Dancer-actress Juliet Prowse, who has a kitten, a dog and three puppies, after a burglary in Beverly Hills.

New Colonialism Seen In S. Africa

Colonialism is alive and spreading in some South African nations, a U.S. State Department official said here.

However, said Edward W. Holmes, the new form of colonialism claims spheres of influence not territory.

"I see signs of a counter-reaction in the struggle of blacks and whites," he said in an interview. "A stalemate has been reached. This deadlock doesn't promise a very happy future."

Holmes, who is State Department director for Rhodesia, Malawi, Zambia, Angola, Mozambique and Portuguese Guinea, said the ratio of blacks to white in the Republic of South Africa is 5 to 1. In Rhodesia, the neighbor to the north, the ratio is 20 to 1.

FUTURE UNCERTAIN

"I don't know how long it can go on and on . . . with a small number holding down a larger number," he said.

Holmes said he sees no indication that South Africa will lift its apartheid racial policies. In fact, he added, Rhodesia seems to be drifting toward the South African pattern.

Since most of the world cut off trade with Rhodesia following its declaration of independence from Great Britain in 1965, the nation has become more and more involved economically with the Republic of South Africa, Holmes said.

As a rich, powerful and sympathetic neighbor, South Africa has been very influential in allowing Rhodesia to maintain its independence despite world sanctions, he said.

INFLUENCE SPREADS

Holmes said the influence of South Africa also has spread to Malawi, an independent black nation which has accepted both financial and technical assistance.

Holmes praised the more liberal racial policies of the Portuguese colonies in Africa—such as Angola and Mozambique.

Teleculture Course Due Disadvantaged

In coming weeks the faces of youth will appear more frequently on your television screen, to tell it like it is.

The teenagers who represent the "less chance" areas of the city and county are enrollees in a Project Summertime course called "teleculture," which is a pilot project to acquaint disadvantaged youth with the behind-the-scenes action of the communications media.

More than 20 youngsters, most of them from the southeastern part of the city, are involved in the summer course which is believed to be the first such session in the country.

EQUIPMENT USED

Jerry Porter, instructor for the teleculture project, said the teenagers are calling their own shots in mapping out the course which covers the field of television, radio and telephone communication.

Porter, a Marsden Junior High School speech and English teacher during the school term, has his summer studio classroom in San Diego High School. The equipment is not too impressive — one television set and one telephone.

But the five educational and commercial television stations in the area are allowing use of their million-dollar equipment and trained staffs to give youths a well-rounded view of the TV field.

Idea - sorting, copy -writing filming, taping, coordinating, editing, acting, announcing and other skills of the trade will be taught the youngsters at television studio sessions and at Porter's workshop.

The young participants aren't training for future careers in the communications field. Time is too short and openings in the field are few.

PROMOTION PLANNED

They are learning the ropes and perhaps are learning whether they are interested in future careers in the field, and whether they have the talent such a future would require.

Soon the participants will be starring in short public service announcements promoting youth activities on the Project Summertime 1969 calendar.

Spot announcements promoting next year's Job Fair, to match youth and employers for summer employment, also are planned. Guest appearances on televison shows also are in the works for the future sessions.

At the studios of Channel 15 — the educatonal TV station at San Diego State College — a staff member, David Craven, also is using adjacent radio studios of KEBS to give the students a behind-the-scenes briefing.

PHONES USED

Facilities at the Sunshine School will be pressed into service to provide conference-call hookups among the telecommunications class members for planning sessions and conferences.

Transportation, the one big headache for the pilot project, is being eased by the use of the telephone, Porter said. The system which is employed by the schools for providing home teaching, now can be utilized for class confergnces of the group without the worry of bus schedules.

Windup of the summer course will be production of a class-created television spectacular which will be shown on local television stations in late August or early September.

OTHER PROGRAMS

"We don't want this to be the end of the class until next fall," Porter said. "A big splash in the summer, which dies in the fall with the beginning of school, would be a waste."

He is working on an outline for a school course carrying on the ideas of the summer program, and Unified School District officials are interested.

The teleculture program is only one of dozens of summer recreation and education programs being conducted throughout the city and county, coordinated by the Mayor's Council on Youth Opportunity.

Other activities, sponsored mainly by United Fund and federal poverty program grants, offer everything from lessons in self-defense and swimming, to camping and job counseling.

Beach City Aide In Sacramento

IMPERIAL BEACH — City Mgr. Thomas R. Parks is in Sacramento to discuss a renewal of the Northside Improvement District agreement with officials of the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development.

The agreement, which expires next June 30, was for three years. Parks reportedly seeks a three-year extension

He is due back in the city tomorrow.

Employers Reminded To File State Reports

EL CENTRO — The deadline for employers to file California unemployment insurance wage reports and contribution returns for the second quarter of 1968, is July 31, R. E. Bird, auditor in charge of the state Department of Employment in El Centro, has announced.

Student Firm Needs Sales Shot In Arm

SPRING VALLEY — Sales of the Crazy Cougar Corp. — which is not a legal corporation at all—are not going too well and a quitting-business auction may have to be held.

Crazy Cougar is a business organized by pupils in grades one to seven who are attending summer school at Kempton Street School here.

SALES LAG

The youngsters sell their merchandise between 10 a.m. and noon at the Spring Valley Shopping Center, but the demand for their wares is sagging.

They have a bank account in La Mesa, however. Most of the deposit came from 259 shares of stock sold at 25 cents each to provide salaries for the workers.

"Actually, the whole thing was planned to teach economics," said Mrs. Ardis Miller, one of three teachers who direct the program.

The class is strong in arts and crafts and gets involved in mathematics, organization, sales and a host of other topics.

ELECT OFFICERS

James Rower, a sixth grader, is president of the corporation and Elizabeth Riggins, a fourth grader, is vice president. Rainie Burns is secretary and the treasurer is Meg McIntosh. They were elected with a nine-member board of directors to make major corporate decisions.

Sixth and seventh graders are working with the first graders. This could have presented a problem, said Mrs. Miller, but it didn't.

"They get along very well. The older children are quite protective of the little ones and the younger children are some of the very best workers," she said.

With slowing sales, the directors are searching for ways to inject an economic shot in the arm into the project.

Summer school ends Aug. 1, so they need to produce sales results quickly, said Mrs. Miller.

"If they have a lot left over at the end of the school session they might have to hold an auction so they can go out of business," she said.

Trek To Sierra Sponsored By YMCA

The Ira C. Copley Memorial Branch, YMCA, is sponsoring a backpacking trip to the High Sierra Aug. 20-26. The trek, planned for high school boys and girls, will begin at the Rock Creek Station on the eastern slope.

Dan and Linda Morse, experienced backpackers, will lead the group. More information on the trek and a planned orientation and conditioning hike is available from Morse at the YMCA.

Amphibious Tractor Ride To Wind Up In Vietnam

By JOHN BURRUS

CAMP PENDLETON — Look out, Viet Cong! Here comes Pvt. Waldrop and his amphibious tractor.

Pvt. Randall B. Waldrop, 18, made his mark in Oceanside and Carlsbad in the early morning hours of April 21 when he ran away with a 35-ton amphibious tractor that belongs to the Marine Corps.

He drove a meandering course through the business district of Oceanside, and onward to Carlsbad. He made his mark on the two communities — the cleat tracks of a heavy armored tractor, deeply etched into the pavement in his wake.

SHOWING SKILL

When he reached Carlsbad, with seven police cars in pursuit, suddenly and ingloriously the amtrac belched fire, the motor died and the vehicle stopped in the middle of the freeway.

Pvt. Waldrop crawled out of the amtrac and quietly entered a patrol car. He said he just wanted to show the Marine Corps he was an amtrac driver.

Law enforcement officers threw the book at Waldrop — running stop signs, making illegal turns, operating a vehicle without lights, and failing to grant the right of way. Theft of government property also was listed.

JAIL SENTENCE

The charge that reached U.S. District Court Judge Edward J. Swartz in San Diego was joy-riding.

"If ever there was a case that fit the joy-riding statute literally and figuratively, this is it," U.S. Attorney Edwin Miller said in urging the court to accept Waldrop's guilty plea.

Judge Swartz sentenced Waldrop to the time that he already had been in custody.

Waldrop still had to answer to the Marine Corps. Officials charged him with 44 days unauthorized absence. Again Waldrop pleaded guilty. He was sentenced to six months in jail.

Under a base policy, Marines in the brig for minor offenses may be placed on probation if they volunteer for a 13-month tour of duty in Vietnam.

Pvt. Waldrop volunteered for Vietnam and on July 11, the base commander, Maj. Gen. Donn J. Robertson, approved probation.

Waldrop was granted 10 days leave and ordered to report on July 22 to staging battalion. If he serves honorably in Vietnam the best know Marine amtrac driver will be back in the good graces of the Marines.

Peter Rios Rites Set At Lakeside

Requiem Mass for Peter Rios, 93, a resident of El Cajon since birth and a descendant of Indians who settled in the valley 200 years ago, will be at 9 a.m. today at Our Lady of Perpetual Help Catholic Church in Lakeside.

Rios, one of the oldest native-born residents of El Cajon, was a rancher in the area for 74 years. He died Wednesday in a local hospital. He lived at 14265 Rios Canyon Road.

He had records tracing his ancestry to Indians and to area pioneers who came from Spain in the mid-19th Century.

The El Cajon Valley School board honored him by naming the Rios Elementary School after him and the city's Rios Canyon Road bears his name.

Surviving are four daughters, including Mrs. Aurora Ruis, Mrs. Dora Hauk and Mrs. Lupe Ruis, all of El Cajon; a son, Peter Rios Jr.; 25 grandchildren; 53 great-grandchildren, and three great-great-grandchildren.

Interment will be in Alpine Cemetery.

200 Attend German Fete

CHULA VISTA — More than 500 members of the German-American societies of San Diego attended the societies' annual summer picnic yesterday and saw Mayor Curran present a key to the city to Arthur Gruber, mayor of Sindelfingen, West Germany.

Music was provided by a 40-piece German brass band and a 15-piece zither band. Three folk dance groups presented an exhibition of German dances while the crowd sang and danced their approval.

The crowd was served German wieners and sausage on German rolls, and all the German and American beer they needed to wash it down.

5 Die At Bullfight

Birch Society Picnic Hears Robert Welch

Welch spoke to nearly 500 persons, including society members, their families and guests who attended the all-day picnic.

Welch said he had been too busy with Birch Society projects to prepare a speech. He said he was anxious to get on to projects of his own, and expressed his desire to see the membership finish its project to rid the country of Communists. He then answered questions from the members.

San Luis Rey Fete Draws Big Crowd

OCEANSIDE — Crowds attended Old Mission San Luis Rey Fiesta and a number of other events held here yesterday as part of the San Diego 200th Anniversary celebration.

Sponsors of the celebration had wondered how the landing on the moon would affect the fiesta, a surfing meet, catamaran races, a duplicate bridge tournament and a men's physique contest.

The answer? Crowds were as large as expected. People at the events were interested in the moon landing and were kept informed of the progress on public address systems. Some listened on transistors.

3-DAY RIDE

A highlight was the arrival of Los Caballeros del Camino, who completed a three-day ride from San Diego, tracing the route of the Portola expedition from San Diego 200 years ago. The tired riders asked about the moon mission as soon as they were met by riders from the mission.

Part of the arrival ceremony was presentation to Caballeros leader Harold Barker of a pennant for the ninth trek of the group. More than 100 horsemen were escorted to the mission by the Camp Pendleton Marine Corps mounted color guard.

WELCOME PEALED

Under overcast skies the horsemen presented a dramatic picture as they were silhouetted against the sky a mile south of the mission. In single file they rode across the skyline and then wound down the hillside. They were met by Antonio Castro, a mission worker wearing a priest's robe and riding a donkey.

Suspect Held In Theft Of Patrol Car

Booked in county jail on suspicion of auto theft and resisting arrest was Edward Martin Keating, 21, of Los Angeles.

CHP Officer K. L. Koontz said he had stopped Keating on Interstate 5 in South San Diego about 9 p.m. Saturday. He handcuffed the suspect and left him in the front seat of the patrol car while he checked Keating's car.

Another patrolman was talking to Keating's two companions outside Keating's car, Koontz said, when the officers looked up and saw the suspect drive off in the patrol car.

Keating, still handcuffed, was arrested at 4 a.m. at a Chula Vista motel after he asked the motel manager to call the highway patrol. The car was found nearby.

POINT OF VIEW

On Dick Cavett As A Night Host

By DONALD FREEMAN

Freeman

Write of Way — From Jean Ulrich, 427 W. 10th Ave., Escondido: "When Dick Cavett first came on in the mornings, I had read about him in 'Point of View' and elsewhere but I don't usually watch morning TV so hadn't seen his show. Finally, one morning I turned it on and he was in the middle of an interview with some attorney.

"Cavett kept interrupting just as the man would try and make his point and he certainly succeeded in not allowing the man to finish any sentence. . .

"Well, even though I didn't necessarily agree with what the attorney was saying, it burned me up that Dick Cavett was so rude and would cut a guest like that. . .So I wrote my first letter to a network and let them know about my feelings. . .Some time later I got a form letter back, telling me that they were 'so pleased' that I enjoyed the show and please keep watching! A form letter! So I guess they had the last laugh. . .

"I never watched the Cavett show again in the morning. . but I do watch his night-time shows and enjoy them. . .

"Incidentally, that line of Hal Kanter's about George Jessel—that he was 'sick in bed with a very bad toupe'—was a delight. But I'll be so mad if George gets a new one.

"The only way I have been able to stay in a room when Jessel was on TV was by focusing my eyes on that horrible toupe he wears and wondering why he would wear it—especially when he is always after some young girl. . ."

(Hair today, gone tomorrow.—D.F.)

'They Are My Favorites'

From Esther Moorman, San Diego: "Please pass my thanks and gratitude to ABC for giving us Dick Cavett and Tom Jones. They are my favorites. . If Dick Cavett could sing like Tom Jones, wouldn't he be something?"

(But what if Cavett sang like Jessel?—D.F.)

She's All For 'Hee Haw'

From Star Hunt, 2214 Broadway, San Diego: "Thank you for your write-up of 'Hee Haw' and for reprinting some of the jokes they tell on the show. I'm hard of hearing and do miss much of it now so I appreciate seeing the funny lines in print. . .

"Having a keen sense of humor, I always read and 'get a laff' from those jokes on 'Hee Haw.'"

(Jokes like, for instance, the feller says: "How come I seen you eatin with yore knife?" To which the other feller replies: "Oh, my fork leaked."—D.F.)

The 'Galloping Gourmet'

From Mrs. J. L. Sholtz, 2144 Finch Lane, San Diego: "The 'Galloping Gourmet' show at 11:30 a.m. on Channel 7 is more than just delightful. As he portrays the great chef—his special dinners are more than tasty—his personality, also displayed, is extremely refreshing

"Whoever gets asked in the ratings service surveys I hope mentions this unusual program. . ."

On A Change In Movies

From M. L. Greenwald, 3134 McKinley St., San Diego: "Can you explain why Channel 6 ran 'This Woman Is Dangerous' instead of 'Dr. Strangelove' the other Sunday?

"Certainly 'Dr. Strangelove' must be ranked as one of the most significant films of the past decade. It has been widely acclaimed by critics and is perhaps more relevant and topical today than when Stanley Kubrick made it in 1964. . . As for the other movie, starring Joan Crawford, it is a worthless film of the 1950s. . .

"Fortunately, I watched 'Strangelove' on Channel 7 but why should I be driven to a Los Angeles station? I would prefer to try San Diego first. . ."

(According to Russ Tilford, Channel 6 program manager: "We weren't given sufficient advance notice by the network that 'Strangelove' would be the Sunday night movie. Otherwise, we would have run it. We were told four weeks ago only that it would be a repeat. Consequently, we elected to put on a Joan Crawford movie that hadn't been seen before locally."—D.F.)

Unit OKs DDT Ban Deadline

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Senate Finance Committee has unanimously approved a bill ordering the gradual banning of DDT in California over the next three years.

The measure by Sen. John A. Nejedly, R-Walnut Creek, was sent to the full Senate without major opposition.

The bill sets Dec. 31, 1971, as the deadline for banning the sale, use and possession of DDT. However, it authorizes the agriculture director to extend the deadline a year if no substitute pesticide is found by then.

City Offer To Strikers Criticized

A labor official yesterday labeled City Mgr. Walter Hahn's offer of job security for striking city employes, who return to work Tuesday, "a strike-breaking tactic."

The offer was "an excellent example of the city's double set of standards. Workers returning to the job on schedule would be exempt from punitive action taken against four probationary employes who took unauthorized absences on the Fourth of July," said Jim Grogan, business manager of Local 127 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes, AFL-CIO.

STRIKE IN 9TH DAY

The strike began July 12. Labor officials are asking pay increases for some members, increased fringe benefits and the rehiring of the four employes who were fired.

Grogan charged that the city manager had led the public to believe that trash pick-up was only a day behind schedule when actually it was five to six days behind.

When asked to comment, Hahn responded that Grogan's accusations were the type "usually made by someone who is desperate."

HOPE TO CATCH UP

He conceded trash pick-up might be as much as five days behind in some areas where foremen inexperienced with the routes were used, but said that was an exception and that collections generally were one to two days behind. He said that the city hopes to have the pick-up up to date today.

Hahn said his office has not abused any city employe and does not intend to. He said the four men who failed to report to their jobs knew in advance they would be expected to work July 4 and that they would be paid more than the standard rate.

The milk is all gone and the dog has broken his straw but this photograph got Donald Loos the local babies and children award in the International Newspaper Snapshot contest.

Snapshots Capture Prizes

Winners Focus On Youngsters, Animals in Contest

Two boys flying a model plane in late afternoon, a young girl and her dog, two kids on a seashore, an attentive cat and a stuffed frog, were five entries that won first place local awards in the 1969 International Newspaper Snapshot Awards Contest.

They are winners in the contest's first week and are eligible for top local awards and entry in the national contest later on.

PRIZES OFFERED

The contest is strictly for amateurs. Those chosen winners locally will be eligible for national prizes with a total value of $50,000, including trips to Mexico, Hawaii, the West Indies and South America.

Eight grand prize winners will be chosen locally. They will receive $25 prizes and their pictures will be forwarded to the national contest. Finalists will be competing with other entrants selected by newspapers in the United States, Canada and Mexico.

Locally, the contest, with five snapshot categories, is sponsored by The San Diego Union.

Class A— Babies and Children:

Donald Loos, 3343 Altadena Ave., won $10 and first place with a shot of a small girl and a dog looking into an empty milk glass. He used a Rolleiflex, shooting with Kodak Plus X film.

Second and third places went to Bob Burton of 1549 Banyan, Fallbrook, and Tom DeCastro of 8143 Brookhaven Court. They received $5 and $2.50. Honorable mention went to Stephen A. Hill, 979 Loring St.

ACTIVITIES, SPORTS

Class B— Activities and Sports:

FAMILY WORKS WITH TOWNS

Stamp Collection Truly A 'Communty Project'

Ever been to Sears, Mich., or Roebuck, S.C.? How about Tippecanoe, Ind., and Tyler, Tex.?

These pairs are just a few of those collected by the Joseph Ochoa family in the form of postmarks. The family, including five children, lives at 6270 Henderson Drive in La Mesa.

FAMILY PROJECT

To compile their collection, each member of the Ochoa family has worked at finding towns with unusual names and writing to the postmaster asking for a letter with the town's postmark.

Results have brought out a great collection of Americana. Beth Ochoa, 15, compiled postmarks of all the state capitals. Ellen, who is 11, gathered a display she calls "Colorful Towns." Displayed on the colors of the rainbow that they represent are Amber, Iowa; Vermillion, Ill.; Golden, Okla.; Black, Mo.; Gray, Maine; White, S.D.; Blue, Ariz.; Green, Kan.; Ecru, Miss.; Brown, W. Va.; Silver, Tex.; Maize, Kan.; Orange, Calif., and finally Rainbow, Tex.

Ellen also has a display entitled "Shapely Towns." These include Oblong, Ill.; Triangle, Va.; Star, Idaho; Circle, Mont.; Arch, N.M.; Cross, S.C.; Cone, Tex.; and Crescent, Okla.

PAIR WORK ON PAIRS

Beth, Ellen and their brother, Monte, 12, worked together on an exhibit called "Pairs." They found Hammer, S.D., and Nail, Ark.; King, Ark., and Queen, Pa.; Liberty, Maine, and Justice, W. Va., and Brothers, Ore. and Sisters, Ore.

Another category belongs to the youngest member of the family — Derry, 5. It is "Gems and Jewels." Included are Diamond, Mo.; Pearl, Ill.; Sapphire, N.C.; Opal, S.D., and Emerald, Wis.

Then there is good old 88, Ky., and have you ever been to 44, Ark., or 100, W.Va? These numbers for towns were collected by Tyler, 7.

WRITE OWN LETTERS

Mrs. Joseph Ochoa said yesterday, "All the children do their own collecting, even the youngest. They also write their own letters to the postmasters. I help them a little when it comes to making the displays."

She said, "It all started when our oldest daughter, Beth, wanted to be in a school hobby show. After that everybody joined in."

10,000 VISITORS

More than 10,000 persons attended the five-day show, which was highlighted by visits of Postmaster General Winton Blount and Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke.

Molly Peck, of the 200th Anniversary office, said more than 10,000 official 200th Anniversary caches — an envelope, a 200th Anniversary commemorative stamp and a postmark — were sold during the exhibition.

"Thousands of requests are

Old Weather 'Pest' Clouds Area Skies

The pest of San Diego weather in July and August — moist, unstable air from the Gulf of Mexico—clouded up skies here yesterday and dropped rain over scattered areas.

And the forecast for today is for more of the same, with the high temperature downtown about 76.

Mt. Laguna reported .04 of an inch of rain, and there were sprinkles at Palomar Mountain State Park, where the campgrounds were filled by weekend visitors.

MORE DUE TODAY

There also were sprinkles at Alpine, Palomar Airport at Carlsbad, Ramona and La Mesa. A thunderstorm hit Warner Springs and Thermal, and lightning lit up the Palm Springs and Yuma areas.

Mac McCarter of the U.S. Weather Bureau at Lindbergh Field said there is a good chance of showers today on the desert slopes of the mountains, with scattered afternoon and evening thundershowers in the mountains.

Despite the overcast, an estimated 65,000 persons turned out on San Diego city beaches, 1,500 at Imperial Beach, 7,500 from Del Mar to Carlsbad and 27,000 in San Clemente. Water temperatures averaged 64 degrees.

Waves ran only one to three feet high, and there were only five rescues.

But north of San Clemente and into the Los Angeles County coastline, strong riptides and heavy surf necessitated the rescue of more than 2,500 swimmers and took three lives since Friday.

The abnormal surf—it ran from six to 10 feet—was kicked up by a tropical storm below the tip of Baja California. Because of the coastal contour, Orange and Los Angeles beaches face south and catch the swells. In San Diego, waves run more nearly parallel to shore.

Alcala Mission Bells Blessed At Festival

The priest stood in the tower and blessed the five large bells silhouetted in the arches of Mission San Diego de Alcala. In the courtyard below, the people raised cow bells, dinner bells and door bells for a similar blessing.

Almost on signal, the bells pealed in unison climaxing the Festival of the Bells yesterday at California's first mission. The event traditionally takes place the Sunday after July 16—the date the mission was founded.

ANNIVERSARY RITE

The priest was Msgr. James T. Booth, who has served at the mission for 16 years. Msgr. Booth said he started re-blessing the mission bells about six years ago as a way of celebrating the mission's birthday.

Three of the mission bells are copies of the originals. The other two date from the early days of the settlement. The lives of Indians and Spaniards alike were regulated by the ringing bells.

DUCKS COMPETE

Sprinkled with holy water were lizards, guinea pigs, rabbits, parakeets and a pair of vociferous ducks that the priest said offered him "real competition" when he was saying the prayer.

People brought mostly dogs and cats, however. On hand was the monsignor's pooch, Marco Polo de Alcala, which he said shares monastic life with him and "goes to pieces" when it gets out for the yearly ritual.

According to the priest, the custom is symbolic of earlier days when the livelihood of settlers depended on the well-being of their crops and animals and were blessed to insure their abundance and longevity.

Bishop Furey Honored At USD Event

Prelate Termed 'Grand Amigo' At Farewell Program

He was compared with Sir Thomas More and with Abraham and honored as a "grand amigo" to all people regardless of skin color or religion.

And yesterday more than 250 persons came together at the University of San Diego's open air theater for a program bidding farewell to the Most Rev. Francis J. Furey, bishop of the Catholic Diocese of San Diego and archbishop-designate of San Antonio, Tex.

Bishop Furey, who was appointed to his new post by Pope Paul VI, will leave for the Texas city early next month. His installation will be Aug. 6.

ECUMENICAL PROGRAM

The ecumenical program included remarks by Rabbi Joel S. Goor of Temple Beth Israel; Superior Court Judge James Cunningham, a former state senator; Rev. Mother Frances Danz, second president of USD's College for Women, and Francisco P. Marty, representing the diocese's Mexican-American community.

The ceremonies were brief and Bishop Furey was determined to keep them that way.

"I hear the moon walk time has been moved up," the bishop said, "so I won't take too much of your time.

"And I want you to know that Houston is within the archdiocese of San Antonio so we can all feel closer to what's happening there."

"I have neither the hot nor cold line to the Vatican," Bishop Furey said, "but I know whomever it may be he will get the same cooperation you showed me during my six years here."

'SECRET WEAPON'

The bishop said he will bring a "secret weapon" to his new position.

"That secret weapon is prayers," Bishop Furey said. "I hope you'll remember me in yours. They will go with me and sustain me in the years ahead."

Bishop Furey paid special tribute to the Mexican-Americans in the San Diego Diocese which includes San Diego, San Bernardino, Riverside and Imperial counties.

"I had a particularly delightful experience receiving farewell at Our Lady of Guadalupe parish in San Bernardino," Bishop Furey said.

LARGEST DIOCESE

The parish, predominantly Mexican-American, is the largest in the diocese.

"I want you to know the most wonderful thing about our Mexican-American friends is their 'heart,'" Bishop Furey said.

Bishop Furey closed with simple advice he has tried to practice during his tenure in San Diego.

"Love one another, my children, and seek what unites you, not what separates you."

Calm Reigns In Southeast Trouble Area

Police Credit Church Rites, Apollo; Social Workers Cite Fewer Patrols

A prayer meeting with 10 ministers in Mountain View Park, roving social workers and limited police patrols and other community efforts combined yesterday to successfully avert violence in Southeast San Diego.

The evening passed without a single major incident.

Police said credit for the calm was shared by the efforts of the religious, business and poverty leaders and also the cool summer weather and the Apollo 11 telecast.

"The television must have had a lot to do with it," Police Inspector Ray Hoobler said. "There were a lot less people out on the streets, less people in the park."

CROWDS LIGHT

Crowds in Mountain View Park, on 40th Street near Imperial Avenue, were light, and park attendants said most excitement and interest came during a two-hour religious service with choirs, the 10 preachers and 250 members of Southeast San Diego churches.

Police limited patrols in the vicinity of the park. Many social leaders gave this much of the credit for the calm atmosphere in the area.

At the request of City Manager Walter Hahn and social leaders like Carroll Waymon of the Citizen's Inter-racial Council and John Johnson of the Urban League, the press also did not send representatives to the scene of last week's violence.

Hahn and Johnson had said the appearance of newspaper reporters and cameramen at the park might, in itself, result in a flareup.

Representatives of the religious organizations, the Community Action Councils, and park attendants were delegated by their groups to report activities in the park and the general area to the San Diego Union.

SERVICES SUCCEED

"I think our mission was a success and I believe we reached many people with the religious services," the Rev. L. L. Henderson of the Southeast Ministerial Alliance said. "We attracted more interest as the afternoon wore on."

A music and talent show that had been considered by the Urban League and the Urban Coalition was cancelled. John Johnson, executive director of the Urban League, said the plan was dropped since the religious services were scheduled for most of the day.

The Rev. Mr. Henderson and Charles Bullard, who said they observed the responses of people in the park closely all day, credited the lack of police in the area with success.

"Many of the social leaders at the park said the situation was calm because the police were not in evidence as much as usual," he said.

POLICE ENCOURAGED

Police found what they called an encouraging byproduct of a week of attention on their activities in the Southeast area—more support from residents of the neighborhoods.

People who used to stand and watch police cars before have been shouting support to police cars from their doorsteps," Capt. William B. Kolender said.

THOUSANDS GET HOLIDAY

The day of participation in the Apollo 11 project will give thousands of San Diegans a holiday today. But all banks, and most retail stores, offices and industries will be open.

These places will be closed: city, county, state and federal offices, the courts, post offices, the state Department of Unemployment Insurance and summer school sessions. Military bases will be on holiday schedule.

The day was called for by President Nixon to celebrate the Apollo 11 moon landing.

For Goodness Sake, Youth Rally Tonight

A program of music and speakers will emphasize the determination of local youth to be recognized as "decent, moral people" during a giant rally in Balboa Park tonight.

Five local bands and singing groups will feature a program of everything from rock music through the blues, soul and folk songs to the ever-fresh "Up With People — Let's Go San Diego" choir.

VARIED SUBJECTS

Speakers will include senior state postal officer urging legislation against pornography through the mail, narcotics experts telling of the dangers of drugs and young people emphasizing their determination to upgrade the general image of young people.

Thousands are expected at the free rally starting at 7:30 p.m. It is sponsored by the Youth for Decency movement which has been pioneered locally by Gary Lane of 4792 Mt Gaywas Drive.

"The evening will be a mixture of serious consideration of grave problems and entertainment by good local bands," Lane said yesterday.

MUSIC PLANNED

Among the groups playing will be "The Exciting Nightlights" with soul music, "Just Who" with folk songs, "The Candy Company" and "The Emergency Exit" with rock sounds and "The Specter" singing the blues.

Speakers will include Mayor Curran; Frank McGee, a postal undergraduate and graduate students came in. Of these, 5,000 have been admitted so far, and 600 turned down for academic reasons.

Enrollment Swamping S.D. State

Thus, Mrs. Warren's office is confronted with the prospect of 16,600 continuing students and up to 12,400 new students—a 29,000 total for an enrollment that is supposed to stay around 23,000.

QUESTION REMAINS

No one knows how many of the 16,600 who, though actually registering for courses last spring, will in fact show up for them on Sept. 22. They will lose $10 of their $25 deposits if they do not.

It is at this time that Mrs. Warren's crew of 30 clerks and evaluators begin in earnest to go through the 7,400 unprocessed applications from prospective new students.

As a generality, she says new graduate level applicants have little to worry about. The same applies to potential entering undergraduates who made their deposits in February, March or April.

If the college does turn away qualified students, it will do so solely on a basis of chronological dates on their application form.

inspector from Oakland; a representative of the city attorney's office; Lee Lokey, a high school student; Ed Yaeger, a recent high school graduate, and Lane.

A representative of the governor's office also is expected.

Yesterday, the bands toured the beaches and parks on the back of trucks, urging people to join in the rally as a demonstration against the general picture of a disreputable youth.

Other young people went from door to door telling people to take their families along and join in. Still others called local churches of all denominations asking clergymen to invite their congregations.

"We're expecting a great evening," said Mrs. Tina Lane, Gary's wife and vice chairman for the rally.

"We want to show people that the great majority of young people are decent, law-abiding citizens and then join those young people into a force for decency," she said.

To do this, it already has been decided to form a permanent local committee to work toward a solution of local problems of conflict and misunderstanding between young people and the older generations.

"If we can get all generations together in a rally, we might start to understand one another a bit better," Mrs. Lane said.

Recreation Aide Jobs Offered

Mesa del Sol Town Council has openings for boys and girls of junior high and high school age who want to work this summer as volunteer recreation aides.

Volunteers, working at playgrounds under the supervision of adult recreation leaders from the Park and Recreation Department, may earn school credit by completing 160 hours.

Nine students have been accepted as volunteers. The council hopes to place 30 by midsummer.

Those interested may contact Dal Matibag, youth activities chairman for Mesa del Sol Town Council.

Aircraft Nuisance Group Will Meet

The Committee for Abatement of Aircraft Nuisance will meet at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at Loma Portal Elementary School auditorium.

The committee is comprised of Loma Portal citizens, concerned about the possible extension of Lindbergh Field into the Marine base and the effects of future aircraft volume on areas under thhe flight pattern.

People Give Nixon Good Score

American people have long been cynical over the credibility of campaign rhetoric.

Their experience has been that there often is a chasm between the promise of a candidate seeking public office and his performance, once elected.

Now in typical American fashion, people and pundits are taking the measure of the promises and performances of President Nixon as he completes his first half-year in office.

As they do there is growing evidence that some of the usual cynicism has given way to cautious optimism. The fact is President Nixon's early batting average is respectable.

As a candidate, Mr. Nixon promised an honorable end to the war in Vietnam, at the same time reminding American people that nobody should "expect a millennium in the morning."

As president, Mr. Nixon's actions have resulted in the first of 25,000 American men returning home from the war permanently since our combat involvement in the war began.

During his campaign Mr. Nixon said that the United States should restore its prestige abroad and enter a period of negotiations, not confrontations.

As president, Mr. Nixon has already gained a new respect abroad. He has made a trip to Europe, is planning one to Asia, will soon meet with the Soviet Union in a summit conference and is the first President in more than 20 years to plan a trip to a Communist nation.

President Nixon already has moved in the direction of controlling inflation by presenting a balanced budget and a taxing program designed to stop deliberate inflation.

In all of his actions President Nixon has lived up to his promise to follow "approaches that guarantee performance" rather than "easy slogans."

He has adhered to the principle that the nation, from the chief executive to the man on the street, should lower his voice so American people could hear each other.

And in doing so President Nixon has, in the first half-year of his stewardship, established a bond of trust between himself and the American people that is unprecedented in this decade. Polls show that he has strong public support from coast to coast and in all age groups.

It is the more significant that he has established his rapport despite the problems created by a Congress controlled by the Democrats, and the grim but inescapable fact that far too great a part of the American communications media has failed totally to portray the realities of his administration.

Despite these very substantial impediments, the American people sense the accomplishments of the Nixon Administration. He has gone far toward closing the credibility gap between people and government that had become such a cynical byword in the eight years before January.

Mr. Nixon and the people of the United States of America are speaking softly to each other — and hearing each other. They are marching for the most part to the same drumbeat.

Change In Spain May Trigger Crisis

The move by Generalissimo Francisco Franco to designate his successor—expected in Madrid tomorrow—brings Spain to the threshold of what may be the most critical period in her post civil war history.

Franco, at 76, recognizes that his personal rule of more than 30 years is losing its dynamism and approaching a logical end. The Spanish constitution provides that the current regime shall end with restoration of the monarchy, and that Franco can nominate a person of "royal lineage" as his successor.

The constitution also provides that the new chief of state—the king—shall designate a chief of government, or premier, to run the country.

What looms important to Spain's European neighbors—and to the United States of America—is the necessity that the transition of power shall be carried out smoothly and with a minimum of disturbance to diplomatic policies that have made Spain a valuable and important factor in European stability.

Franco has been something less than a popular figure in many minds because of his autocratic rule and his firm hand on internal dissent. But the fact remains that his regime has brought Spain forward significantly as an industrial nation, while enhancing its strategic role in European defense at the gateway to the Mediterranean.

The transition of power in Spain may spark a family feud over succession to the throne. We can hope it does not also spark a renewal of civil strife that could prove costly to free Atlantic nations as well as to Spain.

Equality Afoot in Cuba

Pictures of women driving tractors have become a symbol of life in the Soviet Union—a symbol of how unromantic the lot of women can be under a Communist share-the-work system.

Russia appears to have exported the idea to Cuba. Havana reports that the Castro government is trying to put every able-bodied woman under 45 to work—even performing the back-breaking job of cutting sugar cane, which is hard enough for a man.

Communism does fulfill one of its promises. There is no discrimination against women. But at least in Russia they provide the girls with tractors.

The Ones Who Got Away

The continuation of tensions over the "people's park" in Berkeley should come as no surprise in that community.

At the height of the previous disorders in May, Berkeley police and National Guardsmen arrested 432 persons on charges of blocking a public street and failing to disperse.

When the cases came up in municipal court, all 432 were released. Judges ruled that the evidence—mostly in the form of photographs—was insufficient to establish that any defendant was more than an innocent bystander.

If all those arrested were innocent bystanders, what happened to the rioters? Guess they all got away.

HAZEL TOW

Sailing Circle Route Is No Great Feat

The outcome was inevitable.

After all, I'm not exactly famous as an athlete or the outdoors type. It has something to do with coordination — or, in my case, an apparent lack of it.

At one time I did play a fair game of tennis but in my ventures in such things as horseback riding and snow skiing I was a dud. Even balancing and pumping a bicycle has always proved too much for me.

Learning to swim was a struggle, but a necessary one. They wouldn't give me my university diploma until I had completed the necessary laps across an ocean-size pool. And it was only due to the charity of my instructor that I passed the diving test. She pushed me.

Yet, I don't seem to accept my limitations. Take a recent Saturday when I cheerfully responded to an invitation to learn to sail a Sabot. After all, said friends, you write about sailing, why not learn to sail?

So out I went to Mission Bay where a ladies' sailing class was in progress. Because I had missed the first two lessons, everyone was extra helpful in rigging the Sabot and holding it as I clumsily climbed aboard.

A Sabot, I found, is a shallow-draft craft of 7 feet 10 inches in length and 4 feet in width. It carries 38 square feet of sail and is steered by a rudder in the stern.

So there I was, briefed and brave.

With constant directions from a teenage youth, somehow I managed to acquit myself fairly well on a straight (almost) cross-wind, back-and-forth course. So well, apparently, the class instructors thought I could steer in and out among the other Sabots and power boats in the area without a collision.

"Follow me," said the youth in a power boat, as he set a new course.

"Keep an eye on the sail," he admonished.

Well, what with one hand on the sail line, the other on the tiller and an eye on the sail, those two hands kept forgetting which one was to do what and the rest of me forgot to move accordingly.

Instead of following the instructor's wake, I was going in circles and getting closer and closer to shore. The circles got smaller and smaller and then, ever so gently I found myself sliding into the water — Sabot, sail and all.

A lad of about 7 speedily unrigged the sail and rudder so the craft could be righted.

But, as I said, I never seem to learn. I'm going to try again on another Saturday — but I'm going to wear a bathing suit this time.

Nixon Anti-Crime Program May Be Profound Legacy

Revolutionary alterations in the relationship of the criminal suspect to the state may in the end be the most profound legacy to history of the Nixon Administration.

For this Administration is moving all across the landscape of the law to strengthen the powers of policing, of investigating, of prosecuting, and to reduce the power of counsel for the defense, wherever he may live.

And even more importantly, it is moving as well to change the philosophy of that final arbiter of the endless contest between private man and the public authority, the Supreme Court, so that its decisions will pay far greater heed to the demands of public order and far less than in the 16 years now past to the claims of those who breach that order.

For the President's anti-crime program could not possibly survive in an unaltered Supreme Court which, under the retired Chief Justice Earl Warren, had gone so far to tip the balance in favor of the individual accused and against the collective accuser that is society.

But that program will surely survive under the new court. For the balance is now going to turn the other way because new men on the court —the recently chosen Chief Justice Warren Burger and the appointee to succeed the resigned Justice Abe Fortas —are going to look at this all in a quite different way.

This is not to suggest that the President will control or ever seek to control their minds; it is to say that these are simply different minds from those that have so long controlled the high bench. It is, in short, an unpacking, or a repacking, if one prefers, of the Supreme Court of the United States.

These are the central of the plain truths, but there are others no less plain.

One is that we have a habit in this country of following an era of too much permissiveness with another era of too much rigor; of wide metronomic swings in public feeling between too much softness and too much repressiveness.

It is for this reason that when all is said and done the most truly vital post in all the Cabinet will not be one of those klieg-lit departments dealing with foreign or military or economic policy but rather that somewhat remote office held by the quietest man of them all, Attorney General John Mitchell.

Mitchell holds the crucial responsibility to help the President guide the new revolution in law and justice away both from the permissive excesses of the past and the excessive hardness that public and congressional emotionalism could now bring.

It was, for illustration, precisely the excessive softness of the courts that permitted drug-taking to spread across the college campuses and even the high-school yards of this country.

The Administration now moves to redress the balance here with a tough new law that would allow federal agents to break into, without knocking on the door, the premises of dope-pushers heretofore protected against this unceremonious form of search and seizure.

And it was another form of softness that granted a more or less permanent sanctuary to the Mafia through the bribery and corruption of local officials. So the Administration moved some time ago against this by offering a bill to define local bribery as a federal crime and thus to take the question away from local control.

Look at these two proposals as part of a pattern and one can see that what is afoot here is of truly vast meaning. The Nixon people mean business.

TODAY'S PRAYER

For Thee, O God, there is neither beginning nor ending. Encourage me in my beginnings, sustain me in all my doings, bring me to a good end, and so may I enter into the life more abundant. Assure me that "the valley of the shadow of death" is a shadow. Amen.

Marijuana Exposed as Life Destroyer

Rarely do I plug an author in this column, but I'm plugging one today. His name: Jess Stearn, an authority on drugs. His works: "The Seekers," and at least one magazine article.

Stearn is "must" reading for all who possess children, grandchildren or even casual acquaintances among the "now" generation.

He explodes once and for all the modern myth of marijuana puffing as a mildly innocuous pastime. He has enough research to convince anyone of the fallacy of that propaganda bit.

Wrecked lives. Weakened kidneys. Damaged lungs. Riddled upper respiratory systems. These are some of marijuana's mild and beneficial physical consequences.

Mentally, it has even more after-effects: panic, gross confusion, impulsive and aggressive behavior, depersonalization, hallucinations, depression, and indolence. Enough to keep whole regiments of psychiatrists working overtime. Which, of course, they certainly are these days.

The thing that really put me on the warpath, though, was Stearn's list of adult apologists for this poison:

Dr. Eugene Schoenfeld, formerly of the University of California, who claims that pot is "not addicting" and who advocates repealing the laws against it.

The pediatricians at Stanford Medical School, who got together recently and announced that they weren't even going to report the use of LSD much less marijuana, to the police.

TV commentator Hugh Downs, who blandly told his viewers that he hadn't found any evidence that marijuana did any particular harm.

Dr. James Goddard, head of the Food and Drug Administration under Lyndon Johnson, and Dr. Joel Fort of San Francisco, both of whom announced a few weeks back that marijuana is no more harmful than tobacco or alcohol.

I wonder what these stooges for dope have in place of brains and conscience, especially in the light of such recent statements as those of the American Medical Association, which warned that marijuana is a "mental crutch," producing psychological dependence and often resulting in "illusions and delusions that predispose to anti-social behavior."

Or the findings of Dr. Luis Souza that marijuana ravages the DNA component of human genes.

Why do we mince so shudderingly away from any possibility of coming grimly to grips with this hound straight out of hell which threatens the lives and the very souls of our children?

Are we Americans stupid? Or is it that we just don't care any more?

One thing's for sure. Thanks to Stearn's trail-blazing, we can't hide any longer behind the smoke screen put up by the scientific apologists for evil. The skull-face which is dope has been stripped of its masks and now grins full into ours as it reaches for our blithe and feckless young than they do in this, our own America.

What are you going to do about it?

READERS' VIEWPOINT

Truck Drivers Called Safest

Editor, The Union: After reading Mr. McGowan's letter in The Union, I believe he should try the back roads and stay off the freeways.

The trucker is the safest driver on the road. All trucks have to travel in the very right hand lane so if Mr. McGowan would move over one lane they could pass him with no problem.

Truckers most certainly obey the speed limit. That's the way they make their living and too many tickets would cost them their driver's license.

The trucker has to take a physical exam, eye test, written test and prove he is capable of handling a big rig each time he renews his driver's license.

The trucker is the most courteous driver on the road. If more passenger car operators followed the trucker's example there would be fewer accidents. I certainly wouldn't be afraid of the trucks. It's the cars that scare me silly.

Tax Woes Grow For Chula Vistan

Editor, The Union: I believe that it is about time more people made noise about taxation. I also believe that I have more than enough reason to do so.

Last year I thought I would avoid paying any additional taxes at the end of the year. To accomplish this I thought by claiming zero dependents for the year I would break even or have a refund.

My gross income was $11,425.54, deductions $1,600, taxable income $9,825.54. Tax on this amount, $2,141.15, add surcharge of $160.59, and the tax now amounts to $2,301.74. Withholding was $2,012.14, leaving me a balance of $89.60 to be paid.

Then I figured my state income tax which amounted to $350.79.

The crowning blow came July 7 — a bill from the Internal Revenue Department on a form marked "Income Tax Audit Charges," for $926.56 for 1966.

This came about through the sale of a piece of property. I paid taxes on all of the money received from the property for that year, but it seems they want me to pay also on the amount still owed.

To further complicate matters, in December 1966, I gave my ex-wife through the courts, the remainder of the contract in lieu of child support.

This means that she will receive the remainder of the money plus interest in monthly payments.

Student Vacation Activities Compared

Editor, The Union: During these school vacation days, we find two breeds of students — those who seek jobs, regardless of what or where, or at least engage in some creative art; and those who demand as an acquired right the easy beach-bum pastimes of living off the fat of the land.

The former earn money toward meeting next semester's costs; the latter expect parents or others to fork out the where-withal.

I admire the worker, be he dishwasher, waiter, supermarket legman, clerk, or even a garbage collector's aide. He is tomorrow's leader. He can inherit the land.

But the shirker, most often arrogant and unkempt, forever seeking to ride the crest of the tide, most likely eventually will find himself steeped in its shallows and corresponding miseries.

Briefly, it is encouraging to know that the "do-ers" still realize that success is the reward of toil and hard study. But it is disheartening when one looks at the other side of the spectrum, knowing that most of these will end up as parasites, a plague on this free society of ours.

Boaters Grateful For Emergency Aid

Editor, The Union: My wife and I wish to call to San Diego's attention the heroic and outstanding services rendered us by members of the Aquatics Division of the Department of Recreation, the San Diego Shore Patrol and the San Diego Police Department, during a recent crisis.

Our 16-foot outboard boat lost power during a holiday cruise out of Mission Bay July 6, and was floundering out of control off Pacific Beach when life-guards on duty spotted our distress.

Their quick action in alerting the U.S. Coast Guard and contacting the San Diego Police Department brought immediate aid.

Our deepest gratitude is extended to lifeguards Van Davis, Chris Williams, Dave Stevens, Paul Ruggirello and Bill Corbett for helping guide our boat into shore through the six-foot high surf and to Police Officer Tom Merriman and Shore Patrolman Roy Nelson, who were cruising together in a paddy wagon, and helped secure our boat on the beach.

Officers Merriman and Nelson later provided transportation back to Mission Bay where we picked up our trailer and returned us to Pacific Beach where they helped us hook up our boat.

Chula Vista Scouts Are Commended

Editor, The Union: Hurrah for Boy Scout Troops 842 and 897 of Chula Vista, who insisted that they carry the American Flag in the Coronado July 4 parade even though they were told not to do so "because it was too difficult for old people to stand up when the Flag went by."

And Booo to Coronado's 20-30 Club, who told the Scouts that. The club members must be too old to stand up to salute our National Colors and are hiding behind us oldsters who, I don't believe, will ever be too old to rise and salute the Flag unless they are in a wheelchair or otherwise handicapped. Even then they will at least place hand over heart in salute as the Flag goes by.

So please give my regards to those Scoutmasters. I salute them!

I am a past Scoutmaster of Troop 28 of Ocean Beach.

Renter Pays Taxes, Letter Declares

Editor, The Union: At certain times through the news media we have read statements made by responsible people that the non-property-owner does not pay his full share of the property tax.

This is a myth. As a part of the renter's package, he indirectly pays his share of the property tax, insurance and maintenance on the property he uses and a per cent on the owner's investment.

Landlords pass on the taxes to the consumer like all businesses do.

BILLY GRAHAM'S ANSWERS

Truth Found From Within

Q. As I understand it, the hippies are discontented with all the hypocrisies of our society. I really don't see why everyone is criticizing them. After all, aren't they seeking the truth?

Graham

A. It is hard to generalize on a group and difficult to analyze their motives. Many of the hippies really are seeking after truth. It is also quite possible that some have "dopped out" for other reasons — free sex, the desire for an easy life.

But one does not need to be a recluse, or an eccentric, to see truth. Neither does one have to go to India. Madame Pandit recently said, "I have spoken to many of your hippies in India. I ask them what they came to India for, and they said, 'the truth.' But truth is not American, or British, or Indian. It is everywhere. If you cannot find it in your own heart, you cannot find it."

Most young people are searching for the truth. They do not necessarily have to be hippies. It is wholesome and normal for young people to personally examine and evaluate the ethics and ideals, and even the beliefs, of their elders. That is much better than accepting them unequivocally, without making them their own.

Most of the people Christ called to be His disciples were young men. One reason I believe is that He offered them "The Truth," Himself. He is the embodiment of all truth.

Recording Star, Roy Hamilton, Dies

NEW ROCHELLE, N.Y. (AP) — Recording star Roy Hamilton, 40, whose hit records included "Let There Be Love" and "Ebb Tide," died yesterday in New Rochelle Hospital.

Death resulted from a stroke he suffered earlier this month, a hospital spokesmann said.

Your Horoscope

By CARROLL RIGHTER

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You can easily make those new deals, contracts that are right for you and partnership alliances more ideal. Be sure to get out later with a good friend at some charming place for recreation you need.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) If you show thoughtfulness to co-workers, you find they cooperate more and are happier to be associated with you. Incorporate efficiencies and color to present surroundings. Make your living more ideal.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Put the finishing touches on those plans for an important trip during free time and then delve into that hobby you like so much. Be quick in handling business affairs. Showing true affection to mate is only right.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Concentrate mainly on how to make your home a more charming and comfortable, harmonious place in which to dwell. Buy whatever you need. Business matters can be taken care of in a jiffy now.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) An early start on routine matters and being prompt at shopping, keeping appointments is fine. This will help you be more efficient in your work later on, too. Put that big idea to work without further procrastination.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Concentrate upon how to improve your financial position and be sure you are practical or you could go off the deep end instead. Good day to plan repairs to property, also. Discuss with right tradesmen.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Anything of a personal nature is fine today so do not procrastinate but get busy first improving your charm. Be with charming people during spare hours and have a good time. Increase happiness.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) A good day to see that expert who has the advice and data you need at this time, but you have to be determined to get it. You can have a delightful time with one you love, also. Be happy.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Monday is usually a bad day to be out socially, but you must accept that one important invitation—or repay that obligation. Much benefit can come from this. Get to bed early tonight.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Contact executives who can help you to put over some deal, a civic or credit matter. Be on the alert for information that is helpful. Improve image within the area in which you reside. Be clever.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Get the right ideas from others that will help you to operate more efficiently and successfully in the days and months ahead. Get in touch with persons whose outlook is different to yours. You need their assistance.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Begin the day properly by taking care of all those small tasks ahead of you and paying your bills, collecting what is owed you. Your intuitive faculties are working overtime, so put them to good use. They are exceptionally accurate now.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he, or she, will be one of those young people with exceptional charm who appeals to everyone. Be sure to have many playmates around early in life. Slant the education along some social line that brings fine rewards. If a girl, send to finishing school. Beauty culture, artistic professions, the cultural, whatever requires a neat touch and fine finish is ideal in this chart. Be sure you give religious training early.

L.A. Coroner Case Reopening Urged

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Supervisor Kenneth Hahn has declared the Civil Service Commission's hearing into the ouster of county coroner Thomas Noguchi should be reopened to allow the coroner to present his side of the case.

The suggestion was scoffed at by Noguchi's attorney, Godfrey Isaac, who told newsmen he purposely kept Noguchi off the witness stand during the month-long hearing.

Isaac said he did not want the coroner to be "attacked and trapped into saying things that could be construed against him when there was really nothing solid enough for him to disagree with."

Births In Canada Reach Lowest Level

OTTAWA (AP)—Canada's birth rate last year was the lowest in its recorded history, with a ratio of 17.6 births for every 1,000 of the population.

The number of births in the country last year dropped to 364,310, the lowest since 1948, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported. In 1967, there were 370,894 births, for a birth rate of 18.2 per 1,000.

53 Banks Robbed

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Fifty-three Brazilian banks have been robbed of a total of $650,000 so far this year. Officials blame the thefts on leftist terrorists who are trying to finance an armed struggle against the government.

Highway Billboard Bill OKd By Assembly

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Assembly has passed 60-7 a bill lifting the ban on highway billboard advertising in some cities so motorists can know what services are available at the next interchange.

The bill by Assemblyman Peter F. Sehabarum, R-Covina, would enable cities that prohibit billboards near highways to construct a single advertising display with the name and trademark of motorists' services available at the next exit. The bill now goes to the Senate.

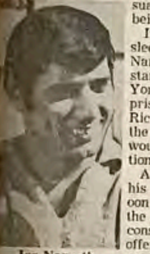
Namath Learns Pete Rozelle Is Strong On Principle, Too

Well, I see Pete Rozelle is still the commissioner of football. There was some doubt for a while—at least, in the mind of Joe Willie Namath—but even that angry young man has yielded to the authority and persuasion of the game's supreme being.



Joe Namath

It seems unlikely that we'll all sleep better tonight knowing that Namath will be back at his old stand as quarterback of the New York Jets. This was the least surprising announcement since Mr. Richard Milhous Nixon advised the Republican convention he would accept the party's nomination.

Actually, for Namath, selling his interest in a Manhattan saloon in order to play football for the Jets wasn't so bad when you consider the alternative. His best offer came from a promoter named Bucky Woy who proposed to barnstorm in minor league cities with Namath, O. J. Simpson and other disaffected athletes. That kind of thing went out with Red Grange and Cash 'N' Carry Pyle.

This contest between Namath and Rozelle was the worst mismatch since the great debate between Casey Stengel and Congress. Like Stengel, the commissioner was invincible.

Evidently there was a period when Namath believed the sycophants who counseled him that Rozelle would compromise. "Let Rozelle play quarterback for the Jets," they jeered, "let Rozelle fill all those seats in Shea Stadium."

Solid Support For Rozelle

But there was never a chance the commissioner would yield an inch. He had carefully briefed the club owners of his findings before ordering Namath to sell his action in the lively east side bistro, Bachelors III, and his case was neatly documented. Rozelle's investigators had been so thorough that one of them obtained employment at the saloon.

The information indicated that Namath was clean, but Rozelle, zealous of football's reputation, was concerned about what he termed "the appearance of evil." Bachelors III was a popular hangout for underworld types and the pay telephones were being used for bookmaking.

That kind of thing isn't calculated to inspire public confidence. Rozelle is so sensitive on this score he once suspended Paul Hornung and Alex Karas for a year when they admitted betting on their own teams. The commissioner has a network of investigators in every league city who report on sudden fluctuations, in the betting line and athletes who associate with gamblers or mob types.

A football player, like Caesar's wife, is supposed to be above suspicion. And that was the point Namath seemed unable to grasp.

He reasoned that he was innocent of wrongdoing and, therefore, Rozelle was intruding on his freedom in ordering him to dispose of his interest in the bar. But that was an emotional, simplistic view of a larger problem. As commissioner, Rozelle is charged with guarding the name and reputation of football and he has the authority to punish or deny.

Anything detrimental to the best interests of football is of concern to Rozelle, and he sets the standards. This is not a puppet commissioner. His power is real and tangible.

Namath learned when he tested the power. Six weeks ago he tearfully announced he was quitting football rather than sell Bachelors III because of the principle involved. Then he discovered Rozelle is pretty keen about principle, too.

"I went as far as I could, with it only involving me," said Namath dourly.

Football Not Loner's Game

The experience reminded Namath that he does not stand apart from the game. His teammates need him and all those people who invested in his public stock issue, Broadway Joe, a franchise restaurant chain, need him in football. Principal is involved as well.

Namath's decision is a belated triumph for common sense. And Rozelle, to his lasting credit, handled the whole delicate business with his usual tact. The commissioner avoided antagonizing Namath in his public statements and, indeed, went to some trouble to placate him. The two met privately and Rozelle was polite but firm. Finally, Namath came to realize he had to choose between a half interest in a bar and a career in football, and the mathematics were easy.

Rozelle is aware of Namath's value to football. Since the Jets' triumph in the Super Bowl, he's the game's hottest item. He sells seats at Shea Stadium and elsewhere around the American Football League. He's a major reason why the Baltimore Colts agreed to move into the AFL in 1970. He'll pump life into a Chicago All-Star game that was perishing of ennui, and Weeb Ewbank, the harried little coach of the Jets, again will be gentle on his mind.

Allen, Minus $11,700, Reinstated By Phils

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Philadelphia Phillies' slugger Richie Allen, suspended without pay June 24 when he failed to show up for a twi-night doubleheader in New York, was reinstated yesterday after meeting with manager Bob Skinner.

After the one-hour meeting Skinner said Allen was reinstated "But he will not play until he is in shape to play."

Skinner said 'Allen will work out at Connie Mack Stadium today, Tuesday and Wednesday and accompany the team to Houston Thursday when he will probably be back in the lineup.

Allen, who was two hours late for the scheduled 9 a.m. meeting would not speak to reporters.

He said he was going home and he wouldn't talk to anyone.

When a pool of reporters went to Allen's Germantown home here they saw Allen drive by and wave to them, but the slugger refused to stop and talk.

The day after his suspension Allen said "I'm through with the Phillies until they trade me."

When asked whether there was any mention of a trade, Skinner said, "You can't predict the future. When the fall comes around, Bob Carpenter, (Phillies president) and John Quinn, (general manager), and I will evaluate the Phillies."

Allen was reported to have lost $450 each day he was out for a total of $11,700 for the 26 days.

Quinn said there was no way for Allen to regain the money.

Skinner said he did not discuss finances with the 27-year-old first baseman: "Richie understands he was suspended without pay," he said.

When asked whether Allen

SNARES BORDERLAND PURSE

Ollie's Gal Turns It On In Stretch For Narrow Win

By DUSHAN LAZOVICH
San Diego Union
Turf Writer

AGUA CALIENTE — N. C. Armstrong's Ollie's Gal finished full of run to collar Torch Flame in the final yards to win yesterday's $2,500 Borderland Purse in a hard drive.

The 4-year-old filly was always in contention and appeared to be destined for second money when Torch Flame spurted into a length's lead leaving the furlong pole.

But apprentice Al Costa rallied the daughter of Kaneohe Bay-Ollie and proceeded to erase that deficit while going on to a neck's victory in the one-mile feature.

Somewhere in the crowd of 12,256 was one happy bettor, who bet the Caliente book $1,000 to win on Ollie's Gal at 6-1 odds. In days before the book was reinstalled here, that kind of bet would have driven the odds down considerably.

As it was, Ollie's Gal paid $11.80 in the mutuels to win, $5 to place and $4 to show. Torch Flame, owned by Allen Stutsman, returned $5.20 and $3.80 and served plenty of notice in his first trip around two turns. He got slightly tired in the final yards but shouldn't the next time.

Third place went to another filly, the 3-year-old Mikanski. She drove in two lengths behind Torch Flame in a good showing. Mikanski paid $5.40 as the longest shot in the seven-horse field.

Ollie's Gal ran the one mile in a fine 1:36 3/5 and gave trainer M. C. Goodsell Jr. his second winner of the day. He started the afternoon by springing a $22.60 surprise with Arizona invader Princess Diedra, a first starter who is owned and bred by W. R. Cluer, the president of Turf Paradise in Phoenix.

EACH SCORES TWICE

Chargers, Rams Rookies 'Tied' Up

By JERRY MAGEE
San Diego Union Sports Writer

FULLERTON — Scrimmaging the San Francisco 49ers and the Los Angeles Rams on consecutive days has to be like opposing Bob Gibson and Juan Marichal in a doubleheader but a young San Diego Charger unit yesterday got away with it.

It was weary from a bout with the 49ers the day before and it was down to the nub physically with only 11 players available for offense and 11 for defense. Still, it was able to struggle to a two-touchdown standstill here with a Ram outfit which numbered such seasoned performers as Karl Sweetan, Izzy Lang and Dave Pivic.

"I was impressed with the Chargers," Ram coach George Allen allowed following the scrimmage in which each side took turns running 12 offensive plays. "We scrimmaged the Cowboys and moved the ball well," Allen noted. "Today we didn't do much and one of our scores was a little bit tainted. How often are you going to score on a toss?"

The Rams got a 67-yard touchdown run from Jeff Jordan on such a play. Their other score also came on a long-gainer—a 58-yard pass from quarterback Billy Guy Anderson to John Gibbs, a rookie receiver from South Carolina State.

On each of these plays, the beaten defender was Jim Hill, the young corner defender on whom the Chargers are banking strongly. On the run, he had the support responsibility; on the pass, he permitted Gibbs to get in behind him.

Sid Gillman's young professionals made no other big mistakes, however, and they achieved a number of pluses. They outdowned the Rams, according to an unofficial count, 21-16. They showed, in Marty Domres, a rookie quarterback of uncommon poise. And the rookie Gillman

18TH SHUTOUT OF YEAR

Jarvis Blanks Padres, 10-0, On 6-Hitter

By PHIL COLLIER
San Diego Union
Sports Writer

ATLANTA — Speed is considered to be the thing the San Diego Padres lack the most, but their primary search next winter will be for lefthanded hitters.

Manager Preston Gomez has only four at his disposal — Van Kelly, Larry Stahl, Walt Hriniak and Jose Arcia — and that helps explain why the Padres are facing a steady diet of righthand pitching.

They've dropped 53 of 76 decisions against righthanders this year, compared to 10 victories in 22 decisions against lefthanders.

Pat Jarvis, stocky little righthander with an inflated earned run average (5.40), throttled the Padres with a six-hitter yesterday as Atlanta dealt the next National League team its 18th shutout of the year, 10-0.

It was San Diego's 26th loss in its last 31 verdicts against righthand pitching and it brought the Padres to a merciful three-day break in the schedule. All of them except catcher Chris Cannizzaro will rest the next three days in Pittsburgh before opening a four-game series against the Pirates Thursday night.

Cannizzaro, San Diego's first major league all-star, will join the cream of the National League crop tomorrow night for the annual mid-summer joust against the American League. The game is to be played in Washington, D.C., and will be televised nationally.

Meanwhile, two errors helped Atlanta score five unearned runs in the first four innings yesterday and the Braves went on to unleash a 13-hit bombardment that included a three-run homer by Orlando Cepeda.

Rookie Clay Kirby (3-12) was the victim of the five unearned runs that helped the Braves wrap up the series, three games to one.

Former Padre Tony Gonzalez continued to feast on San Diego pitching, slamming three singles and driving in two runs. He had six hits in the series and eight RBI.

Clete Boyer and Henry Aaron each singled home a run and rookie catcher Bob Didier knocked in another with a double.

Reliefer Tommie Sisk was roughed up for four runs in two innings and was the victim of Cepeda's 14th homer of the season.

It was small consolation for the Padres that centerfielder Ivan Murrell extended his hitting streak to 13 games. Murrell doubled to open the seventh inning and reached third

Namath Joins Jets' Camp, Won't Talk

HEMPSTEAD, N.Y. (AP) — Quarterback Joe Namath reported to the training camp of the New York Jets last night.

He arrived at the Hofstra University camp after an airliner trip from Los Angeles. He was accompanied by a teammate and his roommate, safety Jim Hudson.

Namath, reporting to the Jets' training quarters for the first time since he came out of a six-week retirement, would not be interviewed but did answer one question.

Asked if he would practice with the Jets today, Namath replied:

"Of course."

A Jets spokesman quoted Namath as saying that he was "tired. I have no comment and do not want to talk to anyone. I will talk tomorrow."

Namath was met at the airport by his lawyers, James Walsh and Mike Bite, who accompanied him to the Jets' camp and went to Namath's dormitory quarters with him.

Namath announced his retirement from professional football June 6 after pro football Commissioner Pete Rozelle said the quarterback would either have to sell his interests in a New York night spot or face suspension.

Rozelle asserted the restaurant, Bachelors III, was being frequented by questionable characters.

Namath met with Rozelle last Friday for several hours and agreed to dispose of his interest in the restaurant.

Tight end Pete Lammons, likewise, returned to camp. He walked out last Tuesday in what was described as a move in sympathy to Namath.

Jets coach Weeb Ewbank said after Namath's arrival that "it has been a hectic two weeks of training. All of this meaning the Namath situation took away from the business of football, and we're trying to put together a football team. We think we'll have a pretty good team."

The Jets play the College All-Stars in Chicago Aug. 1.

ON FIRST EXTRA HOLE

Hill Wins 4-Way Classic Playoff

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Dave Hill boldly banged in an 11 foot putt on the first hole of a sudden death playoff yesterday to win the $150,000 Philadelphia Golf Classic.

Hill, Gay Brewer, R. H. Sikes and Tommy Jacobs were tied at 279, nine under par, after regulation play of the 72-hole tourney at the suburban White Marsh Valley Country Club.

Hill, Sikes and Brewer all put their second shots on the par-4 350-yard first hole, where the playoff started, while Jacobs was over the green in the rough.

Sikes left his birdie attempt about inch short and then Hill stroked in his putt to put the pressure on Brewer. The former Masters champion stroked his birdie attempt past the pin to give Hill, now the tour's only three-time winner this year, the $30,000 first prize.

Jacobs had started the day deadlocked with Grier Jones for the lead, but then had to sink a four-foot putt on the 18th hole to gain the playoff with the late-charging Hill, Brewer, and Sikes.

Hill was three strokes off the pace when the final round started and picked up three birdies, on the third, ninth and 15th holes to shoot a three-under 69.

He had to scramble for his par on the 18th hole after his drive went into a trap to the left of the fairway. His approach shot to the green plunked into another trap to the left, but he came out cleanly to within four feet of the pin.

Hill then easily sank his putt, clapping and waving his hands.

Brewer, who had started the day six strokes back, had the lowest round among the four playoff contestants, as he shot a 66, aided by an eagle on the par-5, 17th hole, where he dropped in a 25-footer.

Sikes, five strokes back when he teed off, shot a 67, with seven birdies and two bogeys.

Frank Beard had a 70 to finish at 280 while five players were deadlocked at 281. They were Bruce Devlin, who had the tourney's best round, a 7-under 65, Mac McLendon, Lou Graham, Deane Beman and Jones.

Early starters in the field of 76 had to fight a heavy rain which stopped shortly before noon, and left cloudy, overcast skies and muggy temperatures.

Hill sank a six-footer for his birdie on the third hole and then put his tee shot on the par-3 ninth hole—a foot from the pin for an easy birdie. Playing with Jacobs, Hill continued to put the pressure on the third-round leader by dropping in a 20-footer on the 15th.

Jacobs, seeking his first tournament victory since 1963, started well as he gained birdies on the fifth and ninth

Perry Wins Twice In Twins' Romp

SEATTLE (AP) — Pitcher Jim Perry doubled to ignite a four-run burst in the 18th inning of a suspended marathon struggle yesterday and then scattered nine hits in the regularly scheduled game, pacing the Minnesota Twins to 11-7 and 4-0 victories over Seattle.

Perry, who worked the 17th and 18th innings of the suspended contest and scored the deciding run on rookie John Gelnar's balk, beat Gelnar again in the regular game for an 11-4 season mark.

The suspended game was carried over from Saturday night, when the Twins and Pilots battled to a 7-7 standoff through 16 innings before play was halted by a 1 a.m., local time, American League curfew.

Perry doubled with one out in the 18th. Ted Uhlaender beat out an infield hit and Rod Carew walked, filling the bases, before Gelnar balked home the go-ahead run. Chuck Manuel doubled across two more runs, and a pair of walks followed by Rick Renick's sacrifice fly completed the uprising.

Uhlaender drove in five runs Saturday night, but a three-run Seattle rally in the ninth sent the game into overtime and Jim Pagliaroni's 15th inning homer offset a Minnesota run in the top half.

Bases-empty homers by George Mitterwald and Cesar Tovar provided all the support Perry needed on the way to his second victory of the afternoon.

Mitterwald homered in the third and Tovar's eighth inning blast keyed a three-run wrapup burst that finished Gelnar, 2-7. Mitterwald's single, two Seattle errors and reliefer Jim Bouton's balk helped score the last two runs.

Bunt Lets Mets, Montreal Split

MONTREAL (UPI) — Bobby Pfeil's squeeze bunt scored Ron Swoboda in the 10th inning and gave the New York Mets a 4-3 victory yesterday after homers by Mack Jones, Bob Bailey and Bobby Wine in the fourth inning carried the Montreal Expos to a 3-2 triumph in the first game of the doubleheader.

Swoboda led off the 10th inning of the second game with a double, moved to third on Adolfo Phillips' error and scored on Pfeil's bunt. Coco Laboy had sent the game into extra innings when his ninth-inning homer off Ron Taylor tied the score at 3-3.

Jack Dilauro received credit for his first victory after three losses while reliefer Elroy Face was the loser.

Jones and Bailey hit back-to-back homers off losing pitcher Gary Gentry to open the fourth inning of the first game and Wine hit his second homer of the year with two out to give the Expos a 3-2 lead.

The Mets scored two runs in the second inning when J. C. Martin walked with one out, Al Weis doubled and Tommie Agee singled.

Gary Waslewski walked eight batters but allowed only five hits and struck out six in raising his record to two victories and three losses for the Expos.

Royals Take 2 Wins From Chisox, 8-6, 3-2

CHICAGO (UPI) — Bob Oliver singled home Lou Piniella in the 11th to give Kansas City a 3-2 victory over the Chicago White Sox yesterday after the Royals won the opener, 8-6, with the help of five runs batted in by Bob Taylor.

The double triumph allowed Kansas City to move into third place in the Western Division of the American League.

Butler had nursed a 2-1 lead going into the bottom of the ninth when the White Sox tied the score on a walk to Woodie Held, a sacrifice by Walt Williams and a single by Carlos May.

Relief ace Wilbur Wood gave up a lead-off double in the 11th to Piniella and a single to John Martinez to put runners on first and third. Cisco Carlos was greeted with a single by Oliver to send home the winning run.

Taylor had a homer and two singles in the opener as the Royals overcame a 6-5 deficit with three runs in the eighth inning.

Ed Kirkpatrick opened the winning rally by drawing a walk off loser Dan Osinski and he came around on a double by pinch-hitter Martinez. Joe Keough, running for Martinez, scored the tie-breaking run on Ellie Rodriguez' single and, after two walks filled the bases, Taylor drove in the final tally with a single.

Moe Drabowsky received credit for his seventh victory, although he was touched for a run and two hits in the only inning he worked.

Carling Open Won By Mann

DANBURY, Conn. (AP) — Carol Mann withstood charging Kathy Whitworth and steady Sharon Miller and won the $20,000 Lady Carling Open Golf Tournament yesterday with a final round 72 for a 54-hole total of 215.

Miss Whitworth and Miss Miller were two strokes back at 217, one over par on the 6,305-yard, rain-soaked Ridgewood Country Club course.

Miss Whitworth, the leading money winner, birdied the final two holes in her closing 71, and Miss Miller registered 16 pars enroute to an even par 72.

In grabbing the $3,000 first prize, Miss Mann won her third tournament this year and moved past Sandra Haynie into second place in the LPGA dollar derby. Miss Haynie finished well back at 228.

The $2,050 second prize tie pushed Miss Whitworth's earnings this year to more than $30,00 and her career earnings over $250,000.

Bosox In Sweep Of Orioles Series

BOSTON (UPI) — Syd O'Brien homered and tripled and drove in three runs yesterday as the Boston Red Sox whipped Baltimore, 6-5, to sweep the three-game weekend series.

O'Brien's fourth homer of the season in the fifth inning gave starter Ray Culp a 3-1 lead en route to his 14th win against six losses.

Baltimore cut the Red Sox' lead to 3-2 in the sixth inning when Bill Landis walked pinchhitter Curt Motton with the bases loaded to force in Brooks Robinson. But Landis, who took over for Vicente Romo with three on and two out, got Don Buford on a grounder to end the threat.

Boston went ahead, 1-0, in the fourth when Mike Cuellar walked Carl Yastrzemski with the bases loaded, forcing in Russ Gibson. Baltimore got back that run in the fifth on three straight singles and Buford's sacrifice fly.

Perry, McCovey Pace Giants, 7-3

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Gaylord Perry pitched two-hit ball over the last eight innings after surviving a shaky start and Willie McCovey hit his 30th home run — a two-run shot — to lift San Francisco to a 7-3 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers yesterday.

Perry, who also hit his first major league home run for the Giants' first score, was on the verge of being chased in the first inning when Los Angeles rocked him for four hits and three runs.

However, Perry (12-7) settled down and faced only 25 Los Angeles batters after Maury Wills singled to lead off the second. Two batters reached base on hits and one batter was safe on an error, but two of the runners were erased on double plays.

Perry's homer, a 385-foot shot over the centerfield fence, came with two out in the third and was the first hit off loser Claude Osteen (12-8). Bobby Bonds then walked, stole second and raced home when Osteen's throw passed second on a pickoff attempt.

An inning later, McCovey hit his homer following a walk to Willie Mays to put the Giants ahead, 4-3.

Back to back doubles by Ron Hunt and Mays gave the Giants an insurance run in the seventh and they added their final two scores in the eighth on Hal Lanier's single, a double by Bob Barton and a pair of errors.

The Dodgers got to Perry quickly in the first with Wills leading things off with an infield hit. Manny Mota followed with a triple and following an infield out and a walk, Len Gabrielson and Tom Haller both singled to drive in runs.

Mays second hit of the game, a seventh inning double off Osteen, gave him 2,885 major league hits and put him in 15th place on the all-time list. Ironically, Mays hit his 512th homer off Osteen in 1966 to break the National League homerun record.

The Yankees tied the game in the fourth inning with an unearned run after Jimmie Hall and Michael singles with none out and Hall took third on a fly out. When reliefer Bob Humphrey tried to pick Michael off first base with no one covering, the ball went wild and Hall scored.

Washington took a 2-0 lead in the second off starter Bill Burbach. Frank Howard and Ken McMullen singled and Howard eventually scored from third on Ed Brinkman's grounder that Michael bobbled for an error.

Another error by Michael loaded the bases and Del Unser walked to force in another run.

The Yankees got one run back in their half of the second when Michael singled, stole second and scored as Jake Gibbs beat out an infield hit and Bernie Allen threw wild on the play.

A's Divide On Jackson's 37th

ANAHEIM (AP) — Reggie Jackson's 37th home run and successive homers by Sal Bando and Danny Cater powered the Oakland Athletics to a 9-6 victory over California for a split of their doubleheader yesterday.

The Angels won the opener, 7-2, ending a six-game Oakland winning streak.

Jackson, who scored one run and drove in another in the first game, smashed a George Brunet pitch over the right center field fence in the first inning of the nightcap. He doubled in two runs in the fifth and doubled again in the seventh.

The home run put him six games ahead of Roger Maris' 1961 pace, when he slammed a record 61 homers.

Roger Repoz homered for the Angels in the bottom of the first, tying it, 1-1, and they shot ahead, 2-1, in the second on a sacrifice fly by Tom Egan, who later hit a three-run homer.

But Brando, who delivered four Oakland runs, socked a two-run homer in the fourth and Cater followed with another homer, giving the A's a 4-2 lead.

Jackson and Bando drilled consecutive doubles in both the fifth and seventh and Cater poked a run-scoring single in the fifth.

Aurelio Rodriguez and Jim Spencer hit solo homers for the Angels in the opener and four Oakland errors helped Andy Messersmith boost his pitching record to 8-7.

Indians Split Doubleheader With Detroit

CLEVELAND (AP) — Jose Cardenal scored the winning run on a bizarre bases-loaded force play in the 10th inning, giving the Cleveland Indians a 5-4 victory over Detroit and a split of their doubleheader yesterday.

The Tigers won the first game 3-2 on Willie Horton's tie-breaking homer in the eighth.

With one out and the bases jammed in the 10th inning of the nightcap, center fielder Jim Northrup trapped Chuck Hinton's looping drive on one hop and fired the ball toward the plate.

The runners had held up to determine if the ball would be caught on the fly, but Cardenal raced home when first baseman Norm Cash cut off Northrup's throw and tossed to third for a force on Russ Snyder.

Rich Scheinblum's first major league homer — a pinch hit wallop in the seventh—lifted the Indians into a 4-4 tie.

The Tigers had gone ahead in the top of the seventh on Bill Freeman's RBI double.

Willie Horton hit a three-run homer in the first inning, but the Indians came back with one run in the fourth and tied it in the sixth on a two-run homer by Tony Horton.

Giants Get Rams' QB Plum In Swap

The Giants said they gave up a future draft choice for Plum, who once was a great star for the Cleveland Browns. In 1960 and 1961, Plum led the National Football League in passing and is the only player in NFL history to put together two successive passing titles.

During his professional career, Plum has attempted 2,410 passes, completed 1,303 for 17,499 yards and 122 touchdowns.

Los Angeles acquired quarterback Karl Sweetan from the New Orleans Saints last month. Roman Gabriel is the Rams' starting quarterback.

Los Angeles also has quarterbacks Billy Guy Anderson and rookie John Walton on its training camp roster.

In Fullerton, where the Rams are training, the club also announced that tight end Bob Crespino, formerly with the Giants, left camp. "He said he was getting too old for this sort of thing," a Rams' spokesman said.

Veteran linebacker Gene Breen of Virginia Tech was put on waivers and the Rams purchased punter John Kilgore from the Chicago Bears. Kilgore formerly played with Los Angeles.

Hoover, Saints Legion Victors

American Legion baseball teams representing Eastern League powers, Post No. 6-1 (Hoover) and Post 201 No. 2 (St. Augustine Juniors) won their respective titles yesterday in two post-season area tournaments.

Post 201-2 captured the San Diego District's National League tourney by defeating Post 552 (Mission Bay), 4-3, on a one-out home run in the bottom of the seventh by Jack Mannix.

Post 552 won a morning game, 5-3, from Post 201-2 to force the second contest in the double elimination tourney. Mannix, who went 2-for-4, drove the ball over the leftfield fence at MCRD's Beeson Field.

Hoover entered the day against Post 146 No. 2 (Oceanside Juniors) with one loss. They edged the visitors 10-9 in the opener at Hoover then won the championship behind Stan DeKoven's three-hit shutout, 4-0. DeKoven, making his first pitching appearance of the summer, got a solo home run from Randy Fleetwood in the sixth.

The four teams plus Point Loma and Kearny from the Senior League will meet beginning Thursday in the District's double elimination tourney at MCRD. Yesterday's results:

Russia's Klim Tops U.S. Hammer Throw Record

LONG BEACH (AP) — Romuald Klim of Russia bettered an American record by throwing the hammer 240 feet, 6 inches yesterday at an AAU All-Comers meet at Long Beach Comers meet at Long Beach State.

The mark was 3 feet, 1 inch better than the American record set the day before by Klim's teammate Anatoly Bondarchuk at the United States-Russian-British Commonwealth track meet in Los Angeles.

Cubs Sweep Pair 1-0, 6-1

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The Eastern Division-leading Chicago Cubs swept a doubleheader from the Philadelphia Phillies yesterday winning 6-1 behind the four-hit pitching of Dick Selma after Ferguson Jenkins hurled a 1-0 shutout in the opener.

Ron Santo, with a two-run homer and two singles, and Don Kessinger, with two doubles and a single, led a 14-hit Chicago attack on four hurlers in the nightcap. Santo's 20th home run came in the third inning and put the Cubs in front, 2-1, and saddled Billy Champion with his fifth loss in eight decisions. Selma picked up his 10th victory against four defeats.

The Cubs claimed the game with single tallies in the fifth, sixth and seventh as Al Spangler, Glenn Beckert and Bill Heath got the RBI's.

Philadelphia's lone run of the twinbill came in the second inning when a two-out error by Kessinger permitted Rick Joseph to score. Joseph walked, took second on Larry Hisel's single and moved up as Mike Ryan walked.

Jenkins (13-7) scattered seven hits to chalk up his fifth shutout in the opener as the Cubs used a bad-hop single by Kessinger to defeat Grant Jackson (8-9).

Jackson, who gave up only two singles before leaving for a pinch-hitter in the eighth, fanned 10 batters in the first five innings but got into trouble by walking Don Young in the third.

Phillies End Ban On Allen

had agreed to conform to all the team rules and regulations Skinner said, "We discussed all phases. I just want Richie to be one of 25 men and that's what he wants to be. I think he'll make every effort.

"Richie and I have forgotten the past. We are only interested in the future of Allen and the Phillies."

Allen returns to the club with a .318 season batting average including 19 home runs and 45 runs batted in. From the time of his suspension until yesterday the team won 13 games and lost 16.

In an earlier dispute with the Phillies this year Skinner fined Allen $1,000 for missing the team plane from Philadelphia to St. Louis and consequently missing two games with the Cardinals. Yesterday's meeting was arranged through Allen's agent, Clem Cappazollr, who said Allen was late for the meeting because of a misunderstanding about the time.

Ziegenfuss, Pal Win In Doubles

CINCINNATI (AP) — Australia's Carrie Harris and Valerie Ziegenfuss of San Diego captured the women's doubles title yesterday in the Western Tennis Championship in which the three other events were postponed by rain.

The duo downed Pam Richmond of Shawnee Mission, Kan., and Emily Burrer of San Antonio, Tex., by scores of 6-3, 9-7. They played on a court at the Cincinnati Indoor Tennis Club in suburban Indian Hill.

Allan Stone of Australia will meet Los Angeles' Cliff Richey Jr. for the men's singles championship: France's Gil Sherrif Chanfreau will battle Leslie Turner Bowery of Australia for the women's singles crown; and Stan Smith of Pasadena, and Bob Lutz of Los Angeles take on Arthur Ashe of Richmond, Va., and Puerto Rico's Charles Pasarell in men's double. finals.

Georgia Golfer Wins Trans-Miss.

DENVER (AP) — University of Georgia golfer Allen Miller picked up five holes after the first 18 holes of the Trans-Mississippi match play golf tournament yesterday and went on to defeat Dean Overturf of Houston for the amateur crown.

Miller, of Pensacola, Fla., fired a 3-under-par 69 over the first 18 to move five holes ahead of Overturf, a University of Texas golfer.

Matheny's Early Burst Collects Amateur Crown

By HOWARD HAGEN

Insurance agent Howard Matheny, a hard-hitting golfer out of Stardust Country Club, overwhelmed young rival Bill Rufing on the first nine of the scheduled 36-hole County Amateur final at the Coronado Golf Course yesterday and continued to a 7 and 6 victory.

Matheny, 48, who has sharpened his strong game in many amateur tournaments, fired a two-under 34 on the morning round, including a sensational eagle three on the fourth hole, and his 4-up lead was much more than his stocky 18-year-old opponent could overcome.

Rufing, from the Bonita course, and a freshman at San Diego State in September, had his troubles on the first round but he would have needed sub-par golf to stay with the new champion.

Matheny's wedge to the fourth green, which is 526 yards from the tee, put the ball a few inches behind the cup and the ball backed into the can for the eagle three.

He also won three more holes before turning, dropping a 40-foot birdie putt on the seventh.

Matheny won the 10th and 11th morning holes for a 6-up advantage and it was 5-up, Matheny, when they interrupted their earth walk to hear about Apollo 11's landing on the moon.

They swapped the first two holes of the afternoon round, Rufing canning an eagle putt from off the second green to win that one.

But Matheny got moving again with a 12-foot winner on the sixth green, went 7-up with a 10-footer on the 11th and closed out his rival by halving the 12th hole.

"It was a case," said Matheny, "of every time he thought he would win I managed to beat him with a putt. I never gave him any air."

Third flight: Semifinals — John Smith d. Buzz Golder 3-2, Del Miller d. Larry Farley 1 up. Finals — Smith d. Miller 1 up in 20 holes.

Fifth flight: Semifinals — Bernie Rubacalva d. Ed Kerfeld 3-2, Doug Hawkins d. Victor Rossi 3-2. Finals — Hawkins d. Rubacalva 4-3.

Gross Wins State District Lightning Title

Coronado Yacht Club's Warren Gross captured the Lightning class' California District championship yesterday at Redondo Beach, winning the last three of five races in the series hosted by King Harbor Yacht Club.

Dr. Manning Barber of Mission Bay Yacht Club grabbed runnerup honors, winning the first two tests in the set. Third place went to Wendell Harter of the host club. The first three finishers qualify for the class' national championships.

The district also qualified former national champ Carl Eichenlaub of MBYC who was given special consideration because he is recuperating from surgery to correct a longtime wrist injury.

In local waters, Olympic gold medalist Lowell North took over a strong lead in the Star class' San Diego Bay Fleet's world championship elimination series by winning two races over the weekend. The five-race series will qualify one crew for the world championships to be held at San Diego Yacht Club in September.

North is seeking to qualify in order to make a bid for an unprecedented Star world title. North won his third title in 1960 and has been frustrated in seven attempts since to get that fourth championship.

Pete Bennett was second to North Saturday while John Marshall sailed North's old boat to second place yesterday. Alan Raffee was third both days, but his finish yesterday has been protested.

Okker Scores At Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) — Tom Okker of the Netherlands put his cat-like agility to work again yesterday and defeated Marty Riessen, 6-3, 6-4, for the singles crown of the first Milwaukee Professional Tennis Championships.

Okker's win netted him $2,000 of the $10,000 purse, while Riessen, an Evanston, Ill., native just completing his first year in the pro ranks, picked up $1,400.

Okker and Riessen then returned to the court as teammates to engage in a repeat of the recent Wimbledon tournament doubles championship match against Australians Tony Roche and John Newcombe.

As in the British tourney, however, Okker and Riessen fell to Roche and Newcombe, 3-6, 6-4, 6-0. The match was worth $1,000 to the Aussies and $600 to Okker and Riessen.

Newcombe and Roche were ousted in singles competition Saturday by Okker and Riessen respectively. Newcombe was the No. 1 seed; Roche No. 2; Okker No. 3; and Riessen No. 4.

Players eliminated in first round competition included Ray Moore, South Africa; Ron Holmberg; Highland Falls, N.Y.; Earl Buchholz, St. Louis; and Dennis Ralston, Bakersfield.

EACH SCORES TWICE

Charger, Ram Rookies Tie

calls "the little guy," 5-10, 170-pound wide receiver Mike Simpson, did some exciting things.

"If he keeps improving, there is no way to keep him off," Gillman said later of the Houston University speedboy. "'The little guy' is for real."

Against the Rams, Simpson took six passes for 90 yards to lead the San Diego receivers. Domres, meanwhile, hit 15 of 27 passes for 208 yards and one touchdown. In two days, he has hit 27 of 46.

San Francisco coach Dick Nolan liked him. Ditto Allen.

"Domres did a good job in there," said Killer George. "He's got the nice height. A couple of times, we were in on him and he threw over our hands."

"He's coming along fine," echoed Gillman.

Allen permitted his quarterbacks, Sweetan and Anderson, to be tackled; Domres and the passer who succeeded him, Mike Fair, were off-limits to the Los Angeles rush.

"I like my quarterbacks to stay in and get bounced around a little bit," said Allen. "It's risky, I know, but I think it pays."

"My quarterback is not expendable," answered Gillman. The one to whom he was referring obviously, was Domres; the most seasoned of the young throwers on San Diego's rookie unit, Jon Brittenum, was not utilized yesterday.

Fair completed three of six for 23 yards. The South Carolina youngster has improved from his rookie season and is throwing hard and accurately. "He threw well on some of those short passes," said Allen.

Mike made another believer of Bob Brown, Los Angeles' giant offensive tackle. "I don't know who he is," Brown remarked on the sideline in a reference to Fair, "but that boy can throw."

On their first offensive series, the Chargers ran right at the Rams with 232-pound Jim White following center Cal Withrow and the two guards, Bill Frank and Jim Schmedding, for steady gains. After that, Gillman called off the San Diego running game.

"We started to pass because we didn't have anyone to put in and we didn't want anyone to get hurt," explained Sid. Protecting a passer is safer for a lineman than blocking for a runner.

The Chargers scored first when they traversed the required 70 yards in 11 plays. White, who runs perhaps not niftily but with good purpose, did some strong running, Domres hit Simpson for 14 yards, John Knight for 12, Simpson for 20 and Tommy Burnett carried one of his passes 18 yards to the one. White collected from there.

The 58-yard Anderson-Biggs shot evened it. The Chargers went ahead with another 70-yard push, Domres hitting tight end Craig Cotton for the touchdown from the four.

On its last time with the football, Los Angeles scored on Jordan's 67-yard hike. Later, Jordan, a two-year pro pro from Washington, took a swing pass 22 yards and on the next play ran 38 with a screen until fatigue, and the Chargers, caught him on the five on the last play of the series.

The San Diegans had 13 plays left to outscore the National Football Leaguers and Fair maneuvered them to the Los Angeles 14 before he ran out of plays.

The Chargers played most of the scrimmage without the man who lends the animal quality to their defense, Ron (The Beast) Billingsley. He lamed a shoulder and is expected to be idled for three or four days.

Meanwhile, six players were cut, including the club's No. 5 draft choice, end Harry (Skip) Orszulak of Pitt. Orszulak had been handicapped here by a shoulder injury but Gillman indicated his shoulder had no bearing on his departure.

"I just thought he didn't have it," said the coach.

Leaving with Orszulak were receiver Chuck McIlligott of Dayton, quarterback Pete Mikolajewski of Kent State, pass defender Taft Reed of Jackson State, safety Mel Washington of Tougaloo Institute and running back Gene Williams of Arizona State.

CHARGER CHATTER — Lance Alworth was able to do a little running yesterday and he said he thinks he suffered a hamstring sprain rather than a pull Saturday. "When I've had a pull, I have hardly been able to walk for four days," said Lance. . .The Charger veterans were left in Irvine yesterday to work out under the direction of John Hadl and Kenny Graham. "Kenny knows how to coach," said Chuck Weber. "You just stand there and look fat." Speaking of fat, Ram tackle Roger Brown showed up yesterday weighing 335. Deacon Jones also checked in and appeared fit at 248. . .The Chargers yesterday held linebacker Jim Fetherston out because of a minor groin muscle problem. They also didn't use center Bill Lenkaitis, who was kicked in the leg in Santa Barbara, and Allen wouldn't say whom he plans to start at quarterback against the Chargers in San Diego Stadium Aug. 30. It won't be last season'ss tarter, Milt Plum, who yesterday went to New York in exchange for a draft choice. . .From Chicago, Gillman has heard that linebacker Bob Babich is "looking terrific." He also has heard that running back Ron Sayers is "on and off". . .Linebacker Jimmy Campbell, safety Dick Farley and receiver Lane Fenner checked in yesterday after serving two weeks in the Army reserves at Ft. Erwin on the Mojave Desert. Campbell said he lost 12 pounds in the 14 days.

Brazil Tops Mexico's Davis Netters

SAO PAULO, Brazil (UPI) — Brazil defeated Mexico in the doubles competition of the American Zone yesterday to gain the right to meet England's tennis team July 31 in the semifinal interzone of Davis Cup competition.

Thomas Koch and Edison Mandarino of Brazil took 2½ hours to down Joaquin Loyo-Mayo and Luis Garcia, 19-17, 6-3, 6-4.

Koch had defeated Loyo-Mayo and Mandarino had whipped Marcela Lara in singles competition Saturday. The 3-0 advantage of Brazil made today's concluding singles meaningless.

HEAR OSUNA TRIBUTE

The Mexican team had scored a stunning upset of Australia in the opening round of competition, but the Mexican great, Rafael Osuna, who had won both his singles matches and teamed with Vicente Zaraguzua to win the doubles, was killed in a plane crash ten days after his nation's victory.

The match began on a somber note when Brazil's Maria Bueno burst into tears during a memorial speech for Osuna.

England, conqueror of South Africa in a mild upset, will face Brazil for the right to meet the winner of the European B Zone-Eastern Zone semifinal, with that winner emerging to challenge the United States for the cup in late September.

ROMANIA TRIUMPHS

In Bucharest, Romania divided the last two singles matches with Russia yesterday, completing a 4-1 victory over the Soviets in interzone play.

Romania will meet India in the interzone semifinals.

Ilie Nastase defeated Russia's Thomas Lejus, 4-6, 6-3, 6-2, 6-2, and Soviet Vladimir Korotkov beat Romania's Sever Dron, 6-1, 6-4, 6-4, yesterday.

Safety Kyasky Quits Saints Second Time

Fifth round draft choice Tony Kyasky of Syracuse quit the New Orleans Saints' training camp at Cal Western yesterday and went home.

"I just don't have the right attitude for football," Kyasky said in parting.

It was the second time Kyasky, a safety, quit the team. He went home shortly after the Saints' rookie camp opened in early June. But Kyasky returned several days later.

The Saints held one-on-one passing drills yesterday, their second day of training though the first for the veterans.

Wide receivers Dave Szymakowski, Dan Abramowicz and Olie Cordill, a free agent, were outstanding on offense during the drills, while Gene Howard, a second-year defensive back was the standout on defense.

Joe Don Looney, a free agent who has seen action with several National Football League teams, didn't don equipment because of a painfully bruised heel suffered in combat in Vietnam. He said he hurt it jumping into a bunker to avoid enemy fire.

Jim Lawrence, a rookie wide receiver from Southern California, was running at three-quarter speed with a heavily taped knee. He injured it in the Coaches' All-American game last month but physicians said no operation was needed.

Two-a-day working will begin today at the camp.

Now Possible To Shrink Painful Hemorrhoids

And Promptly Stop The Itching, Relieve Pain In Most Cases.

New York, N. Y. (Special): A scientific research institute has discovered a medication which has the ability in most cases — to actually shrink hemorrhoids. In case after case, the sufferer first notices prompt relief from the itching, burning and pain. Then this medication starts right in to gently reduce the swelling of inflamed, irritated hemorrhoids.

Tests conducted on hundreds of patients by leading doctors in New York City, in Washington, D.C. and at a Midwest Medical Center proved this so.

And it was all accomplished without narcotics or stinging astringents of any kind.

The secret is Preparation H® — an exclusive formula for the treatment of hemorrhoids. There is no other formula like it! In addition to actually shrinking piles and relieving the painful distress — Preparation H lubricates, makes bowel movements less painful and soothes the irritated tissues. It also helps prevent further infection.

Preparation H comes in ointment or suppository form. No prescription is needed.

PRAYER FOR ASTRONAUTS

Fans in the stands, like people the world over, join Chicago Cubs, foreground, and Philadelphia Phillies' players in moment of silent prayer for the safe landing of Apollo 11 Astronauts yesterday before resuming play in the second game of a double-header at Philadelphia. The day was a big success for the Cubs, who swept the twin bill.

Chenoweth Grabs Atomic Cup Title

Special to The San Diego Union

KENNEWICK, Wash. — Detroit driver Dean Chenoweth piloted the Myr's Special to the championship of the $20,000 Atomic Cup race for unlimited hydroplanes here yesterday afternoon before a throng of 92,000 lining the shores of the Columbia River.

It was the second straight victory on the unlimited circuit this season for Chenoweth, who also drove the Myr's Special to a first-place finish in the Indiana Governor's Cup at Madison two weeks ago.

Myr's andNotre Dame, another Detroit boat driven by Leif Borgersen, both ended up with a total of 1,000 points, but the top pr ize of $4,500 was awarded Chenoweth for winning the final heat.

Pride of Pay'N Pak, Spokane boat driven by Tommy Fults, finished third with 738 points, followed by Atlas Van Lines with 700, Savair's Mist 575, Miss Budweiser 450, Miss U.S. 400, and Parco's O-Ring Miss 169.

Chenoweth, who knew that he needed a first-place finish in the final heat to win the Atomic Cup, got off to a flying start on the inside lane and came out of the exit buoy in the first turn ahead of Notre Dame.

The Myr's Special had more acceleration up the backstretch and extended her lead, touring the 2½ mile course with a first-lap speed of 106,383 miles per hour, and never again was threatened.

Chenoweth was content to hold his craft at a steady speed the rest of the way and went on to win in a breeze with an average speed of 99.815 in the 15-mile finale.

In the scramble for The San Diego Union Perpetual Trophy, emblematic of the driver national championship, Chenoweth's victory expanded his lead to 900 points overBill Muncey. Chenoweth now has 4,925 points against 4,025 for Muncey who started the day only 280 off the pace.

Borgersen moved up to threaten third-place Bill Sterett, Miss Budweiser's pilot. Sterett barely held on with 3,475 points for the season against 3,444 for Notre Dame's driver.

Notre Dame ran exceedingly well in Heat 1-A for an easy win over Myr's Special, compiling the best average speed of the afternoon at 106.215 mph.

The results:

Heat 1-A: 1. Notre Dame, Leif Borgersen, Detroit; 2. Myr's Special, Dean Chenoweth, Detroit; 3. Miss Budweiser, Bill Sterett, Tampa, Fla.; 4. Pride of Pay 'N Pak, Tommy Fults, Spokane. Winning average speed: 106.215 mph.

Heat 1-B: 1. Miss U.S., Bill Muncey, Detroit; 2. Atlas Van Lines, Jim McCormick, Phoenix; 3. Savair's Mist, Walter Kade, Detroit; 4. Parco's O-Ring Miss, Norm Evans, Los Angeles. Winning average speed: 104.046.

Tri-City Water Follies Trophy Dash (consolation) — 1. Miss Budweiser; 2. Miss U.S.; 3. Parco's O-Ring Miss. Winning average speed: 107.414.

Pearson Wins Volunteer 500

BRISTOL, Tenn. (AP)— Ailing David Pearson, with relief help from Richard Petty, won the wreck-marred Volunteer 500 stock car race yesterday and boosted his winnings past the $100,000 mark for the second year in a row.

The 34-year-old Pearson, ill with the flu all week and with a temperature of 102 degrees before the race, scrambled through a series of mishaps that took many of the top cars out of the race, and won by three laps over Dodge's Bobby Isaac.

His share of the $32,000 purse — $5,525 — carried his 1969 earnings to $101,645. The victory was his ninth of the season, putting him in a tie with Isaac for the lead in that department.

The average speed of the winner was 79.737 miles an hour despite the fact the race was slowed by eight caution flags for more than 75 laps over the half-mile Bristol Speedway.

One of the cautions came after a five-car pile-up in the first turn on the 30th lap that took four major contenders out of the race. Among them were Bobby Allison and Buddy Baker, top Dodge threats, and front-row starters Cal Yarborough in a Mercury and Petty in a Ford. Pearson's Ford narrowly escaped the melee.

Yarborough and Petty managed to continue as did Ford's Lee Roy Yarborough, but all had to leave the race later.

Petty took over for Pearson at the 50-mile mark and kept the car in contention until Pearson reclaimed it just before the halfway point of the race. Yarborough relieved Donnie Allison, in another Ford, and drove it to a third-place finish.

Whitt Paces Super Stocks

Jim Whitt of El Cajon scored his fifth victory of the season in taking the 30-lap main event of the super stocks racing competition at Cajon Speedway Saturday night.

A crowd of 4,784 saw Whitt take the lead on the 22nd lap and win by 12 car lengths in 10 minutes, 21.25 seconds. He was followed in order by the son-father team of Larry and George Esau.

Jim Osborne of La Mesa took the 15-lap main event for the Limiteds in 5 minutes, 19.97 seconds. This race was featured by a six-car pileup on the ninth lap but there were no serious injuries.

Ollie's Gal Wins Caliente Feature

Osuna caught favored Goofy entering the stretch and then drove on by and went on to beat Mitol Princess by one length in the one-mile supporting feature run in 1:37 1/5.

Indian Sea paid $6.60 as the second choice. Hadden also saddled W J Pruitt's Vera's Niteagin ($25) for his narrow victory with Osuna aboard in the seventh race.

Jockeys Alvaro Pineda, the leading rider in the U.S. currently, and A. L. Diaz, two-time champion here, also recorded good days yesterday.

Pineda scored with the Green Thumb Stable's Hurry Tonga (9.40) in the fourth race and won the ninth with H. B. Williams' What Have You ($6.60). Twice denied the national championship in the past two years while finishing second both times, Pineda is making a determined bid and his appearances at Caliente have been adding up.

Diaz rode Princess Diedra in the first and came back to beat Pineda a nose with Holly H. as she edged stablemate Chiff Chaff to give the R. E. Hibbert entry a 1-2 finish and a bigger place price than a win mutuel. The entry paid $3.60 to win, $4.60 to place and $3.40 to show. Diaz also won the 12th race with Royal Response ($15.20).

Another payoff oddity occurred in the eighth race when 6-5 favored Alaskan God paid $4.40 to win and $4.80 to place.

While the crowd was busy most of the day with the horses, it found plenty of time to gather around the TV monitors throughout the plant to watch the simulated touchdown on the moon's surface. It applauded and seemed highly pleased with the success of the scientists, who might do them a bigger favor by developing a better system to pick the horses.

Poor Quality Bulls Disappoint Fans

By AURELIO GARCIA II

TIJUANA — Unimpressive and at times utterly inefficient, matadors Manolo (Armillita) Espinoza, Gabriel de la Casa and Arturo Ruiz Loredo had a difficult time with the big but poor quality bulls they faced at El Toreo de Tijuana yesterday.

This was the last corrida of the season at the old Downtown Arena and it drew an estimated 5,000 fans, smallest crowd of the season that now moves to Plaza Monumental, the Bullring By The Sea next Sunday

Armillita heard applause for his well-executed series of left and right hand muletazos in his first bull, but he would not commit himself at the moment of truth, took five sword thrusts to kill and was soundly booed.

Manolo was just as mechanical during his second performance. He managed to excite the fans with his well-timed natural passes with the left hand and his smooth derechazos but he lost momentum, took two thrusts to kill and barely earned a lap around the ring.

De La Casa did not impress the informed aficionados in either of his two exhibitions. His first bull broke a horn against the pads and after futile efforts to lure it back to the corrals they stabbed it three times to finally kill it.

With the substitute animal the Spaniard couldn't do anything and he put it away with an extremely low drive into the neck. During his second appearance, the youngster accomplished even less and again killed in bad manner.

Ruiz Loredo began as if he was going to repeat the triumph of his local debut of several weeks ago, but after his fine cape work, and three sensational sets of banderillas the bull took command of the fight and the matador was constantly on the defensive.

He required three sword drives to finish his foe and drew a trip around the circle to a generous ovation.

With the last bull of the sprinkly afternoon, a huge beast that first refused to follow the capes and then dumped a horse and the picador in a spectacular charge, Loredo seemed to panic.

In spite of the severe punishment it took from the mounted lancemen, one of which was fined $80 for jabbing after the bugle had blown, that last bull was too much for young Loredo. Without attempting a single muletazo, he rid himself of the beast on one half-sword stab and three strokes into the nape.

Del Mar Opener Thursday Headed By Time To Leave

DEL MAR — Neil McCarthy's Time To Leave, the west's outstanding feminine sprinter, tops a strong list of 28 fillies and mares nominated for the six-furlong, $7,500-added San Diego 200th Anniversary Handicap, opening day feature of the 1969 Del Mar racing season Thursday.

Time to Leave, a 4-year-old daughter of Father John, is fresh from a brilliant wire-to-wire victory at Hollywood Park last Thursday in which she missed the world's record of 1:20 flat for seven furlongs by less than a second while carrying 124 pounds. Earlier this summer, the John Canty-trained filly set an American record when she toured five furlongs on the turf in :56 2-5.

Time to Leave won the first stakes of her career as a 2-year-old at Del Mar where she took the Junior Miss Stakes. Later that season she was second in the Del Mar Debutante.

The precocious filly is entered against top-drawer male sprinters in the Lakes and Flowers Handicap today at Hollywood Park but Del Mar racing secretary Barry Whitehead has a hunch she will be withdrawn from that race, which follows her fast trip over distaffers by only four days.

Lightly raced Fast Dish, heroine of the 1967 Del Mar Debutante, in which she defeated Time to Leave, also is named for the 200th Anniversary Handicap. Fast Dish suffered her first loss when she finished third to Time to Leave last Thursday.

Other noteworthy distaff campaigners nominated include Swiftsure Stable's Hooplah, Mrs. H. C. Morton's Luz del Sol, Dr. Jock Jocoy's Peggy's World, Alfred Vanderbilt's Indian Love Call, Elmendorf Farm's Third Market, and E. M. Goemans' 3-year-old Ynez Queen.

Kissin' George Sprint Choice At Hollywood

Special to The San Diego Union

INGLEWOOD — DeCourcy Graham's Kissin' George, heir apparent to Dr. Fager's national sprint championship, will attempt to move closer to that coveted crown in the 18th running of the $22,100 Lakes And Flowers Handicap today at Hollywood Park.

The six-furlong speed special will highlight the only Monday racing program of the season and the nine-race card that will begin at 1:45 p.m. will launch the final three days of the meeting. The Hollypark season will close Wednesday when the $100,000 added Sunset Handicap will be presented.

Kissin' George will carry topweight of 128 pounds as he faces Count the Green, Speedy King, Baffle, the filly Time to Leave, Injunction, Broad Shadows and Canterbury Road.

Kissin' George was flown to Chicago 10 days ago for the $40,000 added Olympia Handicap at seven furlongs. The swift son of Slamruler was never headed as he zipped to a four-length score over T.V. Commercial. Today he will be seeking his second victory in the Lakes and Flowers and will be out to even a score with both Speedy King and Baffle.

Speedy King denied the Buster Millerick-trained star a second straight win in the Lakes and Flowers last summer, reaching the wire a neck in front of Kissin' George last year in 1:08 1-5 to equal the track record.

Baffle defeated Kissin' George in their most recent Hollywood Park battle in the five and one-half furlong Hollywood Express. The margin was a nose in that hotly-contested dash with Baffle covering the distance in 1:02 3-5, one tick off the track record.

The seventh race, a $9,000 mile and one-sixteenth contest on the turf for three-year-olds, has been named the Apollo Astronauts purse, in honor of the Apollo 11 Moonshot. A field of 10, headed by Abderus and Count Carragh and Benevolent Tyrant will meet in it.

Three S.D. Girls Win-First-Round National Tests

Special to The San Diego Union

She whipped past Elizabeth Leach of Atlanta, Ga., 6-0, 6-2.

Two other San Diego girls also advanced. Vicki Jensen rallied to defeat Molly Hannas of Camden, Mo., 6-8, 6-3, 7-5, and Marita Redondo dumped Janet Jacobs of New York, 6-0, 6-1.

Jarvis Deals Padres 18th Shutout Of Year

on a single by Cannizzaro. But the lone San Diego threat of the afternoon quickly dissipated as Ed Spiezio popped up and John Sipin fouled out.

The only other Padre to advance as far as second base was Stahl, who doubled with one away in the ninth.

Jarvis became the 10th righthander to shut out the Padres this year. Larry Dirker of Houston and Dick Selma of the Cubs each have done it twice. The other righthanders are Tony Cloninger, Ferguson Jenkins, Bill Hands, Alan Foster, Tom Griffin, George Culver and Don Drysdale.

The 12,282 who turned out yesterday in the heat and high humidity gave a rousing cheer late in the game when play was suspended and a silent prayer offered for the American astronauts who had just landed on the moon.

PADRE NOTES — Nate Colbert broke an 0-for-10 slump with an eighth-inning single. . .Errors by Clay Kirby and shortstop Roberto Pena set up Atlanta's five unearned runs. . . Manager Preston Gomez plans to work out in Pittsburgh Wednesday afternoon. . . Al Santorini will pitch Thursday night's game against the Pirates.

'AGE OF CONSUMERISM'

Collection Firm Business Booms

By EDWIN DARBY
Chicago Sun-Times Service

About 34 per cent of the new cars sold in March this year were sold for cash.

The statistic puzzles and worries Leonard G. Ross. Because it usually amazes people. When he quotes it, as he often does, people always say something like: "You don't mean it. That many car buyers actually came up with cash?"

Ross thinks people should be shocked that "only" 34 per cent of the cars were bought for cash and trade-in. Ross is president of National Account Systems, Inc., which bills itself as the world's largest collection service.

As the remark about auto credit would indicate, Ross is slightly ambivalent about the world in which he finds himself. From time to time, he wishes Americans were more responsible about credit—that they'd buy for cash.

But then where would National Account Systems be?

Judging by National Account's business, Americans run up debts they can't pay at a terrifying rate. More than 125,000 new accounts are dumped on the firm for collection each month. And last year the firm processed delinquent accounts worth, on paper, at least $125,000,000.

By and large, National Account comes into contact only with persons who might be considered good, average credit risks. Because it works primarily for major corporations like national retail chains, big oil companies, public utilities, banks and airlines. The fly-by-night operator out to sign a ghetto dweller to a contract calling for $800 in easy payments for $400 worth of cheap furniture is not a client.

Further, National Account doesn't get all the delinquent bills run up by an individual. It gets only those run up against a client company. Ross estimates that on average a person who fails to pay one bill past a reasonable time has seven other delinquent bills outstanding.

All this is part of what Ross uneasily calls the Age of Consumerism and the Age of Credit. Credit is a right of every individual, not a privilege. The laws on credit and responsibility are being rewritten to protect and favor the consumer rather the seller. And credit is no longer a service offered as a convenience to a select number of customers but a tool deliberately used as a means of increasing sales.

In an age of consumerism, National Account Systems works by letter and telephone and tries, says Ross, to use psychology. That is, its solicitors try to convince the delinquent that he ought to make good on a debt. The firm never makes use of such legal devices as garnisheeing wages and Ross predicts that in 10 years this practice will disappear for all practical purposes. "The hammer, the tong, the fire sirens, and the legal approach are things of yesterday," Ross says. "Credit is going full cycle from demand to cajole."

National Account's growth is a commentary both on corporate management and on the growth, unfortunately, of credit troubles. Diner's Club bought the company in July 1967, put new money behind it, began a series of acquisitions of similar companies, and added to the network by opening new offices. At the time of the merger with Diner's, National Account had 16 offices. Now it has 64, coast-to-coast. By the end of 1970, says President Ross, "we'll have 74 offices around the country."

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Treasury Bills Have Some Risk

By ROGER E. SPEAR
General Features Corp.

Q. Where do you buy Treasury bills? In what denomination? How much do you pay to buy bills? — M. S., E. P., J. S., R. H.

A. Treasury bills, because of their attractive yields, are receiving increasing attention from the small investor. Purchases in small amounts — in multiples of $1,000 — are possible, if you have a co-operative broker. (Anything under $100,000 is considered an odd-lot.) Denominations or face values range between $1,000 and $1 million but bills are sold at a discount and it is the difference between this and the face value that determines their yield.

Every Monday afternoon the Treasury Department auctions or rolls over these short-term obligations to replace maturing issues. A bond dealer who specializes in governments may or may not be interested in selling an odd-lot — they are accustomed to institutional orders of $1 million or more. If bills are bought through a broker — this is probably your best source — there is a small commission and service charge. By placing an order no later than Friday, your purchase will be included with others in the Monday auction, avoiding an odd-lot charge.

In spite of these various fees you should still get a return equal to around 7 per cent on a 360-day basis, depending on whether the bill matures in 13, 26 or 52 weeks.

Treasury bills can be purchased directly through one of the 36 Federal Reserve Banks, but payment in advance and a good amount of persistence will be required. Other banks which are members of the Federal Reserve System may also purchase Treasury bills for you. In any case, while you may have difficulty locating an agent willing to sell you an odd-lot, Treasury bills are available for the small investor.

There is a definite risk of a small capital loss if the bill is sold on the open market prior to maturity, particularly if interest rates continue to go up. By holding to maturity the risk is eliminated; the government will pay you the face value.

ICC May Receive Presidential Change

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon is planning to overhaul the ICC, it was learned.

Mr. Nixon hopes to use executive reorganization power to cut the 11-man commission down to seven members and allow the President to appoint the commission chairman, a job now rotated among the commission members on a yearly basis, industry sources said.

Critics have attacked the commission on two main points — that it is powerless to stop the piecemeal breakup of the nation's rail passenger service and that it is actually a captive of the industries it is supposed to regulate.

The commission in turn argues that Congress has not given it the power to make the changes its critics urge.

Under Mr. Nixon's proposal, Congress could only veto the ban, not change it. If it fails to act, the changes would become law in 60 days.

What does Logicon have to offer human factors engineers besides challenge, opportunity, and a creative environment?

What more do you want? Sure, we have nice facilities and all the so-called fringe benefits. But so do lots of other computer software companies. We think you'd rather know that your professional skills will be challenged—that you'll have the opportunity for individual achievement—and that you'll be working in an environment that inspires you to the utmost of your abilities.

You'll be in the company of 300-plus scientists and engineers who specialize in the analysis, design and implementation of computer-centered systems for government and industry. You'll be part of an organization whose philosophy is simply to produce high-quality work and deliver it on time.

With a philosophy like this, we have to employ extraordinary people. And at the rate we're growing, we need more such people every day. Consequently, the rewards have to be equal to the demands on your time and talent.

The people we're looking for should be familiar with military systems and computer sciences work. They should expect to participate in a variety of human factors and systems related projects, such as aircraft simulators, trainers, command and control systems and automated system training.

Besides human factors engineers, Logicon needs digital systems engineers, analysts, programmers, software technical writers, and compiler/operating system programmers.

So if your present job in the computer sciences field leaves something to be desired, get in touch. Logicon offers you challenge, opportunity and a creative environment.

The rest is up to you.

AIR WEST 'SPACESHIPS'

TRIPLE exposure? No, this was a trio of 550 mph Douglas DC-9 'stretched' jets which joined the Air West fleet in June after an unprecedented 350-mile flight in formation from Long Beach, Calif., to Phoenix. They and 13 others of the late-model DC-9 twinjets are now operating with the new 84-seat Air West spaceship configuration between major cities on the regional airline's 10,800-mile system in eight western states, Canada and Mexico.

AMERICAN PETROLEUM INSTITUTE TOUR ADVERTISING WINS EFFIE AWARD. The travel promotion advertising program of the American Petroleum Institute won a first place award at the recent First Annual EFFIE Awards presentation of the New York Chapter of the American Marketing Association. API's Close-to-Home Tour advertising program was selected the winner in the automotive/gasoline/TBA print advertising category. The EFFIE Awards — for advertising effectiveness — are in recognition of "advertising that persuades and motivates the consumer and contributes significantly to the total marketing effort to move goods and services."

BEAM'S CHOICE OFFERS CHOICE

"This is a Choice Ad" is the theme of the Beam's Choice newspaper ads in The San Diego Union and Evening Tribune. Ad copy continues, "The Choice is yours . . . charcoal filtered 8 yr. old Beam's Choice Kentucky Straight Bourbon in its year-round bottle or in a Portola Trek Commemorative Bottle."

RCA Advertises Color TV's

RCA color ads in these newspapers are featuring RCA Color television. The last ad that ran was headlined, "Your Assurance Mark, RCA 90 Plus." Ad copy continued, "Check the RCA 'PLUS' values . . . 'Plus' performance and features make RCA color television the most exciting TV you can buy!" The ad listed the RCA "Plus" features including their 90 day service warranty. Ad copy for the latter read, "90 Day Service Warranty. New RCA Warranty provides 90-day service on 'M' and 'Z', Models RCA Color or Black & White TV sets. It includes all service required; Service. Parts. Labor as needed." The ad concluded, "See your RCA dealer now!"

MAC EDITOR RECEIVES FIRST ANNUAL RAY GAGE AWARD

Lee Kerry, (left) editor of MAC/Western Advertising, receives first annual Ray Gage Award for Editorial Excellence at a meeting of the Los Angeles Advertising Club. The award was for an editorial on advertising and was presented by J. Neil Reagan, Vice President of McCann-Erickson, Inc., and a past president of the advertising club.

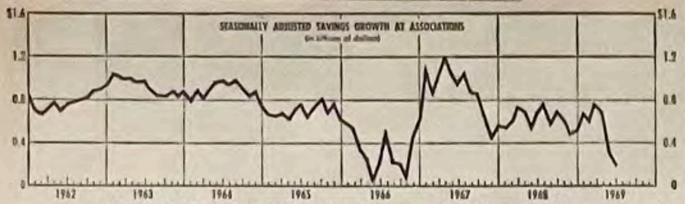
"CHUCK" JONES NAMED "SALESMAN OF THE MONTH"

Charles A. "Chuck" Jones of C&H Sugar was selected as "Salesman of the Month" for June by the San Diego Grocery Sales Club. "Chuck" is now eligible for "Salesman of the Year." This award will be made at "Bosses Night" to be held in April, 1970.

R. J. REYNOLDS TOBACCO CO. PRESENTS NEW DORAL CIGARETTES. R. J. Reynolds has been running color newspaper ads to introduce their new Doral. Doral combines a unique filter system with flavorful tobaccos to deliver what the company calls "good taste with reduced tar and nicotine". The filter system—a cellulose acetate rod backed by a plastic cylinder containing a series of baffles and air channels—reduces per-cigarette "tar" to an average of 15 milligrams and nicotine to 1.0 milligrams. Doral comes in both regular and menthol king size.

PROTECT-A-CARD STARTED. Michael R. Kane of Los Angeles who lost his wallet full of credit cards which cost him $1700 has started Protect-a-Card. For only $5 a year, a person can register all his credit and charge cards by number at Protect-a-Card's data center. Then with just one telephone call or cable from anywhere in the world, 24 hours a day, he can initiate stop-payment wires that speed to his credit card issuers in minutes. Protect-a-Card then sends him copies of those wires, so he has proof of notification. The card holder's liability ends only after he has properly notified the card issuing company.

SLURPEE KICKS OFF 1969 PROMOTION. The 7-Eleven stores in San Diego (also known as Speedee and Speedee 7-Eleven) kicked off their 1969 Slurpee promotion in June. Slurpee is the copyrighted name for 7-Eleven's famous frozen carbonated drink. Six flavors highlight this year's promotion. Three new flavors: Firewater, Sour Power and Tickle are combined with three old favorites: Fulla Bulla, Sticky Icky and Red Eye to give six exciting taste treats.



DEPOSITS IN DOWNTREND AT SAVINGS-LOANS

Tight money is having its effect on savings and loan associations as deposits continue on a downward path. This month's decline in savings deposits at S&Ls is expected to be somewhat over $1 billion, placing the month's decline midway between the $588 million loss of July 1968 and the record $1.5 billion loss of July 1966, based on a special survey by the U.S. Savings and Loan League.

INDUSTRY JOURNAL REPORT

Price Hikes For Cold Rolled Sheet, Strip Steel Forecast

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A price increase is expected on cold rolled steel sheet, the only major form of steel on which the price has not been hiked in the last 10 months, Steel magazine, out today, reports.

Prices of a few products have gone up twice since the last increase on cold rolled steel and those on most of the leading products have gone up this year, the weekly journal of metal-workings said.

It pointed out that the price of cold rolled strip, a companion to cold rolled sheet, also would be raised and noted that the base prices of both have been stationary since Jan. 10, 1968.

"Among factors that will bring the increase," Steel said, "are a further rise in steel labor rates, a strong steel demand from the automobile industry, reduced competition from steel imports, an increase in steel exports and the heavy importance of cold rolled steel sheet to the U.S. steel industry."

The magazine said that steel labor rates would go up from 6 to 8 per cent Aug. 1 and that incentive payments to steelworkers would become higher when an arbitration panel now considering guidelines for the entire steel industry renders its decision.

"Likelihood of a price boost on cold rolled steel sheet is increased by its heavy influence on profitability," Steel said. "The biggest tonnage product of the U.S. steel industry, cold rolled sheet comprises about 18 per cent of its shipments. Cold rolled strip accounts for another 1.5 per cent."

The magazine said mills are operating at a high rate to meet the demand for steel. It estimated last week's output at 2,580,000 net tons, an increase of one-half of one per cent compared to the previous week.

Steel's price composite on the No. 1 heavy melting grade of steelmaking scrap held at $30.17 a gross ton last week for the third straight wek.

MUNICIPAL YIELDS OFF

The average yield on California municipal bonds last week declined to 5.62 per cent from 5.67 per cent the previous week, Glore Forgan, William R. Staats, Inc., reports.

Activity in the tax exempt market continued at its recent pace with good interest being shown.

Recent talk of changes in tax exemption of municipals, in addition to changes of treatment to write-off of losses to offset capital gain, has had little effect upon the buying by retail investors, the company said. New issue sales of California municipals for the coming week remain light.

SEC Chairman May Quit Post

WASHINGTON — SEC Chairman Hamer H. Budge is considering leaving the commission, an SEC official said.

The official said Budge is talking with mutual fund officials about a position as president of the mutual fund complex managed by Investors Diversified Services, Inc., Minneapolis.

The SEC official said he didn't have any details on where the talks stood.

ORDINANCE NO. 3381

(NEW SERIES)

AN ORDINANCE AMENDING THE ZONING ORDINANCE TO CHANGE THE ZONE CLASSIFICATION OF CERTAIN PROPERTY WITHIN DISTRICT NO. 57, PINE VALLEY SECTION, AND SUBSTITUTING SHEET NO. 1-A FOR SHEET NO. 1 OF DISTRICT MAP NO. 57.

The Board of Supervisors of the County of San Diego do ordain as follows:

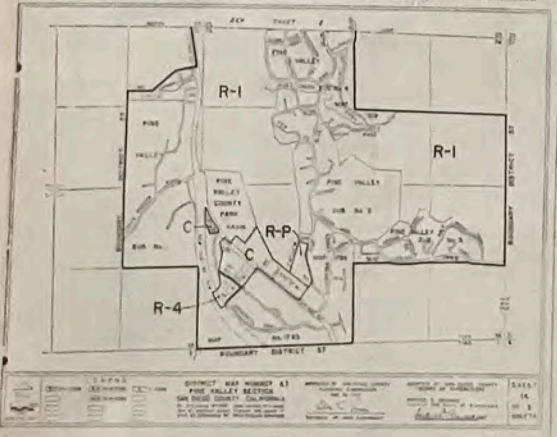
Section 1. The zoning classification of the following described land located within District No. 57, Pine Valley Section, in the County of San Diego, State of California, is hereby changed from the R-1 Zone to the C Zone:

That portion of Lots 43, 49 and 50 in Pine Valley Subdivision No. 1, in the County of San Diego, State of California, according to Map thereof No. 1765, filed in the office of the County Recorder of San Diego County, September 12, 1919; together with a portion of the southwesterly half of U.S. Highway 80 described as follows:

Commencing at the southwesterly corner of said Lot 43; thence along the southerly boundary of said Lot 43, North 82°54'00" East, 128.30 feet to an angle point therein, and the true point of beginning; thence retracing along said lot line, South 82°54'00" West, 128.30 feet; thence along the southwesterly line of said Lot 43, North 30°43'00" West, 130.16 feet to an angle point in the southeasterly boundary of said Lot 49, being also an angle point in the boundary of land described in Deed to James C. Potts, et ux, recorded July 13, 1967 as File No. 101480; thence along the southeasterly boundary of said Lot 49, South 73°17'00" West, to the westerly line of said Potts' Land, being also the easterly line of California State Highway XI-SD-12E; thence northerly along said westerly line, to and along the westerly line of land described in Deed to James C. Potts, et ux, recorded February 15, 1965, as File No. 28966, and the northerly prolongation thereof to the centerline of said U.S. Highway 80; thence southeasterly along said centerline to a line which bears North 41°54'00" East, from the true point of beginning; thence South 41°54'00" West, to the true point of beginning.

Section 2. Section 6501 of Ordinance No. 1402 (New Series) of the County of San Diego is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 6501. MAP. "District Map No. 57, Pine Valley Section, San Diego County," consisting of two (2) sheets numbered 1-A and 2, each bearing the title "District Map No. 57 Pine Valley Section, San Diego County," is hereby adopted and made a part of this ordinance.



Section 3. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force thirty (30) days after the date of its passage, and before the expiration of fifteen (15) days after its passage it shall be published once, with the names of the members voting for and against the same, in The San Diego Union, a newspaper of general circulation published in the County of San Diego.

PASSED, APPROVED AND ADOPTED this 7th day of July, 1969.

RESOLUTION NO. 197452

RESOLUTION GIVING NOTICE AND SETTING TIME AND PLACE FOR HEARING ON THE PROPOSED DETACHMENT FROM THE CITY OF SAN DIEGO OF PORTIONS OF RANCHO SAN BERNARDO KNOWN AS LAKE HODGES DETACHMENT.

WHEREAS, The City of San Diego has initiated proceedings before the Local Agency Formation Commission for the withdrawal of certain uninhabited land hereinafter described from the territorial limits of the City of San Diego; and

WHEREAS, the Local Agency Formation Commission, by resolution, Reference No. [illegible], passed and adopted October 28, 1968, approved the proposed withdrawal to be known as the "LAKE HODGES DETACHMENT"; and

WHEREAS, the proposed detachment will remove from the City of San Diego small undeveloped parcels of land which were conveyed to the present fee owner by The City of San Diego, which transaction was approved by resolution of the City Council on December 6, 1966; and

WHEREAS, the City boundary will be simplified by the detachment and all of the property of the owner of the property subject to the detachment will be placed under the jurisdiction of a single legislative body, to wit, the County of San Diego; and

WHEREAS, The City of San Diego is required to conduct a public hearing concerning the proposed detachment pursuant to Government Code Section 35014; NOW, THEREFORE,

BE IT RESOLVED, by the Council of The City of San Diego, as follows:

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN of the proposed detachment from the City of San Diego of certain uninhabited territory. The boundaries of the territory so proposed to be detached from The City of San Diego are more specifically described as follows:

LAKE HODGES DETACHMENT

All that incorporated territory in The City of San Diego, County of San Diego, State of California, being those portions of Rancho San Bernardo according to [illegible] thereof in Book 2, Page 463, of [illegible] on file in the San Diego County Recorder's Office, more particularly described as follows:

Driving vs. Flying to the airport.

You can keep on driving through miles of crowded freeway to International airport.

Or, you can take a short drive to your local airport and let Golden West Airlines fly you to your plane.

We have more than 400 flights a day to get you to almost any airport in California.

We'll fly you to Los Angeles or San Francisco International. Or home from them. Or from one local airport to another with a minimum of time, money and aggravation. We've had lots of experience doing it.

Our consolidation of established commuter airlines makes Golden West the world's largest and most experienced commuter airline.

Pretty Money

Our new Sketchbook Checkbook was designed with an artistic eye to the past. It contains five historical landmark scenes by San Diego artist Gaston Lokvig. The San Diego Mission, Cabrillo Lighthouse, the Star of India, California Tower and the Presidio are all included so that wherever your checks might go, they'll reflect this city's vibrant history and picturesque present.

Sketchbook checks are available at any of our 50 offices. The price is just $2.25 for 200 checks (only 7¢ more than standard checks).

If you now have a checking account at Southern California First National Bank, you can order Sketchbook checks by contacting your branch office or by writing "Sketchbook" on the face of your check re-order form.

If you do not have a checking account with us, just call our Customer Service Representative at 294-4673, or send us this coupon.
